MAY BREAKFAST

A delightful May breakfast was given at the Newton Club on May 26th, by members of the Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R. of Newton.

The occasion was in honor of Mrs. Arthur P. Friend, the retiring regent. After the members had been received by Mrs. Friend, and Mrs. Charles D. Meserve, the present regent, breakfast was served at small tables, beautifully decorated with red and white flowers, red, white and blue streamers and May baskets of the same colors.

Daughters of chapter members waited upon the guests.

At the close of the breakfast Mrs. Meserve made a short address, in which she thanked Mrs. Friend for her loyal and efficient service of six years and for the faithfulness with which she had discharged all duties connected with the chapter. She then presented her in behalf of the chapter with a beautiful brooch of pearls and sapphires. Mrs. Friend, who was deeply touched by this token of regard, expressed her appreciation in words of deep gratitude. She also spoke of the pleasure the work had afforded her and of the many delightful friendships she had formed during these years as regent.

She congratulated the chapter upon its good fortune in the selection of Mrs. Meserve as regent for the coming year. The affair closed with a pleasant social hour.

N. H. S.

In a fast game played Tuesday morning on Claffin field Newton high succeeded in defeating Brookline H. S., 4 to 3. It is the first time in two years Newton has turned the trick. The game marked the second victory for Newton in the preparatory league. It defeated Cambridge Latin last week.

Bob Spaulding was on the slab for the home team and was hit hard, but was given fine support. Denning for the visitors, struck out 10, but he issued five passes.

The home team started off in the first inning by scoring three runs. Fripp was hit by a pitched ball, Nash reached first on an error and Beal cleared the bases with a home run drive over the center field canvas. The visitors scored two in the following inning. Anderson went first on an error and went to third on Kennedy's hit. When Spaulding was winding up enviously made for home and reached the plate safely as Brooks dropped the ball. Each team annexed a run in the next inning, but after that there was no more scoring.

Fripp pulled the crowd to its feet in the fourth when he pulled down a long fly close to the canvas in deep center. It looked like a run for Brookline in its half of the last inning, when Kerr reached first and went to second on McGuire's sacrifice. Morse was struck out and Hyatt took a difficult fly off Walzer's bat, retiring the side.

Newton high was defeated by Commerce Saturday afternoon at Claffin field, 6 to 4. Newton held the lead until the eighth, when Spaulding was touched for four hits, which, combined with two errors, netted the visitors three runs, a lead the home team was unable to overcome.

Although the home team outbatted the visitors, the hits did not come when they counted for runs.

The visitors scored two runs in the second inning, one in the sixth and three in the eighth. Donovan opened the eighth with a single, stole second and went to third on King's single. Arch deacon grounded out to first and Kennedy cleared the bases with a nice two-bagger. Lundin was thrown out at first O'Leary was passed and Broder's single scored Kennedy.

Kennedy, Donovan and Broder played finely for the visitors and Terrio and Nash for the home team.

SCHOOL BOY ATHLETES

The second annual athletic meet of the Grammar schools of Newton was held last Saturday morning on the Newton Centre Playground under the auspices of the Playground and Social Service League and was a great success. Youthful athletes were entered from every grammar school in three classes, light weight, middle weight and heavy weight, if lads of grammar school age could by any means be classed as "heavy weights."

The Stearns school of Nonantum carried off the honors of the meet with a total of 40 points, earning 23, in the light, 4 in the middle and 13 in the heavyweight classes and winning the trophy shield. W. Considine in the light weight class was the star of the day winning first place for Stearns in the 50 yard dash, the broad jump and the high jump, besides being a member of the winning relay team.

Bigelow with a total of 31 points was second, winning 15 in the heavy, 11 in the middle and 5 in the light weight classes. Reid for Bigelow won first in the 75 yard dash and in the high jump in the middle weight class.

The other schools followed in this order: Horace Mann, 25; Mason, 23; Burr 13; Hyde, 8; Peirce, 2 and Emerson with nothing.

Ribbons badges were awarded the individual winners in each event.

Mr. Frederick D. Eichbauer was director and clerk, Mr. William Macpherson, was referee, William M. Forbes, starter, G. E. King and R. West, timers, C. Moore, J. Gallagher, J. Linnehan, L. May, R. Ellis, C. Moore, E. Whaley, B. Groth and S. Linn, judges, J. Skelton, R. Murphy, D. Horgan, C. Ide, R. Pratt and G. Ewing, inspectors and A. Muldoon, announcer.

The summary:

WIN NINE PRIZES

The C. F. Eddy Co., one of our local coal dealers sent ten teams to the work-horse parade in Boston May 30th. There were three double teams and ten singles. Of these the double teams all brought back blue ribbons, as did three of the singles, the three other single teams also getting three red ribbons.

This makes in all six first prizes and three seconds, an exceptionally good showing for any firm. No other coal dealer either in town or in the suburbs made anywhere near as good showing in the work-horse parade.

The Eddy Co. have always had exceptionally good teams and have always taken extra good care of their horses. This is well proven by the showing they made on May 30th, as coal dealers have just finished their busiest season, when it is hardest to keep the horses in perfect condition.

The Eddy Company has had two teams in the parade last year, both winning prizes, and these same teams got blue ribbons this year. Patrick Donahue and James Spikes both received drivers' medals, having driven a team for the same firm more than 20 years. Patrick Welch and Patrick Donahue received veteran drivers' medals as they had won prizes with the same teams two consecutive years.

The interest in the work-horse parade has been increasing yearly, as shown by the increased number of entries every year, and we certainly are all interested to have our city so well represented on this occasion.

TENNIS.

The season at the Waban Tennis Courts is in full swing one tournament, the Combination doubles, having been completed on Decoration Day, and one the ladder event initiated auspiciously. The latter is an all season challenge tourney and great interest in it has been displayed from the start many shifts in places having taken place. A. C. Turner still stands No. 1, but Gould and Sawyer have made the greatest advance.

The doubles tournament with an entry list of 20 was highly enjoyable and successful the well balanced team of R. F. Williams and Andrews winning out over G. Williams and Bartlett in the finals in a closely contested long match 4-6, 6-2, 7-5, 6-3.

The summary: First round, Blaney and Willing d. Sawyer and Mrs. Buffum, 6-3, 6-3 Hill and Ferris d. Robinson and May, 6-2, 7-5.

Second round, F. Williams and Andrews d. Blaney and Willing, 6-3, 1-6, 6-2, 6-2, C. Gould and Gould d. Turner and Buffum, 6-3, 6-2, Rane and Vose d. Hill and Ferris, 6-1, 8-6.

Semi Finals.

F. Williams and Andrews d. LeClear and Arnold, 6-3, 6-2, G. Williams and Bartlett d. Rane and Vose, 6-1, 5-7, 6-0.

Finals.

F. Williams and Andrews d. Williams and Bartlett 4-6, 6-2, 7-5, 6-3.

If plans go through the club will hold a visitors day on next Thursday afternoon the attraction being special matches by invited players. There will be present six of the leading stars of the Longwood Club including Beals C. Wright, former national champion, N. W. Niles state champion, Sulloway, Bishop, H. C. Johnson, and others. Further notice will be given and guests will be welcome and treated to some tennis of the first calibre by these national and international experts.

HONOR MRS. MOORE

An affair of more than ordinary interest was the luncheon in honor of Mrs. Eva Perry Moore, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, tendered her by the Newton Federation at the Newton Club on Wednesday, May 31st. During the half-hour previous Mrs. John H. Pillsbury, president of the Newton Federation with Mrs. Moore, and Mrs. Henry C. Mulligan, the new president of the State Federation, and Mrs. Anna L. Bailey, a director of the General Federation, received the guests as they arrived. About seventy ladies sat down to luncheon. The tables were tastefully decorated with pink sweet peas and yellow roses and candlesticks with tall pink and yellow lighted candles. A trio of young ladies from the New England Conservatory furnished music during the luncheon. At the close Mrs. Pillsbury acting as toastmistress introduced Mrs. Anna L. Bailey through whom this occasion was made possible. Mrs. Bailey in a few graceful words suggested that we too often emphasize the serious side of club work forgetting that there is also the human side which is quite as important.

Mrs. G. H. Wilkins, first vice-president of the Newton Federation, presented the greetings to our guests. This was followed by a group of songs by Mrs. Marie Stone of Newton Centre. Mrs. Pillsbury stated that it had been hoped to have Miss Laura D. Gill, chairman of Education in the General Federation, present, but in her inability to attend she had sent a note of appreciation and regret. A cello solo by one of the trio came next.

The new president of the Massachusetts Federation, Mrs. Henry C. Mulligan, was then presented. Mrs. Mulligan said that the efficiency of the Federation does not depend alone upon the president nor upon the executive board, but upon just such wide awake clubs as comprise the Newton Federation. The spirit which actuates the club women, is the spirit of "each for all and all for each." Since the clubs are made up largely of the women of the leisure class, there naturally arises the question, What are the women of the leisure class going to do with that leisure? If they cannot give the active service, they can at least belong to the intelligently interested women they can be informed themselves and can help to form public opinion. As the sculptor when asked which of his statues he liked best, replied, "The one I am going to carve next," so the club women can find their highest joy not in achievement, but in going forward into the future to the work they are going to do next.

After a violin solo by another member of the trio Mrs. Moore was introduced. She said high compliment to the loyalty of the club women, which she has found so strong and so beautiful in the state of Massachusetts. She then referred to the clubs the wide world over, the organizations across the seas which owe their existence to the incentive that from America. These of which she spoke are made up of English speaking women, many of them Americans, in London, in West Australia, in Berlin, in Alaska, and in the Canal Zone. In Germany, France, Switzerland, Holland and in Sweden there are clubs of the native women which do work more nearly like what we know as settlement work. In all this great movement Mrs. Moore finds human nature to be the same the world over.

Mrs. Stone then sang two other selections and the ladies rose and joined in singing "America" as an appropriate ending to a very delightful occasion.

A PERFECT MEMORIAL DAY

USUAL SERVICES BY CHARLES WARD POST

presence of the Butler Boys Brigade from the Lower Falls and Auhurdale Methodist churches under command of Rev. Charles E. Spaulding. A detail of 17 girls, the nucleus of a Nurse's Corps, which is now being organized by Rev. Mr. Spaulding were also present.

The principal observance of the day, however, came in the afternoon when the Post, having lunched in the old armory on Washington street, Newton, formed in line, 60 strong, and escorted by the Claffin Guards, J. Wiley Edmonds Camp, Sons of Veterans, Thomas Burnett Camp, Spanish War Veterans, Mrs. A. E. Cunningham Tent, Daughters of Veterans, a battalion of United Boys Brigade with companies from Auhurdale, Lower Falls, Upper Falls and West Roxbury and the city government, marched thru Centre, Hall, Washington, Harvard Sts., Washington park and Walnut street to the Newton Cemetery.

The column moved in this order. Detail of police, Chief Marshal, Hon. Charles E. Hatfield, Colonel George H. Benson, chief of staff Major General William B. Emery, Aides and Associate Members, Swift's band, Claffin Guards, Capt. Guilford commanding, United Boys Brigade, Major Willard H. Loud, commanding, Charles Ward Post, G. A. R. Albert Plummer, Commander, Thomas Burnett camp, Spanish War Veterans, James A. Tuitt commanding, J. Wiley Edmonds camp, Sons of Veterans, Edward P. Hunt, commanding, Mrs. A. E. Cunningham tent, Daughters of Veterans, Miss Frances Fitzgerald president and members of the city government. The parade was reviewed at Peabody street by President Matt B. Jones and the city government.

Arriving at the Newton Cemetery, the various organizations grouped themselves about the Soldiers' monument. Mrs. Susie Scribner, Mrs. Alice Burns, Miss Jessie Bancroft and Miss Florence Fitzgerald of the Daughters of Veterans served as markers at the four corners of the monument.

The band played a selection and prayer was offered by the post chaplain, S. P. Putnam. The orders of the day were then read by Adjutant W. A. Wetherbee and the various details reported that the graves had been appropriately decorated. Post Commander Plummer then read the Grand Army ritual for the day and Adjutant Wetherbee followed with a splendid reading of the Gettysburg address. Flowers were then placed on the monument by the daughters of veterans, the city government and the Post. Hats were doffed while "tans" were sounded on the bugle, followed by three rounds of musketry. The singing of America and the benediction closed the ceremonies at the cemetery. The procession then returned thru Walnut street to the post hall, being reviewed by the chief marshal at the Claffin school.

At the banquet, held in Temple Hall, grace was said by Rev. Charles E. Spaulding of Auhurdale and the usual menu was heartily enjoyed by 250 diners. Seated at the head table with Commander Plummer, were Mayor Hatfield, Representative T. W. White, Major General Emery, Dep. Commander J. H. Wentworth, S. V. Past Commander H. W. McCammon, S. W. Alderman Moore, Avery and Murphy, Adj. Wetherbee and Mr. Reuben Fornkall.

After Commander Plummer had welcomed everyone to the exercises of the day he introduced Mayor Hatfield as the mayor of "Boston". Mayor Hatfield retaliated by saying that while it was a great honor to be mayor of Boston, he deemed it a greater honor to be mayor of Newton. He said it was the first time he had ever been a real military leader. He said that the exercises of Memorial Day bring to all, thoughtful moments, and to the veterans, the deeds they performed so long ago, when patriotism meant something more than talk—it meant action. One of the great things you do is to bring to the school children the story of the great war. And our country to be great, must be told of these deeds of patriotism of the past. As your ranks grow thinner each year, the ties which bind you together become closer and hold you more and more as brothers, and Memorial day will become the greatest day in the year.

Vice President Frank R. Moore responded for the board of aldermen and congratulated the post on its beautiful service and the incentive to patriotism given to all.

Representative White touched a responsive chord in a brief eulogy to the late Col. William M. Olin and continued by saying that by the fidelity to duty shown in 1861 you have given to us of this generation not only this glorious Commonwealth of Massachusetts, but the great nation of the United States of America.

General Emery said he received his inspiration for military service by following this post as a boy and called attention to the fact that Newton had among its residents more high officers of the state militia than any other two cities in the entire state.

Commander Tuitt of the Spanish War Veterans said that while their service was not as strenuous as that of the Civil War, we received our inspiration for that service from the example set by the veterans of the Grand Army. He declared that they all had returned from that war better men and had become better citizens from the fact of that service.

Captain Guilford of the Claffin Guard was greeted with three cheers from the post and the Claffin Guard returned the cheers with hearty good will for the post. Capt. Guilford said that the annual escort duty on Memorial day was most pleasant and one that was looked forward to by every man.

Rev. Mr. Spaulding said he was glad to be tired in such a good cause as that of the day. He declared that he admired the little bronze button, he admired the Spanish War Veterans and he admired every man who loves the old flag and who is living so as to cast no reflections upon its fold.

Other speakers were Commander E. P. Hunt of the Sons of Veterans, Miss Frances Fitzgerald president of the Daughters of Veterans and Rev. Francis B. White.

A silent tribute was then paid to the dead by all standing. Adjutant Wetherbee then led in singing "We Old Boys". At the suggestion of Rev. Mr. White, the felicitations of the Post were sent to former Commander Col. I. F. Kingsbury and the sympathy of the post to the family of the late Col. Olin.

The singing of America and the benediction by post chaplain Putnam closed the exercises of the day.

The veterans of the Civil War and their friends had a most beautiful day on Tuesday to suitably observe the orders of the National Commander for Memorial Day. Details of old soldiers were busy all day long in placing flags and flowers on the graves of their former comrades in arms and on the last resting places of those who had in any way served the nation's cause of half a century ago.

The most prominent service of the morning was held at Newton Lower Falls where members of the Charles Ward Post under command of Vice Commander Ogden decorated the graves in St. Mary's Cemetery, and listened to a brief but inspiring address by Rev. Francis B. White of the Claffin church. The post then marched to the river bank where the beautiful service of casting flowers in the water in memory of the sailor dead was impressively performed. Added interest was taken in the Lower Falls observance from the

MT. IDA SCHOOL.

Many parents and alumnae attended the graduation exercises in the gymnasium of the Mt. Ida school for girls Wednesday evening. Prayer was offered by Rev. George Butters. Rev. Dr. George Hodges gave an address on the "Ladder of Light." He also presented the diplomas and certificates.

Rev. Dr. Hodges, Mrs. A. G. Jewett and Miss Helen A. Rowley received the guests at the reception in the library, the juniors being ushers. The young women of the school gave several chorals and songs. The graduates are:

Theresa S. Bain, Florence G. Beecher, Katherine E. Blandin, Ruth S. Brackett, Nellie L. Butterfield, Gertrude C. Chapman, Lora M. Churchhill, Zilpha W. Dyke, Hortense B. Flynn, Grace C. NEWTON SCHOLARSHIP

At the Newton Technical High School Wednesday morning, before 400 students, Mr. Salmon W. Wilder, Chairman of the Newton High Schools' Scholarship Committee, gave the details of the new high schools' scholarship to the Mass. Institute of Technology. Later, before the entire student body of the old High School he gave the same announcement, which in substance is as follows:

"While you are all of course familiar with the Institute of Technology and the work it is doing, yet I have thought that a very few facts regarding this great school may be of interest, and especially those students who are thinking of entering Technology."

"When compared with the older colleges the Mass. Institute of Technology is young, and indeed its charter was granted only fifty years ago. Some idea of its youthfulness may be gleaned from the fact that graduates from every class are still alive and active, while the average age of all Technology alumni is only thirty-five years. During the last half a century, however, its growth has been vigorous and healthy. From only ten professors and instructors forty-five years ago (among whom, however, were President Eliot of Harvard University), and less than seventy students, it now has over two hundred professors and instructors and more than fifteen hundred students, including many women."

"This student body is drawn not only from all parts of the country, but from the entire world. Over thirty countries are represented at the Institute and many of the under-graduates come from other colleges and universities. But it is not the number of students that gives Technology its exalted position and makes it the foremost school of its kind in this country and probably in the world."

"Struggling for resources and with a tuition fee higher than any other technical school or college in the country, how is such growth possible? The reasons are many, but one of them is that we are living in a scientific age and the economic and scientific development of our country requires men with a sound, scientific and technical training. The Massachusetts Institute of Technology is supplying just such men."

"Another reason is found in the extremely high standard of excellence demanded by Technology in the work of its students. Quality and thoroughness go hand in hand."

"As already stated, Technology is poor in many respects, but its wealth, however, has just granted it a million dollars payable in ten annual installments, and several large bequests have recently been announced. Further endowment from alumni and others will be forthcoming and plans for moving to a new site and the erection of a group of splendid buildings, including dormitories, are now under way, and some of the students in this room must in due time be at Technology when her grounds, buildings and equipment will be the equal of any in America."

"There are in the city of Newton about two hundred Technology alumni, many of them graduates of this school. Some of these alumni conceived the idea of establishing a Newton High Schools' Scholarship in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and after taking up the matter with the Newton School Committee and Dr. Spaulding, a committee consisting of several alumni, together with some public-spirited citizens having the welfare of Newton young men at heart, was formed, to make the plan effective. As a result of their efforts, I am glad to say a Newton High Schools' Scholarship in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology has been established. This scholarship provides for the payment of the tuition of $250 for one year at the Institute."

"A circular letter relative to this scholarship states that it is established by those who are interested in the welfare of Newton young men, the Newton High Schools and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Furthermore, the letter states as follows:

"The recipient of the scholarship is to be a graduate of one of the Newton high schools and selected by a committee consisting of the Chairman of the School Committee and the Superintendent of Schools. The award shall be made as an honorable recognition of personal merit and of high scholarship, particularly in science and mathematics. A recipient who does not need the financial aid will be at liberty, while retaining the title of Newton Scholar, to transfer the financial grant to another student, subject to the approval of the Superintendent of Schools, or he may return it to the endowment fund referred to below."

"Awards shall be made for one year only, and preference shall in general be given to an entering student, with the expectation that a student already in the Institute if in need of financial aid may secure it from the Institute sources."

"It will be the aim of the Committee to secure as soon as practicable an endowment fund for the permanent maintenance of this scholarship. It is believed that the establishment of the scholarship will have particular important advantages for the Newton High Schools and for those of its students who look forward to technology education."

"I may say that a certificate, or diploma, will be presented to the holder of this scholarship, and it is hoped that the honor attaching to it will be a goal worth striving for without any regard to the intrinsic value of the scholarship itself."

This scholarship is under the control of the following committees: Citizens' Committee: Mayor Hatfield, Hon. George Hutchinson, Wm. C. Bray, Matt. B. Jones, Charles A. Clarke, Ben. S. Palmer, Frank A. Day, Herbert A. Wilder.

Technology Committee: S. W. Wilder, A. S. Pratt, A. F. Bemis, W. G. Snow, H. J. Carlson, S. E. Thompson, J. P. Gray, H. W. Tyler.

It gives us a jolt to find that the leading citizen is hungry three times a day and that he snores in his sleep.

Newton.

—Mr. M. J. Mulcahy was awarded second prize in the Express class at the Work Horse parade on Tuesday.

—Lieut. Chas. T. Leeds, a former resident of this village, has been appointed a captain in the United States Navy.

—The choir of Grace church gave a most successful minstrel show last evening at the Hunnewell clubhouse. Mr. Chas. N. Staden was in charge the interactor was Mr. I. U. Townsend Jr., and those taking part were Messrs. Harold Bennett, W. H. F. Roope, E. F. Leighton, William Hanson, E. W. Blue, A. F. Pickernell, H. P. Curtis and the Harvard freshman quartet. Dancing followed until midnight.

NARROW ESCAPE.

Charles M. Potter, employed as a janitor in the bank building, West Newton, while assisting the janitor of city hall in moving some boxes in the cellar of city hall yesterday morning, becoming thirsty, drank three teaspoonfuls of a disinfectant which was on a shelf in the cellar.

The man sank to the floor after swallowing it and was immediately removed to the Columbia pharmacy, where stimulants were administered. Mr. Potter is prominently connected with the Old Fellows and other societies of this city.

Changing Tom Reed's Face.

Thomas B. Reed was once the victim of a printer's error the unusual aptness of which, after the first flush of indignation had subsided, appealed so strongly to his sense of the comic that he never failed to refer to the matter with the keenest gusto whenever he met the man whom he, with the utmost mock solemnity, always held responsible for it. The late Colonel John A. Cockerill's handwriting in the heat of composition was sometimes liable to lose itself in an almost interminable tangle, decipherable only with the greatest difficulty. On one occasion he undertook to say that "any one can see Tom Reed has the face of an honest man," but was horrified when he opened his paper the following morning and found that the types made him say that "any one can see Tom Reed has a face like a harvest moon."

The Feet of Chameleons.

Chameleons, as no doubt readers are aware, all belong to the old world, and particularly to Africa. In their tongue, their feet and their eyes they differ remarkably from other lizards. Their feet, though possessing five toes, are divided into two grasping groups, looking like a hand in mittens, and only by close examination you perceive the presence of the two or three opposing respectively, but so close together as to appear like one broad one. On the padded soles or palms of these grasping limbs you can feel and see the small—many one say—palm, which enable them to grasp so firmly that it is difficult to detach a chameleon from its foothold. These clinging feet, together with their prehensile tail, enable them to sustain themselves on the branches in the strongest gale.

He Was Paralyzed.

The bell rang, and when she went to the door she found a sad faced woman.

"Please, mum, can you help me some? I got six children and me husband is paralyzed."

"Why, certainly. Here's a quarter. Where is your husband?"

"He's in jail, mum."

"In jail! Why, what is he in jail for?"

"For gittin' paralyzed, mum!"—New York Journal.

A farmer takes some pigs to market in a basket. He puts the first in with its head pointing one way and the next with its head in the opposite direction, the next with its head pointing the same way as the first, and so on. He stops when he has three beads pointing one way and three tails the other. How many pigs does he put in?

Taken at His Word.

He (after marriage)—What! You have no fortune? You said over and over again that you were afraid some one would marry you for your money. She—Yes, and you said over and over again that you would be happy with me if I hadn't a cent. Well, I haven't a cent.

The Sudden Shock.

"Your wife has received some sudden shock. What has happened?"

"I don't know, doctor. I came home early last night."

"Ah, that presumably accounts for it."—Washington Herald.

Bad Enough.

Magistrate—Do you know that drink drives a man into bad company? Prisoner—Yes, your honor. It brought me before you.—Philadelphia Times.

One of Those Questions.

"It was his third attempt at suicide."

"And didn't he succeed at either of the others?"—New York Press.

A Wrong Impression.

Fair Critic—Oh, Mr. Sneer, those ostriches over there are simple perfect! You should never paint anything else but birds. Artist (sadly)—Those are not ostriches, madam. They are angels.—London Opinion.

Quite a Joker.

Tall Sophomore—O'Frut is making all kinds of money writing jokes. Fat Junior—Writing jokes? Tall Sophomore—Yes. In his letters home he tells his father he leads his class.—Chicago News.

There is not any benefit so glorious in itself that it may not be sweetened and improved by the manner of giving it.—Seneca.

WOMEN'S CLUBS NEWS

Edited by Miss Grace M. Burt.

It was with a feeling of regret on the part of those who have worked with the retiring president of the Massachusetts State Federation that the statute of limitations prevented her from longer continuing in office. With all due appreciation for those who were her predecessors it has been Miss Bacon's able generalship that has brought the Federation to its present efficiency. At every point she has known just what her committees were doing and what they ought to do, and has ever been helpful with her suggestions and her words of encouragement and appreciation. Here conduct of the meetings has been admirable. They have begun on time and they have closed on time, and everyone has had the space allotted her. And with all this business ability she has shown great tact and retires from her position with a host of friends, which is the great compensation for arduous service. She has given of her best and the Federation is reaping the reward.

It sometimes happens when such an able leader retires that those who have loyally seconded retire also. That which had seemed loyalty to the organization was in fact merely loyalty to the leader. The club women must remember at this time that the Federation and the power it wields is greater than any leader and needs more than ever the loyal support of every member.

To succeed such a woman as Miss Bacon has shown herself is no light task and the newly elected president, Mrs. Minna R. Mulligan, has not gone into it blindly, but she will stand or fall according to whether or not she has the support of every woman in the Federation.

The executive board of the Federation presented Miss Bacon with a beautiful pendant and chain, a black opal set in platinum, as a token of regard upon her retiring from office. The chairman of standing committees gave her a mesh bag of gun metal with her initials. Bouquets of carnations were sent both Miss Bacon and Mrs. Nowers from some of the delegates and these adorned the platform during the sessions on Friday.

It may be of interest to know that Mrs. Mulligan, the incoming president, was Minna Rawson of Worcester previous to her marriage, a direct descendant from Edward Rawson a former secretary of state for Massachusetts, while her husband Henry Coolidge Mulligan, state senator from Natick, is descended from the Coolidge family of Watertown. Mrs. Mulligan was educated in the schools of Worcester, being a graduate of the Worcester High school and she afterwards studied at Wellesley College. She was president of the Natick Woman's Club for two years and has served for several years as president of the Civic League of Natick, having retired only last year. She has been active in church work and has served as a director of the State Federation for three years. As board member of the Civics Department of the Federation she has acted as secretary of the committee for the three years. Mrs. Mulligan brings to her office experience in club matters, great interest and enthusiasm and a spirit of devoted service.

STATE FEDERATION.

A large delegation of club women left Boston on Wednesday afternoon May 24, en route for New Bedford to attend the annual convention of the Massachusetts State Federation. After registering at the headquarters at the First Baptist church they scattered to their respective abiding places, the executive board and officials of the Federation being quartered in the Tabitha Inn at Fairhaven. At five o'clock through the courtesy of the New Bedford Woman's Club, the hostess for the convention, the delegates enjoyed an organ recital in the Rogers Memorial church at Fairhaven by Mr. Alton B. Paul. In the evening the Old Dartmouth Historical Societies of New Bedford opened their rooms for an informal reception to the visiting club women.

On Thursday morning at eleven the convention proper opened with the usual greeting from the hostess club and response from Miss Bacon. The rest of the session was given up to the reports of officers and special committees, abstracts of which have already been printed. In the afternoon four of the departments, civics, conservation, legislative, and civil service reform submitted their reports which were followed by an address by Mrs. Philip N. Moore, president of the General Federation, who was the guest of honor.

Mrs. Moore paid high tribute and congratulation to the work which Massachusetts is doing, saying that no state is doing it as in Massachusetts. She urged that work with kindred organizations be that of co-operation rather than that of union or even affiliation. She quoted Julia Ward Howe's description of the Federation as "a peaceful army" and added that it can and should be a fighting army when war threatens the home. Conservation is the slogan of the present day—conservation in its broadest sense. It is the duty of the club women to see to it that the child without the home is cared for just as well as the child in the home.

Mrs. Moore presented two problems which the General Federation is bringing before the clubs. First, the need of some form of reorganization. She stated that the best plan of reorganization was presented by Massachusetts some years ago, but that was found to be unconstitutional. All the states are asked to put their minds to it and bring suggestions to the next Biennial. The other problem is that of income. The present amount is insufficient to give the committees anything beyond mere postage with which to work and it does not seem wise to increase the dues. As an alternative the matter of endowment is being solicited. The plans for the next Biennial to be held at San Francisco in 1912 were spoken of and some of the things which that city has to offer were touched upon, the unrivaled hotels, the wonderful drives and parks, its appropriate architecture and its perfect climate.

In closing she said that the Federation is not a philanthropic organization, in no sense political, not purely sociological, but a union of all which is going to be a power in the 20th century.

In the evening the New Bedford Woman's Club shared its annual musicale with the delegates, after which they adjourned to Old Fellows Hall for a reception. The artists furnishing the musicale were Mr. Karl Barleben, violinist of the Boston Symphony, Mrs. May Belle Hagenow Furbush, pianist, and the Weber Male Quartet.

At the reception everything was arranged most carefully for the comfort of all, there being plenty of ushers and good system in the serving of refreshments. In the receiving line were Miss Mary E. Austin, president of the club, Mrs. Wilson, president-elect, Miss George A. Bacon, of the Massachusetts Federation, Mrs. Moore of the General Federation, the four vice-presidents of Massachusetts, and Miss Alice Lakey, the speaker for the next morning session.

On Friday morning came the business session of the convention. Greetings were sent to New Hampshire, which was holding its annual convention simultaneously with Massachusetts, and greetings were received from Idaho, Connecticut, from Vermont, from North Carolina, from Wisconsin and from New Hampshire.

A resolution was presented from the General Federation recommending the consideration of adopting the mountain laurel as the National floral emblem and asking for action by Massachusetts. After discussion in which both the pros and cons were brought out, it was voted to recommend its adoption. It was also voted to endorse the work of the Drama League of Boston, some account of which is included in the report from the Literature department.

Mrs. Emmous Crocker, chairman of Conservation of the General Federation and first vice-president of the Massachusetts Federation, gave some account of the recent Council Meeting held at Memphis.

The election of officers resulted in the following list being chosen: President, Mrs. Minna R. Mulligan, Woman's Club, Natick; vice presidents, 1st, Mrs. Marian A. Crocker, Woman's Club, Fitchburg; 2nd, Mrs. Florence L. Breed, North Shore Club, Lynn; 3rd, Mrs. Florence T. Perkins, Roxbury Club, Roxbury; 4th, Mrs. Jennie B. Wadleigh, New Hampshire's Daughters, Boston. Clerk, Mrs. Claire H. Gurney, Women's Club, Quincy. Assistant Clerk, Mrs. Lizzie L. Bullock, Woman's Club, Worcester. Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Grace V. Hubbard, Woman's Club, Milton. Treasurer, Mrs. Lena R. Wellington, Fortnightly Club, Winchester. Directors (Term expires 1914) Mrs. Ella C. Adams, Tuesday Club, Jamaica Plain; Miss George A. Bacon, Woman's Club, Worcester; Mrs. Nancy L. Bennett, Riverside Club, Saugus; Mrs. Mary D. Hawley, Cantabrigia Club, Cambridge; Mrs. Ellen T. Palmeter, Woman's Club, Stoneham. Nominating Committee, Mrs. Frances T. Endicott, chairman, Woman's Club, Chelsea; Mrs. Anna T. Bush, Woman's Club, Melrose; Mrs. Gertrude B. Cobb, Woman's Club, Dedham; Mrs. Frances C. Glines, Woman's Club, Somerville; Mrs. Mary E. Smith, Middlesex Women's Club, Lowell.

The remainder of the morning was taken up with reports from the following departments: Industrial and social conditions, education, home economics, food sanitation, public health, and the address by Miss Alice Lakey on "The Betrayal of the Pure Food Law", an abstract of which has already appeared in the Graphic.

At the afternoon session the remaining departments, art, music, literature and library extension, and the bureau of information, made their reports. Four new clubs, the Eclectic Study Club of Boston, the West Roxbury Woman's Club, the West Concord Woman's Club and the Sudbury Woman's Club recently admitted membership, were presented. The newly elected officers were presented, the new president Mrs. Henry C. Mulligan, being the last.

It will bring forward Miss Henrietta McDannel, who made a remarkable success as Peter in "The End of the Bridge," and it will exhibit that clever little actress in a character that she should make as distinctive as she did the boyish hero of Miss Lincoln's prize play. Miss McDannel is by no means a one part actress and her Cedric Errol in "Little Lord Fauntleroy" will display her genius and versatility. In addition to Miss McDannel the cast will contain George Hassell as the Earl of Dorincourt, Frederick Murray as Mr. Havisham, Donald Meek as Hobbs the grocer, and Gertrude Binley as Mrs. Errol.

UTOPIA

To every man of every creed
There comes a sweet Utopian dream;
He sees a land where not a weed
May ever grow, where every stream
Makes music as it winds along,
Where all the breezes blow in tune,
Where all is fair and life a song,
Where all the blissful year is June.

There fragrant roses ever bloom,
And everywhere contentment spreads;
The nights are robbed of all their gloom;
The sun a genial radiance sheds;
There all things are superbly planned;
The prospects all appear far and fair;
Each man has dreams of such a land
With him enthroned as master there.

—One of the interesting events of the week was a piano recital given by Miss Marion Lois Freese, a pupil of Miss Rose E. Cunningham at Temple hall last Friday evening from 8 until 10. Miss Freese was assisted by Mrs. Alice Williams Sherman, with Miss Cunningham as accompanist. The program which consisted of violin and piano solos, was very finely rendered. There were 200 present and Miss Freese was the recipient of many beautiful flowers. Messrs Allen and Tainter of Lexington were ushers.

—On Tuesday morning, June 6, the Fruit and Flower Mission begins its work for the season. The work at Newtonville station is in charge of the flower committee of the Newtonville Woman's Guild. Contributions of money, small as well as large, are earnestly desired, as well as fruit, flowers, vegetables, jellies, etc. Each church has one or more people on this committee. Hand your contribution to this committee. Hand or tell them what you will give. The fruit, flowers, etc., should be at the Newtonville station before nine o'clock on Tuesday and Friday mornings. If you are to be away for the summer cannot you arrange to have your flowers regularly picked and sent to the station? Be sure and be represented by some sort of contribution this summer. If possible, paucities and nasturtiums should be tied up in small bunches. This greatly helps the work at the station.

THE POLYMNIA.

The 4th of the Polymnia musicales for the season of 1910-1911 took place on Monday evening, May 29, at the home of Miss Kittie Thompson, 88 Otis street, members and guests, about sixty in number, coming from Boston, Brookline, and Jamaica Plain, as well as from various parts of Newton. The Polymnia was again unfortunate in having several of its members unavoidably absent but that fact did not seem to mar the excellence of the choral numbers. The program was extremely informal. Chorus by Reinecke, von Weber and Harry Matthews; a Swedish folk song by Soderberg with solo by Miss Helen Partridge; and, as a request number, one of the Cherubini Canons that proved so interesting to the club and the audiences alike, last year, and the before were the Polymnia contributions. The club would always be glad to put upon its programs "request numbers" if its associate members and guests would ask for them beforehand.

The soloists on this occasion were Miss Edith Soden, cello; Mrs. Arthur F. Jones, contralto; and Mr. Thomas W. Cotton, baritone. Miss Soden opened the program with the charming Barcarole from the Hoffman Tales that has been so popular this season (Offenbach composer). Later in the evening she played a delightful concerto for cello by Saint Saens which showed admirably her fine technique and artistic phrasing. Miss Soden is becoming widely known as an artist of very marked promise. Madame Martinez accompanied her on the piano and plays a wonderfully brilliant and sympathetic accompaniment.

The Polymnia has been greatly favored in the matter of soloists this winter, and Monday evenings' program was no exception.

Mrs. Jones was in excellent voice, singing Chadwick's "When Stars are in the quiet Night" and "Adoration" by Telma. Miss Stella Carter playing the violin obligato. Miss Coxeter played Mrs. Jones' accompaniments. By request Mrs. Jones sang also "The Little Dustman" by Brahms. Mr. Cotton has a warm, sweet baritone which finds immediate favor with his audiences. His singing shows intelligent study and a good understanding of the artistic use of quietness and repose in tone and phrasing. He sang an aria from Verdi's "Un Ballo in Maschera" with "The Four Leaved Clover" as an encore and "Under the Rose" by Fisher. His accompaniments were played by his twin sisters.

After the completion of the program as arranged Madame Martinez allowed Carmen. The lovely quality of her voice herself to be persuaded by the insistence of the audience, and sang an aria from and her special musicianship, both in singing and at the piano, were never more marked than in this dramatic aria; and in response to an absolute demand, she sang the famous Laughing Song which so rarely is sung, because so few singers can sing it. This is the first time Madame Martinez has been heard as a soloist at the Polymnia musicales this season. That alone would have made this a "red letter night." After the music was done, sociability reigned supreme for an hour bringing the season to a delightful close.

FEDERATION REPORTS

REPORT OF SETTLEMENT WORK.

The Massachusetts State Federation has for six years carried on a summer settlement in an isolated section of the mountains of East Tennessee.

The work for the summer of 1910 began early in June. The journey into the mountains has always been very hard and dangerous, but a small railroad has been built so that this year the teachers were able to go part of the way by train and so reached the Happy Valley station with less difficulty and fatigue. The teachers make their home in a little cottage built by the Massachusetts State Federation and the people of Happy Valley. For three months the teachers taught in the school and in the Sunday School, visited in the homes, held sewing classes at the cottage, and entered into the life of the people in every way.

The little cottage, which is a model and an object lesson of a neat, simple, inexpensive little home, is a haven where the people are entertained, and where they often bring their perplexities and trials for the help and comfort they are sure to find.

The teachers report improvement in the homes, in the desire for an education, in the Sunday School and in the home life of many of the people. When the teachers returned to the outer world, they took back five children to Maryville to attend the grammar school there. Four of these are supported at school by scholarships given by Massachusetts clubs.

SARA T. S. LEIGHTON,
Chairman Settlement Dept.

REPORT OF THE ASSISTANT CLERK.

As we review the work of the past year, we find it very similar to that of the year previous. The work of preparing the Manual must of necessity be done during the summer that the clubs may have the use of it as early as possible in the fall. The greatest difficulty in the preparation of the Manual is caused by the failure of a large number of the clubs to return the list of questions correctly answered, which are sent to the clubs with the notices of the Annual Meeting.

This delinquency not only delays the printing of the Manual but necessitates the writing of many letters thereby very much increasing the postage account. The Manual was printed in September and a copy sent to all officers and clubs of the State Federation and to the officers of the General Federation. A copy was also sent to the President of each of the other State Federations, to a few newspapers, public libraries and other organizations. Twenty-four copies have been sold to speakers, lecturers and others.

In closing this brief report we urge all clubs which have not returned the questions for 1911-1912 to do so at the earliest possible moment, thereby enabling our Assistant Clerk to render more valuable service to the Federation and to the clubs.

LIZZIE L. BULLOCK,
Assistant Clerk.

LIBRARY EXTENSION.

The work of the Library Extension Department has been satisfactory and successful just to the extent that the clubs of Massachusetts have shown interest in co-operating in the work of the public libraries of the Commonwealth. Many of the clubs in their replies to the questions sent out show that they are doing good work in many directions.

Newburyport has spent $100 for a travelling library for the schools and during the year has added 100 books to this library.

Fitchburg has helped in the story hour for the children. There is also under the supervision of the club a boys' club to which about one hundred and fifty books have been given.

Quincy has helped to establish a branch library.

Milford sends travelling libraries to five district schools and also books to the town hospital.

Somerville has had books on the drama and opera, the dramas themselves, and librettos, placed on separate shelves in the Public Library.

South Weymouth has given the Public Library $25 for new books.

Nahant has given to the Public Library several typewritten papers, which were read before the club, on local historical subjects, which will be of value in the future.

The travelling library of the State Federation has been so little used during the past year that it can almost be said to stand idle in a corner. This seems to be a waste of good, valuable material.

On January 18 a Library Extension conference was held in the Lecture Hall of the Boston Public Library.

Letters have been received from the West and the South, from Texas, asking advice as to methods of forming Library Extension committees, securing library buildings and enlarging the present collection of books, and having State Library Commissions appointed.

In recognizing the fact that the public library is the "people's university" it must also be remembered that no university ever has sufficient funds to supply all its needs. Therefore co-operation of any kind is always welcomed by a librarian. Suggestions for books that are of immediate need, and the use of these books, financial assistance in the purchase of expensive and yet necessary books, and above all in the good use of the books already in the library, instead of a constant demand for new books—in these ways at least, any and every club can aid in extending the work of a public library.

HELEN BIGELOW BANGS,
Chairman Library Extension.

LITERATURE COMMITTEE.

Today, as chairman of the Literature and Library Extension Committee, I come to measure the work of the year, and submit my second annual report for the department of literature. Although this committee only the third year of the existence of the Literature Committee, we no-ice a steady gain and interest in the work.

The literature work in the various clubs has not been the pastime of an idle hour, judging from the reports of the meetings as they have from time to time appeared in the Boston Transcript, and the year books have shown careful, well-planned programs with far-reaching possibilities in the future. Surely, it has been a serious pursuit, appealing to the very best that is in us, in the service of which there has been great pleasure and satisfaction.

In order that the State committees should correspond to those of the General Federation this year the work of Library Extension has been added to what was formerly the Literature Committee, so that now, the committee is known as the Literature and Library Extension Committee. As these are really two distinct departments of work, it was thought best to have an active chairman to represent the library work. Accordingly, Miss Helen Bigelow Bangs, who is connected with the Wallace Library at Fitchburg, has received and answered all inquiries pertaining to this part of the work, so the report on Library Extension will be reported separately.

The replies to the questions sent out by the committee have been gratifying, showing that clubs are studying only that literature which is ennobling and uplifting.

Of the 341 clubs in the State, 101 replied to the questions; 10 blank were received.

In several cases the last question was answered by asking if the committee could furnish papers to be read by club members on Modern Authors, or furnish lecturers for expenses or for a moderate price.

Last year an appeal was made to every club in the State asking for papers to be used in reciprocity work. There are in the possession of the chairman at the present time, about 40 of these so-called lending papers, all of them good, many of them excellent. These are for the use and help of the smaller clubs. Many of these papers have been written by members of the Woman's Book Review Club of Dorchester. The Thursday Morning Fortnightly Club of Dorchester and by the Clifton Literary Club of Dorchester. Wherever these papers have been sent appreciative thanks have been returned.

This, in part, meets the need of the small, struggling club. It is in addition to this, some one from the larger clubs, which in themselves are so fully equipped, would be willing to go to the smaller clubs for travelling expenses, surely this would be the best kind of co-operation, for "To give to another from what one has or is, is a most noble deed."

Already letters have been received asking information in regard to programs for another year. The State Literature Committee takes pleasure in calling attention to the study outlines prepared by the Literature Committee of the General Federation in the February, April and May issues of the General Federation Bulletin, Course 1. The committee has, at all times during the year urged a systematic study of the drama, and with this end in view, following the good example of other departments of the State Federation, a conference on the drama was held in the Lecture Hall of the Boston Public Library, on Wednesday, January 18, with a good attendance of club members and friends deeply interested in the work.

Many of you know of "The Drama League of Boston," that is now being organized with Prof. Baker of the department of Dramatic Literature of Harvard College as president. It is as yet, too early to outline the work the League hopes to accomplish, but it looks for support and hearty co-operation from the women's clubs. It has a committee on drama study, and it will carry on a form of work that will train those who utilize the literature put forth to know some of the fundamentals of dramatic construction.

Through the committee on drama study the League will issue outlines of suggested courses for clubs and school organizations on the various national dramas, and a broadly inclusive course in modern drama in general, as well as lists of collateral reading. The cost of annual membership, beginning June 1, 1911, is one dollar, which will entitle each member to one copy of the outline.

The committee will stand ready to suggest interesting and unusual plays that can be used by amateur clubs.

In closing, let me urge the importance of good literary work in the club—try to simplify and unify the club programs. The beauty which is inherent in literature, is of itself a joy, a power, an enrichment of life.

Emily Dickinson says:
"There is no frigate like a book,
To take us leagues away,
Nor any course like a page
Of prancing poetry.
This traverse may the poorest take Without oppress of toll;
How frugal is the chariot,
That bears a human soul!"

C. company, captained by Gladys Lawton, the senior class president, was awarded the banner for the best company. Miss Dorothy Bragdon was awarded the senior prize for individual drill and Dorothy T. Payne was awarded the prize in the junior competition. Miss Josephine Edgerton was awarded the second prize in the junior individual competition. A large number of friends and relatives of the young ladies attended the exercises.

The Reds, captained by Mildred Hall won the annual canoe race on the Charles river on Monday morning. Three war canoes were entered in the competition and the race was closely contested. The Reds won by about a length over the Black and Whites and by about two lengths over the Blues.

The annual dinner of the senior class was held on Monday evening at the Wellesley Inn.

The annual commencement concert was held on Wednesday evening in the gymnasium. An attractive program consisting of both vocal and instrumental music was given by the young ladies.

The household economics and the art exhibit were held yesterday afternoon and last evening.

Tomorrow evening the senior reception will take place in the school parlors. The Rev. Frances E. Clark will preach the baccalaureate sermon on Sunday.

On Monday evening the class day exercises will take place and the commencement exercises will be held on Tuesday.

A GREAT SUCCESS

Beautiful weather, perfect surroundings and a representative gathering of society folk, were the features of the Garden Party held yesterday on the grounds of Mr. and Mrs. William H.
Coolidge on Gray Cliff Road, Newton
Centre, for the benefit of the Mothers'
Rest.Attractive tables were grouped about the lawns, all laden with articles created to draw money from the pockets of the visitor: dainty flower girls, little Katherine Coolidge and Charlotte White, sold their wares while passing to and fro
through the groups of spectators, ice cream and cake were offered on the spacious piazzas and the ever present "grab" was operated by a miniature airport from the roof of the veranda. Mr. Robert Forbush, made a most attractive young lady, and displayed the latest fashion
in a harem skirt to the great delight of his friends, while a hurdy gurdy and a fortune teller were also in evidence.In the evening a delightful out door concert was held, the audience occupying seats on the lawn, which was lighted
with many colored Japanese lanterns, and the artists utilizing the verandas as a stage. The evening program was in charge of the Young People's Club of the Mothers' Rest. Mrs. E. W. English, chairman, and the program included vocal solos by Mr. S. E. Farwell, and Mr.
A. T. Beatey, selections by a double male quartet and fancy dances by Miss Lillian Harrington and chorus and solo dances by Miss Henrietta Simpson.The success of the affair was due to the efforts of these ladies who were in charge.Mrs. W. H. Coolidge, chairman, Mrs.

mands one of the finest harbor views on the shore.—A large gathering attended the ladies night held at the Newton boat club
last Friday evening. A very interesting and unique program was arranged by the committee in charge, which consisted of several sketches by Franklin W. Collier, a cartoonist of the staff of the Globe. Mr. Collier's sketches greatly pleased the audience and he was forced to respond several times by the applause
that followed. He would ask any member of the audience to step forward and make a slant line of the paper and from that line he would make a figure. The quartet from the Nonantum A. A. were also applauded for their efforts. Following the entertainment refreshments were served.

BUREAU OF INFORMATION.

The many letters of inquiry which have been received by the Bureau of Information during the past year, prove that the formation of the department as a part of the working committee of the state federation has been fully justified.Questions have been asked concerning almost every conceivable subject pertaining to club work and organization.The Bureau wishes to state that it does not hold any papers on subjects coming under the heads of any of the various departments of the federation. All such papers are in the hands of the committees representing those departments. The bureau simply acts as a general directory, indicating where the papers or speakers on the respective subjects may be obtained.In response to appeals made in last annual report for detailed information regarding maintenance of scholarships or working programs which have proved especially practical, the bureau has received co-operation from many of the clubs, which, in turn, it has been able to render for the benefit of others needing that assistance.Through the year books which have been received from about one-half the clubs in the federation, this committee has been able to collect a series of programs and constitutions and bylaws, which have aided in assisting clubs asking for help along these lines. There are still many features, however, pertaining to the welfare of the small club regarding which the members of this bureau seek information in order that they may be able to respond satisfactorily to numerous requests for suggestions. Once again, we ask the small clubs that have had the benefit of experience in any special line to send us information regarding that experience and also programs that have proved helpful.Through the courtesy of the East-schish club of Malden, the bureau holds in its possession an excellent series of outline studies of different countries. These include the British Empire, England, France, Germany, Holland, Italy, Spain, Greece, Russia, Rome, Florence and Venice, Scandinavia, Japan, Egypt and the Bible lands.
These may be obtained by communicating with the chairman of this committee.To meet the desires of small organizations which for the most part are dependent upon their own members
for the carrying out of the yearly program, the bureau is preparing a list of speakers who will be willing to address these clubs at special rates. A list of these speakers and subjects
may be obtained from any member of this committee.An appeal frequently comes in the form of this question: "What some of the methods used to raise funds for purpose of carrying on philanthropic work in which the federated clubs are interested?" Many committees would be filled with grateful appreciation, if through this avenue of information they might learn of successful methods employed by others in carrying on these lines of work in which all are mutually interested.The spirit of reciprocity has been growing, expanding, and it is hoped that by careful management this feeling of reciprocal inspiration and helpfulness may be increased to a still greater degree during the coming year.

LEILA C. PENNOCK, Chairman.

ART COMMITTEE.

The work of the Art committee has been the development of the policy adopted the first year—to awaken a deeper, truer interest in art, and to establish a closer relation between the federated clubs and the art museums,
art schools and art institutions of all kinds—thus helping people to realize that art is for everyone, and that a knowledge of it broadens, enriches and adds to the enjoyment of life.A list of questions was sent to each club in the federation, asking in what way their club was working to create and stimulate an interest in art, and a truer appreciation of the beautiful
in all things, and for the preservation of all natural beauty—and the development of all possibilities of beauty
in their community. If they had classes in fine arts and arts and crafts? If they had held exhibitions? If they had in any way interested themselves in the art work in the schools? If they had co-operated with neighboring clubs in art matters? If they had availed themselves of the privileges
offered by the Museum of Fine Arts and other art institutions?One hundred and two clubs responded to these questions. Eleven reported no interest in art; fortyone had given from one to six lectures on art
subjects; twenty-seven reported classes
in art study, with a total membership of 889; ten, classes in arts and crafts, with a membership of 101. A number of clubs reported classes in millinery and art needle work; twenty-
two held exhibitions of fine arts,
and arts and crafts; fifty-six clubs, comprising 1025 members, visited the Museum of Fine Arts, under the guidance of a docent. Ten held classes there—the Newtonville Woman's Guild holding 10 sessions—giving one hundred and thirty-two club members
an opportunity to study carefully the art objects under the instruction of a docent.The Heptorean club held eight class meetings in the Museum. One hundred and fifty members of this club attended a lecture given by Mr.
Fairbanks, in the Museum, under the auspices of the art committee of the club.The art class of the Medford Woman's club held six meetings at the Museum. The Jamaica Plain Woman's club held six meetings in the Museum. The Roxbury club and the Women in Council united, and held six meetings under an instructor. The Stoneham Woman's club art class held four meetings in the Museum, thus enabling 100 club members to enjoy and become more intimately acquainted with the treasures of the Museum.A number of smaller classes were reported.This shows a growing appreciation of the privileges offered by the Museum of Fine Arts, as well as a desirefor art knowledge, which is very encouraging.The Brockton Woman's club is deserving of honorable mention. It held an admirable Arts and Crafts exhibition, which was open to the public for three days, and a Fine Arts exhibition which was open five days. Special arrangements were made, whereby large numbers of school children
and neighboring clubs visited the exhibition.One of the pictures exhibited was purchased and presented to the city, making the third picture which has been bought and given as a nucleus toward a Municipal Art Gallery for the city of Brockton. One hundred and seventy-one dollars and fifty cents of the money paid for this picture was raised by the art committee. The club appropriated each year $150 toward the expense of this exhibition. A "Municipal Art League" has been formed by the club
to assist in raising money wherewith to purchase a picture each year to be added to the list already owned.Seventeen reported an interest in the art work in the schools. Fifty-five schools including 1631 pupils, visited the Museum of Fine Arts, under the care of a docent. Eighteen gave assistance to neighboring clubs, by extending invitations to art lectures and exhibitions. Nineteen reported art books, well arranged in their public library. Five clubs subscribed for annual tickets to the Museum of Fine Arts.A large number of clubs have co-operated with Village Improvement societies, and aided in beautifying their towns, by planting trees, cleaning streets, and inspiring people to make their grounds more attractive. Three have helped in establishing village improvement societies. Through the efforts of one small club $200 was raised for the betterment of the town.A number of clubs visited the Frick, Homer, La Farge and Boston Artists exhibitions held at the Museum of Fine Arts; also Mrs. Gardner's palace, the Fogg and Germanic Museums, and the exhibition of decorative arts, held under the auspices of the Copley society, to which the federated clubs were admitted for half price.The Copley society, Museum of Fine Arts and Public Library have loaned photographs to clubs and schools. Art club tickets have been distributed, help given in planning art study classes, material looked up for papers and questions on every phase of art answered.On Dec. 1 an art conference was held in the Museum of Fine Arts, Miss Bacon, president of the federation, presiding. The subject treated was: "The Value of Art Study to the Pupil; the Value of Study Classes;
the Advantage of Holding Club Classes at the Museum and the Resources of the Library and Photograph Departments of the Museum."Five section conferences were held in different parts of the state. This section conference work is a new feature, and has met with remarkable success, owing to the hearty co-operation of the clubs in entertaining the conferences and in extending their gracious hospitality to neighboring clubs.The object of these section conferences is to establish a closer relation between the art committee of the clubs, and the art committee of the federation, and give to each club the benefit of the experience of the many and the value of mutual cooperation; thus materially increasing the interest in—and stimulating a desire,
for art knowledge.The committee has kept in touch with all art exhibitions during the year, also with art work in the schools
and clubs.It has been the aim of the committee to awaken a more active interest in art by encouraging art study, that all may see how closely art has been,
from the beginning, related to life,
and to show how each nation has expressed its own individuality, and written its history in its art, as we are beginning to do, in this country.

ANNIE L. COX, Chairman.

HOME ECONOMICS COMMITTEE.

The work of the Home Economics committee has been the continuation of the plan adopted last year: To interest club women in the study of Home Economics, to be the connecting link between them and the authorities
in our midst; to encourage the teaching of domestic science in the public schools and to assist in spreading the gospel of better living in every possible way.Fifty-five clubs have devoted one or more of the subjects. This is a slight gain in percent of number reporting over last year. The greater gain, however, has come in the increase of class and departmental work.
Thirty-one clubs report courses of lectures, cooking demonstration and study classes.The committee feels the clubs have not yet realized the opportunities for service in comparative exhibits, mother's meetings, evening lectures and cooking classes for working women and girls.There seems to have been no great activity to secure the teaching of domestic science in the public schools.
Many cities already have the teaching of two branches, cooking and sewing.
From the Middlesex of Lowell comes,
"Our club has taken the initiative and with the help of the board of trade is securing an investigation by the State Board of Education regarding vocational training." From Milford "We have indirectly secured cooking for the 9th grade pupils and the freshmen because we agreed to pay for the sewing in the 6th, 7th, and 8th grades
this year." From Newburyport, "A committee of four women has been appointed by our club to co-operate with the city in introducing teaching of domestic science."Four additional clubs report maintaining school lunch rooms. Other clubs have been concerned in furnishing equipment or helpers.In the spring the committee sent to some of the departments doing active work this list of questions: I. Are women more interested in cooking receipts or in better methods of work?
II. Are women learning to simplify housekeeping? III. If so, is this being done by the process of elimination or

MARSHALL-STOWE.

Miss Vira Frost Stowe, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace E. Stowe of Newtonville was married yesterday afternoon to Mr. Walter Harper Marshall of New York City.The wedding ceremony was held at 4
in the Central Congregational church,
the Rev. John M. Wilson of Lexington, tying the knot. Many guests from New York, Boston, the various Newtons and elsewhere witnessed the ceremony. The church was bright with floral decorations of mountain laurel, ferns and palm.The bride wore white crepe meteor
olga, Point lace, and a lace applique veil

better adaptation of means to an end? IV. Is the study of home economics assisting in solving the difficult problems of household management? If not, wherein does it fail to do so? V. What can you suggest to this committee to better its methods of results? VI. If good papers on any phase of our subject have been written in your club this year, will you contribute them to this committee? These questions called out great diversity of opinion and most interesting letters in reply.

The conference of the committee was held in the Technical high school, Newtonville, Jan. 11th, by invitation of the Newton Federation of Women's clubs. Many women spent the morning visiting the school. Luncheon was served to 260 women by the department of domestic science of the school. Between five and six hundred persons were present in the afternoon.

The agricultural college at Amherst held its second domestic science week in connection with Farmers' week, March 17-20. Several hundred attended. A splendid program was presented. This is extensive work done by the college in the interests of home economics. It would do much more but for lack of funds. This is a handicap to the work in Massachusetts, which we hope will sometime be removed.

The plan whereby each member corresponds with and otherwise seeks to aid clubs in certain congressional districts has been pursued. Ninety different clubs have been heard from either in the report of a chairman or regarding some phase of the work. Members of the committee have spoken before 55 clubs.

Through the generosity of the Melrose Highlands Woman's club, a small travelling library has been provided and will be placed with the library extension committee for use of clubs having inadequate library facilities. Four clubs have put the "Library of Home Economics" into their public libraries; others have suggested books to the trustees which have been supplied.

An outline of study with bibliography, prepared by Miss Helen Louise Johnson of this committee, appears in this month's number of the Federation Bulletin.

This outline, printed in slip form, with added notes and suggestions will be mailed to each federated club. There is an advantage scarcely to be overestimated to be derived from the simultaneous study of these questions by the hundreds of club women comprising our membership, and the committee hopes many clubs will see their way to use the outline next year.

The Home Economics movement is one of social significance. The conception of the term even has changed in a short while from a narrow one—cooking and sewing—into a term as broad as the world and as vital as life. Domestic economy should include all that bears upon home life and human development, and if this is true it is the nucleus of every other economy. No "ology" or "ism" but touches it.

A report of the work of this committee is therefore but a tithe of the work for home economics as each committee in the federation contributes a share.

The report will close with quotations from answers to one of our questions. "I think the study of home economics is helpful in that it makes the subject a study, and so dignifies it and places it on a level with the study of art, music, literature and other objects toward which women strain. Anything which dignifies household tasks, interests women in them, makes them seem worth while and worthy of thought and effort, is most needed and worthy work."

HATTIE M. DOUGLAS, Chairman.

EDUCATION DEPARTMENT.

The Department of Education is glad to report that 130 clubs responded to its list of questions. All of the clubs reporting have accomplished something along educational lines. Forty-five clubs report the formation of home and school associations. One hundred clubs have reported an education committee or chairman.

Sixteen clubs are maintaining scholarships. Ten clubs report teachers' pensions as paid in their respective cities. Many clubs report that they are doing all they can to awaken public sentiment for purity of the press. One club reports that they have offered a prize for the best bird house made by school boys. Another club reports that they have offered a prize for nicely combed hair, clean teeth and nails.

The department held two successful conferences, one in Ayer on March 1st and one in Everett, March 15th. Reports of results quoted at these conferences have proved that home and school associations are of great advantage to both parents and teachers. To teachers because of their bringing the parents to the schools. The teacher gets a new view of the children from their contact with the parents and thereby new relations of mutual understanding are established. There has been a distinct profit from the speakers who have addressed the meetings. Better discipline has been secured through this better understanding existing between teacher and parent. Attendance has been improved and hygienic conditions have been bettered.

In Everett where there are 14 of these associations and 16 schools, in one district whose population is 80 percent foreign, the parents after listening to a talk on dental hygiene, purchased 50 tooth brushes for the children. Good effects have been observed from the moral talks. There is a day nursery in one of the school buildings where the little children can be cared for in order not to keep the older children from school. There have come positive suggestions from the parents for the school work.

The use of schoolhouses as social centers is developing a broader view. At present of the 313 working days the schoolhouses are used for school purposes but 136 days. They should be a more economical use of the people's property. They might be made the home of neighborhood and civic clubs. The ideal social center will be educational and recreational. The school buildings should be available for continuation, for vacation and for evening schools. Besides these uses they could provide a place for mothers' meetings, for reference libraries and reading rooms. In fact they may become democratic meeting places for all classes. Among the essentials for a successful social center is a broadly democratic spirit is necessary. Don't confine it to the poor. Rochester, N. Y., started these social centers among the well-to-do. There should be a spirit of broad social exchange and it should not be in any sense social settlement work.

Trade schools are still growing. Home and school associations are doing a great work in moral training.

LILLIAN M. HELLEN, Chairman.

PUBLIC HEALTH DEPARTMENT.

As this is the first report of the Public Health Department, which was formed last spring, it may be well to give some idea of what has been done formerly under the Civic Committee. While the work of the clubs for the promotion of health in previous years has been almost wholly that of organization, the reports this year show continuous, steady cooperation with existing organizations, many of which were founded by the clubs.

The methods have been widespread and varied with more than sixty percent of the clubs in the Federation working actively for the promotion of health in their various communities.

Visiting nurse associations, anti-tuberculosis associations, day-camps, hospitals, tuberculosis classes have been established and in some instances are still carried on by the clubs. In other cases as the work has grown, it has been transferred to an incorporated body, members of the club working in both.

The tenor of the reports this year is to the effect that the clubs are affiliated with, represented on, or individual members are actively interested in, these other organizations.

One club reports that the women of their club have in the past started almost all the best philanthropic movements in the city, and adds that is why their club does not have a better showing.

Investigation of school conditions and efforts for the promotion of health among the children has also been carried on by the clubs.

Of the 97 clubs which replied to the list of questions sent out this year only 5 reported no interest or activity; all the others showed a serious, persistent effort toward raising the general sanitary conditions in their respective localities.

There is also a growing interest in a few clubs that have not formerly reported, one club stating that it intends to have a Public Health Department next year.

In agitating the need of sanitary drinking fountains and establishing them more was done last year. The reports of this year state that the school and city authorities have undertaken the work and have or are installing them.

The same can be said of Medical inspection in the schools, the reports showing that the school authorities are conducting it in a generally satisfactory manner. More money should be appropriated to make the system more effective and general physical examination and dental inspection and care of the teeth should be added.

Four clubs report efforts in securing school nurses to supplement the work of the school inspectors.

Revere Woman's Club reports giving $150 with which a dental clinic was started for the benefit of poor children.

The Brockton Woman's Club besides having established a Visiting Nurse association and adding it annually with supplies and money, dispenses a fund to provide glasses and treatment for poor school children having defective sight and hearing and through its country week department last year provided vacations for poor sickly mothers and children for two weeks or longer, which the report states, was ably managed and did a great deal of good.

The Middlesex Club of Lowell which reports this year maintained a visiting nurse and assistant, held during the past year a successful tuberculosis class every week and co-operated with the day camp at the hospital.

The Fitchburg Club which has been one of the foremost in promoting health in many ways, collected statistics this year, in order to form public opinion in favor of a tubercular hospital and held a meeting of educators at which a resolution was made to have more and better medical inspection in the schools.

The Roxbury Club conducted a campaign to keep open the Hospital school at Franklin Park in which it was assisted by many of the clubs in Boston.

Very few of the clubs have taken up the work yet of sex hygiene. Sixteen clubs reported holding lectures last year and the same number reported this year, but the reports show that the work has gone beyond mere lectures or talks for the members of the clubs themselves, but has taken a practical form in educating and aiding young women and girls. The Worcester Woman's Club has held a course of lectures by Dr. Evangeline W. Young which were attended by nearly six hundred working girls.

Individual members of the Chelsea Women's Club have given their time to help young girls, and in connection with a young working girls' club of Chelsea, which has opened its club rooms two evenings a week for the purpose, has endeavored to interest and educate less fortunate young women.

The Manchester Woman's Club reports a lecture on Sex Hygiene which was so successful that the physicians of the town spoke upon the same subject at a subsequent meeting. This club also raised over $1000 last summer to install a visiting nurse in the fall.

The department has issued a circular containing suggestions for work for the ensuing season.

LILLIAN FOLGER, Chairman.

DEPARTMENT OF INDUSTRIAL AND SOCIAL CONDITIONS.

The Committee on Industrial and Social Conditions was this year reorganized and has taken up the work of child welfare. Formerly the committee was a joint one from the Federation and the Women's Educational and Industrial Union but that organization having withdrawn, the Federation is now in a position to undertake the work itself.

From the answers received in reply to the questions sent to the clubs we learn that but twenty report an Industrial and Social Conditions committee while others have a committee which although under a different name apparently corresponds to ours, and about forty clubs have had one or more lectures relating to industrial and social conditions.

The Nautilus Club has investigated life among foreign children. The Melrose Highlands Club has formed a Boys' Club with 103 members. The Boston Section, Council Jewish Women, has three schools for moral training in the congested districts. A few clubs report interest in Savings Bank Insurance.

Judging from many of the returns, there seems to be misunderstanding regarding the questionnaire which was issued by this department. Apparently many of the clubs do not appreciate the importance of the questionnaire and the value of the questions asked. They do not grasp the fact that it is the individual child which is under discussion. We ask you to send us as complete a picture as possible of each child investigated. Our investigation is to be continued to include the child in the school, at work and at play. Nothing of this kind has ever before been undertaken. The returns are to be tabulated and the Federation will thus be enabled to make definite suggestions that will be of importance not only in the work of the Federation, but in other lines of work. The Vermont Federation is to carry on a similar investigation by adapting our questionnaire to the rural conditions of their state.

By invitation of the Worcester Woman's Club on the fifth of May our committee held an all-day conference in the beautiful Woman's Club Building.

Milton has told us: "The childhood shows the man. As morning shows the day." Let us because of that fact take up this child welfare investigation with new zeal, remembering always that what makes for the betterment of the conditions surrounding child life makes for every known form of social betterment.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME.

The Legislature has struck a dull streak in its annual course, with the big matters still unreported and only the Governor's messages and vetoes to enliven the proceedings. The holiday this week helped to keep down the interest, the Senate meeting on Saturday and adjourning over Monday while the House was not in session Saturday, but met for a short time on Monday.

It is said that Senator Mulligan will again be a candidate, and the former representative Hilton of Framingham and Cutting of Weston will also be in the field. Senator Mulligan is now serving his third term and with the scant plurality by which he pulled through last fall, it would be inviting defeat to allow him to run again. The matter will undoubtedly be settled by direct nomination, as that bill will pass notwithstanding unfounded rumors that the state machine is opposing its operation by seeking to add a referendum to it. This will be a factor this fall which will eliminate the power heretofore possessed by the Republican leaders to dictate the nomination, and the operation of the new law in this senatorial district will be awaited with considerable interest. While on this topic, I understand that all three of our capable representatives from this city are willing to accept a third term, and from the position each occupies at the State House, Newton is extremely fortunate in securing their services for a third year. Our interests and indeed the interests of the entire state are safe in the hands of such gentlemen as Representative Ellis, Bothfeld and White.

In this connection the Boston Record says: "Rep. Ellis of Newton is expected to come back next year, and is wanted to head the committee on street railways, of which he is now ranking member; the present chairman will probably not return. There is little doubt that whoever is elected speaker next year, Rep. Ellis will be urged to take the street railway chairmanship. At the same time he has proved to be a very valuable man in the chairmanship of the labor committee, and of course can have that if he prefers it, but the majority of the conservative members regard it as an exceedingly onerous place, requiring much self-sacrifice."

A bill has been introduced by Mr. White to authorize the Stone Institute to transfer property to the Newton Home for Aged People. As it was Mr. Stone's philanthropy which helped to found the Newton Home, the matter is all in the family, so to speak. All three of our representatives supported the veto of Governor Foss on the school teachers of Boston bill, and they also sustained the Governor in this half-hearted veto of the Boylston street extension bill.

To the Prospective Buyer

It is most advantageous to list one's requirements with a reliable real estate broker, the obvious reason being: In a real estate office great numbers and varieties of properties are listed at all times, and clerks are paid to keep people posted on whatever properties that seem to be what a client would consider. Another advantage of the agent is that many people will list highly desirable properties with a real estate broker when they would not let it be generally known that they were desirous of selling. My lists are at the service of the buyer.

LEGISLATIVE.

The Legislative Department of the Massachusetts Federation of Women's Clubs finds its work on all sides and its needs demand personal information and address; constant vigilance on the part of its members, faithful work without prejudice in every village and city of the state to make its work corresponding and helpful to the General Federation. The Legislative work cannot be exactly measured each year; from that of previous years has come aid to the present committee, in the organized work of club women; as in nature and history everything has been evolved from small beginnings and proceeded forward and upward. Our work of the past year representing not emotional excitement but steadfast application, will we hope add to the record already gained. This year's committee includes the chairmen of the following departments: Civics, Civil Service Reform, Conservation, Education, Food Sanitation, Industrial and Social conditions and Public Health; to these were added a vice-president and a member of the Federation board.

When the General Court assembled in January, 43 bills were presented to us which were carefully considered and those hearing most nearly on the work of the Federation were selected, and presented to the executive board for discussion. Seven bills were approved by this board, and at the midwinter meeting they were explained in detail, and receiving the endorsement of the Federation, were commended to the activities of the Clubs. Since which time ours has been a continuous service; letters, hearings, telephone messages and conferences have filled our working hours. The bills selected for this year's work were as follows: The Federal Children's Bureau bill was endorsed heartily. This bill has been before Congress five years being presented by different congressmen, but the intent and wording has been practically the same. It is opposed by Southern mill owners, canners and sweat shop managers, but its passage has been urged by its advocates from all sections. The most recent bill to send a night telegraphic letter to Senator Lodge to urge its passage through the committee, which he accomplished. It then went to the House where it is at present notwithstanding the fact that 450 letters were sent by Massachusetts club women to the Representatives and another night letter was sent to Speaker Cannon, asking its passage before adjournment. He later replied most courteously that there were so many other bills ahead of it that they could not reach it and wittily added that he would use his influence at the adjourned session "if a Cannon out of commission could use ammunition enough to be of any avail."

The next bill was the Weeks or Appalachian Mountain Forest Reserve bill. Realizing that it did not have a hearing in the Senate on Feb. 15th, some amendment might be offered causing it to be laid over, the legislative departments of the individual clubs added their aid and hundreds of letters went to the Senators at Washington urging its passage unamended, which was accomplished on Feb. 15th, was signed by President Taft March 1st and became a law.

Of the bills before the Legislature receiving the endorsement of the Federation, the first was H. 472, that presented by Richard C. Conant of the Child Labor Committee relative to the employment of persons under 21 years of age in the night messenger service between the hours of 10 p. m. and 5 a. m. This bill was opposed by the Superintendents of Messenger Companies, who wished at first to change the age limit to 18. It passed the House and as all the Senators have been interviewed or written to by members of the clubs, and also some constituents. An amendment offered by Senator Blanchard was accepted exempting messengers employed by news papers, and the bill was passed as amended by Senate.

The bill of the Massachusetts Milk Consumers' Association (H. 1332) accompanying the petition of Mrs. William Lowell Putnam, was selected as embodying the best points of all the others. This has had six hearings in joint committees of the House and Agriculture, was eloquently advocated by Mrs. Putnam and able speakers from Health and Hygiene Boards throughout the State. It was strenuously opposed by the Bureau of Agriculture (which also presented a bill), the State Grange, by milk producers and contractors. Mayor Fitzgerald and the State Board of Health have taken the matter up and experts are working for pure milk. We hope later for public hearings and conferences which may lead to a practical solution of the situation.

The next bill is of no less importance in its relation to health, as it regards the question of cold storage, and from four bills presented, the committee selected that which accompanied the petition of Rep. James T. Kenney for a system of record to be established whereby the consumer may know the date upon which the articles were placed in and later removed from cold storage. The wholesale destruction of canned goods, eggs and other articles taken from cold storage by order of the Board of Health at the very season of this agitation presented a stronger argument than words. This bill was opposed by packers, market and cold storage men and still remains in committee. Senator Heyburn has a similar bill before Congress, which was given a spirited hearing May 18th. We await developments with interest. New York and New Jersey have passed even more drastic bills this year.

The Federation voted to oppose several bills, the first being those tending to weaken or annul the bird bill which became a law in 1908 for the preservation of our migratory and game birds. All five of these bills advocating an open season for game birds were defeated.

The Federation also voted to oppose Senate bill 241, giving Spanish War Veterans special favors in rating for certain civil service positions, over all others but Civil War veterans and women. This latter being a sop to women's organizations, but as it could aid but a limited class it did not count. For nine previous years this bill has met us, as "familiarity lends a sort of value to an old coat" so this bill finds adherents in every session, and its fortune or ill fortune has been varied. This year the opposition board itself, so tenacious, so sure of its reason for opposition, that on April 10th the sponsors asked and obtained leave to withdraw the bill from the committee. It was hoped that this "Hardy Annual" had quit our Legislative Hall for all time. But in May 11, Rep. Newton moved that this bill be substituted for the committee report. After heated discussion the motion carried.

Aside from the bills endorsed by the Federation we were asked to help that included in the report of a commission appointed in 1910 for a better system of Factory Inspection. This bill has been most ardently supported by the Chamber of Commerce and allied organizations. Many women attended the protracted hearings, but as the matter had not been presented in season for endorsement at the midwinter meeting, we could not work for it as a Federation. Certain clubs have worked for other state and local laws, as Registration of Births Bar and Bottle, Market and Baking Inspection, Teachers' pensions, Obnoxious Bill Boards, Sealers of Weights and Measures, Tuberculous Hospitals, etc., many learned to climb the State House steps who were never there before.

A Legislative Conference was held in Chauncy Hall Building by courtesy of the New England Woman's Club on February 11th and was largely attended. Each bill endorsed was clearly explained by speakers who knew every point and had worked for the same. Many expressed the opinion that they had gained much by the session. Now, we all realize that it is not every day that we look back and recall all that this department has been able to present to the Clubs of the State, as activities sometimes run along adverse lines, but by the increased attendance at hearings and by the vivid reports carried back to the clubs and the answers to the questions sent out, we feel encouraged, knowing that the interest has increased greatly and a much larger interest can safely be predicted for next year.

In one Club, whose legislative department had striven hard to waken an interest in legislative affairs, a pilgrimage was planned to the State House, eighty members responded on a cold and blustering Saturday. They were escorted over the place by Sergt. Weston, who explained everything in his usual happy, interesting manner. Later they were received by Governor Ross and President Treadway of the Senate, sat in the seats of the Solons and had a delightful experience to remember besides gaining inspiration which marked their subsequent work with added understanding and activity. To other clubs I say, "Go thou and do likewise."

In closing I would suggest that each club subscribe for the Bulletin of Legislative Hearing, that its committee members familiarize itself with the list of bills especially those bearing on pure food and drugs, sanitation, education and all bills referring to the welfare of women and children. When a bill has been assigned for hearings to which your club has pledged its aid, send as many representatives as possible to the State House, write to the Legislators and make clear your interest in the measure. It has been found that some clubs believe that the merits of a bill will secure its passage. Such is not the case; our interest must not flag when a bill becomes a law. We must watch and insist upon its just enforcement. "Constant vigilance" is a good motto.

NELLIE K. RICH,

Chairman

REPORT OF GENERAL FEDERATION SECRETARY.

At the beginning of the club year, October, 1910, there were 82 clubs in Massachusetts holding direct membership in the General Federation. In January 1911 the Quincy Woman's club was admitted. In March the Home Travel club of Framingham was re-admitted, and in May the Woman's club of Brockton and the Swampscott Woman's club sent applications for admission, making a total of 86 clubs. The General Federation Secretary has written to all clubs of 100 members or over, who are not affiliated with the General Federation urging them to join. Will not many of the clubs seriously consider the advisability of such action, not only for what they can get out of it—which is the selfish view—but for the privilege of being a part of so splendid an organization and of giving through the General Federation those blessings we enjoy, to those less fortunate. Is it not our duty and our inestimable privilege to aid in the work of one of the largest organizations working along altruistic lines for the uplift of humanity?

ELIZABETH BOARDMAN DENISON,

daily attendance is higher than ever. In truth, on the first holiday of the season, Decoration Day, May 30th, the turnstiles registered the largest single day's attendance in the history of this picturesque resort on the banks of the beautiful Charles. In the open air theatre coming over the vaudeville program every afternoon and evening will include: The Mimic Four, including Art Brock, Christine Cook, Ed. Groh, and Rose Clementine; The 3 Leightons comedians, singers and dancers, who make a feature of black face minstrelsy and Adair and Dahm, in a sensational double tight wire act. There will, of course, as usual, be a series of new motion pictures.

Following the church observances the party returned to the seminary where reunions were held by members of the classes of 1901, 1906 and 1910. The alumnae held their meeting and at noon dinner was served to all the guests. The seniors then went through the prescribed singing of their class songs, for the last time, in the Crow's Nest.

SAWYER—MORRISON.

The wedding of Miss Cora May Morrison, the niece of Mr. Joseph E. Butler of Washington street, Newtonville, and Mr. Robert Franklin Sawyer of Newton Upper Falls, took place at the home of the bride Thursday evening of last week. Mr. Sedgley A. Morrison of Wollaston was the best man and the maid of honor was Miss Mabelle V. Marston of Newtonville. The bridal gown was of white marquisette and the maid of honor wore white marquisette with Helen pink trimmings. Rev. James W. Campbell performed the ceremony. After a wedding trip to the western part of the state Mr. and Mrs. Sawyer will be at home after August first at 1297 Boylston street, Newton Upper Falls.

MR. ROWE DEAD.

Henry Martin Rowe died at his residence, 361 Commonwealth avenue, Newton Centre, Wednesday morning as the result of an attack of acute indigestion a week ago. He was a native of Maine and about 67 years old. Mr. Rowe moved to Massachusetts nearly two-score years ago and has been in the boot and shoe trade on Kneeland street about 30 years. He became a Mason in Bethlehem lodge, Augusta, in 1877, and after his removal to Boston affiliated with Joseph Webb lodge. In 1882 he was elected its master, and was highly esteemed among the craft.

The funeral will take place this afternoon at 3, under the auspices of Joseph Webb lodge. The master, Robert G. Wilson, will officiate.

—Mr. Henry M. Howard of Fuller street has an article in the last crop report of the State Board of Agriculture on "The Growing and Marketing of Squashes, Melons and Cucumbers."

—All mothers are cordially invited to attend the mothers meeting at 3 o'clock Tuesday to be held by the W. C. T. U. on the lawn of Mrs. S. N. Waters, 1 Webster park. An address will be given by Mrs. Ellen Leland.

—Among the graduates from the Institute of Technology this week, receiving the degree of Bachelor of Science were Mr. Edward C. Tolman, from the electro chemistry department, Mr. John Avery Jr. from the civil engineering department and Mr. Joseph C. Fuller from the mechanical engineering department.

—Two alarms were rung in from box 351 early Thursday morning for a fire in the dry house occupied by William Kellar on Webster street. The flames had a good start when the department arrived and Chief Randlett took no chances and summoned the additional apparatus. The blaze started in the boiler room and the damage is about $3000.

—A serious automobile accident took place last Friday morning at the Putnam street railroad bridge, when the automobile owned by Mr. J. H. Leonard and containing Mrs. Leonard, Mrs. Louis Bell and the chauffeur collided with the machine owned by Mr. E. S. Jones of Waltham street driven by a chauffeur. Both machines were damaged and Mrs. Bell was thrown out receiving some bad cuts on the left side of her face.

—The funeral services of David Seaton, a well known resident of Newton, was held from his sons residence, 12 Dunstan street, West Newton on Wednesday. He was a life member of Nonantum Lodge 116 I. O. O. F., Allston and of the Car Mens Union. Rev. Robert Van Kirk, pastor of the first Baptist church conducted the exercises, assisted by the Odd Fellows ritual. The Millie Beardsley Quartet furnished the music. The floral pieces represented the different fraternal organizations of which the deceased was a member. The pall bearers were his two remaining brothers, A. P. Seaton of Goffstown, N. H., and E. Seaton of Chelmsford, Mass., also H. Merrill of Goffstown, N. H., and G. K. Stacy of West Newton. The interment was at Newton Cemetery. Death was due to a complication of diseases.

—Castle Square Theatre—It was expected that "Little Lord Fauntleroy" would be successful at the Castle Square, but its triumph has far exceeded all anticipation. In consequence Mr. Craig announces that it will be continued for a second week, and that Henrietta McDaniell will repeat her notable performance of the title character. Miss McDaniell's success in this play has been as remarkable as her success as Peter in "The End of the Bridge," and she contributes no small proportion of its triumph. The other leading roles are acted by Mr. Hassell, Mr. Meek, Miss Binley and Miss Colcord.

—Children's Day service will be observed at the Methodist church next Sunday morning, June 11th at 10.30, in stead of in the afternoon as has been the custom formerly. The usual exercises by the Primary and Junior departments will be given, and music by the school and by choir assisted by first and second violin and cornet.

—The morning service of the First Baptist church next Sunday will be devoted to the Children's Day exercises by the Bible School. The program includes exercises by the Kindergarten, Primary, and Junior Departments; the presentation of diplomas and Bibles to the boys and girls graduating from the Primary and Junior Departments; and an address by the Pastor. The musical program is especially attractive. Billed plants will be distributed among the children of the Kindergarten, Primary and Junior Departments.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN

The aldermen held an interesting session on Monday night in which for the first time for many years, the report of a committee was not accepted at its face value and the matter was referred to other committees for further investigation. Some weeks ago, Mayor Hatfield recommended the abolition of the office of Public Buildings Commissioner, the transfer of its principal duties to the City Engineer, the transfer of the care of grounds about public buildings to the Forest Commissioner and the transfer of the care and repairs of school buildings to the school committee. Monday evening, ordinances carrying out the two last propositions were presented, and while that relating to the care of public grounds met smooth sailing, the repairs of school buildings was opposed by Aldermen Cox and Higgins. Mr. Cox did not believe in adding any further powers to the school committee and intimated that that committee did not have any too much business ability anyhow. Mr. Higgins, confused by the school matter with the first recommendation of the mayor and wanted a first class man to be the Public Buildings commissioner. Some question arising as to the transfer of the appropriations to meet the proposed changes, the matter was referred to the committees on Public Works and Finance jointly after a tie vote had defeated such reference and one alderman, who had not voted being subsequently required to declare himself. The vote was 10 to 9 in favor of reference.

All the members were present when President Jones called to order, save Aldermen Barker and Leonard.

Hearings on telephone poles on Bellevue st and for attachments on Suffolk road and of the Edison Co for attachments on Sterling street were postponed, as was the order for concrete sidewalk on Margin st., under the betterment act. Telephone poles on Church street opposite the new Y. M. C. A. building were opposed by Mr. I. B. Harrington and poles on Bennington street were vigorously opposed by Mr. Bruce R. Ware and Mr. E. B. Church, both of whom said that this matter had been up last year and they objected to being obliged to oppose it again. Mr. Howard for the Edison Co stated that no further action was needed on the petition for poles on Forest ave., and the board so voted.

When You Serve

Your summer callers out-of-doors with dainty cakes and cooling drinks, you both have added pleasure if your serving things are themselves attractive.

Our out-of-door serving stands and tables, our trays and light chairs, are selected to suggest refreshment rather than to emphasize the viands.

You can bring them out quickly and without exertion, and just as readily clear them away.

A hearing on concrete sidewalks under the betterment act, on Floral street was postponed for a half hour, and when reopened, the matter was favored by Messrs F. W. Cole, C. B. Lentell and C. H. Clark and opposed by Miss Lane in behalf of Miss Ellen J. Lane.

Recommendations were received from the Mayor approved a request of the Water Commissioner for $15,000 for additional water supply, and favoring an advance of $7500 to the Forestry Department.

The superintendent of schools sent in an analysis of proposed expenses of 1912 and the City Engineer submitted plans for a public convenience station in Nonantum square to cost $2400 for both sexes and $1600 for men alone. The application of the Newton Catholic Club to build a clubhouse on Washington street was granted.

Petitions of I. E. Ericson for transfer of intelligence office license to 275 Washington street and of C. B. Wood to move building on Somerset road were granted. Hearings on June 26 were ordered on petitions to keep gasoline from Mrs. Reginald Gray, Essex road, F. R. Denning, Watertown st., Dr. M. Chirg, Kenwood ave., and the petition of the Middlesex and Boston St. R. Co for pole locations on Commonwealth ave.

Other petitions were received from Martha L. Kieckebush for personal injuries, C. C. Brown objecting to street sprinkling on Centre st., Masten & Wells Co for renewal of permit to manufacture fireworks, Antonio Pignatelli for wagon license, Domenica Furginito for wagon license, Mrs. James Thompson for wagon license, Jeremiah Ford for personal injuries, for street sprinkling on Chestnut st., Dalby st., Highland ave., Austin st., Hyde ave., Alden st. and Old England road, M. E. Thornton for sewer in North st., B. A. Hani for sewer in Circuit ave., N. & W. Gas Light Co to open up Waltham st., Centre pl and Cabot st., Harrison et al to accept Prairie ave., Helen M. Murphy for appointment as weigher of coal, Bartholomew O'Flaherty and 134 others for increase of 25 cents per day in wages of city employees, Mary Costello for Soldiers relief, Randall et al for concrete sidewalks on Pleasant st., under the betterment act, and of L. W. King et al for water mains in Brookline and Oak Hill sts.

On recommendation of committees, licenses were granted Simon Morell for wagon, A. P. Friend and F. W. Brown to keep gasoline, H. H. Keith as weigher of coal, S. A. Corbett as common victualler, M. J. Muehly, liquor transportation permit, W. M. Quinlan, J. H. Green and W. P. Thorn 6th class liquor, the Edison Co granted conduit locations on Commonwealth ave., and pole locations on Hollis and Hammond sts., the Telephone Co granted attachments on Dudley road and Jackson st., hearings ordered on June 26 for sewers off Neholden road and in Waban ave., for concrete sidewalks under betterment act on Prescott st. and Margin st. and on acceptance of Glenmore ter., sewers ordered laid in Boylston road, and Greenough st., concrete sidewalks ordered on Marlboro st., Arlington st. and Margin st., street sprinkling ordered on Prescott st., Boylston st., Perkins st., Austin st., Highland ave., and Old England road. An order authorizing the appointment of a commission to consist of one member of the N. E. Fire Insurance Exchange, one architect, one builder and two others to be appointed by the mayor to revise the building ordinances was adopted. In connection with this order the president suggested that the City Clerk be authorized to have the proposed ordinances printed. This was opposed by Alderman Cox, who thought it a needless expense. He finally concluded to favor 100 copies and when Alderman Calkins favored authority to print not less than 500 copies, there was considerable valueless discussion. After a motion to table had been defeated 500 copies were ordered printed. Leave to withdraw was granted on petitions for sewers off Homer st. for street sprinkling on Waban ave., for liquor transportation permits of Simon Morell and John Muse and of the Edison Co for poles on Forest ave. The junk license of Hyman Melman was ordered revoked. Orders were also adopted for observance of June 17 and July 4th, allowing use of fireworks on July 4 and granting the San Giovanni Society permit to discharge fireworks on June 17th.

The board adjourned at 9.52 until June 26th.

MRS. GORE THE HOSTESS.

In a most unique yet delightful way Miss Juliette V. Richards was the recipient of a surprise party Friday afternoon May 26 at her home, 272 Arcadia street. The real hostess of the occasion was her sister, Mrs. Theodore W. Gore, of Auburndale, Mass., who was over three thousand miles away. She wrote the invitations and sent them to Miss Richards' hosts of friends, who accepted most willingly to be present. Mrs. Grace Foss and Mrs. Savage were the hostesses by proxy and did the honors well. Mrs. Foss received over one hundred visiting cards for Miss Richards' from her eastern friends, wishing her much happiness and sending her friendly remembrances. Those here, not to be outdone, showered the complimented guest with many flowers. Mrs. Foss and Mrs. Savage served at the refreshment table. The decorations were especially beautiful, being the coreopsis and ferns—From the "Pasadena Times."

—Mrs. F. H. Putnam of Upland road spent a few days this week at a house party at Edgartown on Martha's Vineyard.

—Mr. Frank E. Muzzy, of Brookline who has recently purchased three lots of land on Wilde road, will soon occupy his house on Waban avenue.

—Mr. and Mrs. George M. Angier of Pine Ridge road have closed their residence for some weeks. They spent a day or two in Philadelphia and sail tomorrow for England for a month's stay.

—Several of the younger girls are preparing for a sale of candies and fancy articles to be held Saturday afternoon at the residence of Col. C. L. Hovey, Plainfield street, the proceeds to go for the Floating Hospital.

—A bridge party was held on Friday afternoon last at the home of Mrs. L. B. Folsom of Plainfield street under the auspices of the Guild of the Good Shepherd and the very considerable proceeds are to go to the "Mother's Rest."

—The season at the Waban Courts is in full swing and every event giving promise of a most successful year. The first tournament finished last week, the Comulation Doubles, turned out a victory for R. Fred Williams and C. A. Andrews who won in the finals over George Williams and J. W. Bartlett. The meeting had a good sized entry and furnished many close and enjoyable matches. On Saturday the club played an interclub match against the Waldham Tennis Club here defeating the visitors three out of five extremely even matches. Turner in singles, and Robinson and Hill and Blaney and Williams in doubles won their contests, each after three long sets, while Rane and Nichols were defeated also in close contests. Yesterday the club entertained four of Massachusetts leading experts, Beals C. Wright, former National champion and internationalist, and the new State Doubles champion, N. W. Niles State

B. F. Keith's Theatre—Still another sensational novelty is announced for B. F. Keith's Theatre, following "Consult." This time it is nothing short of a most remarkable kangaroo, who puts on the gloves and engages in a boxing contest with two sparring experts. On the same bill will be another star attraction, Eddie Leonard, the famous minstrel man, probably the most initiated entertainer on the stage. Still another big attraction will be Mae Melville & Robert Higgins, "the thin feller who can't stoop," and Miss Melville is one of the funniest character comedienne now before the public. Other features will be Linton & Lawrence in a musical comedy called "The Piano Shop," Arthur Whitelaw, the monologist; Martinetti & Sylvester, knock-about comedians; the Misses Marian Merrill and Louise Hilton in their operatic production, "The Maid of Cinarlar;" the Bert DeVoe Trio of wire walkers; and others yet to be announced.

UTOPIA

To every man of every creed

There comes a sweet Utopian dream;

He sees a land where not a word

May ever grow, where every stream

Where all is fair and life a song.

Where all the blissful year is June.

The nights are robbed of all their gloom;

The sun a genial radiance sheds;

There all things are superbly planned;

The prospects all spread far and fair;

Each man has dreams of such a land

With him enthroned as master there.

—S. C. Kiser, in Chicago Record-Herald.

The city laborers have taken what they conceive to be a psychological time to urge the city government for an increase of daily wages of 25 cents, the action of the Legislature in passing a $2.25 per diem bill over the governor's veto being one of the news features of the day. They evidently forgot, however, that the Newton aldermen are a business, not a political body, and that they will view the matter strictly on its effects on the city, and not on their own political future. It is only recently that the wage rate advanced from $1.75 to $2 per day, and it is possibly a little early to urge a still further increase. I fear that the average city laborer, men who are over 45 or 50 years of age do not fully realize that further wage increases will inevitably lead to the adoption of the contract system of city work, and that in that event, their services will not be utilized as younger and more active
men will be selected by the contractors.
The present system is working fairly well and it is a pretty good plan to "let sleeping dogs lie."

The action of the Middlesex and Boston Street Railway Company, our local street railway corporation in selecting
Mr. Carl A. Sylvester as general manager, to succeed Mr. Brush, a year or so ago, and the recent choice of Mr.
George M. Cox to succeed Mr. Sylvester, is particularly gratifying to those citizens who take a proper pride in the products of our city. Both Mr. Sylvester and Mr. Cox are Newton bred young men and it is highly commendatory of Newton institutions that these young men are chosen for important executive positions. The action of the street railway directors might be followed with profit by other bodies in Newton.

The memorial service for the late Rev.
Dr. Shinn gives fitting recognition to his long and faithful service for the church and humanity in this community.
He was one of the first to urge the founding of the Newton Hospital and was ever a leader in all philanthropic works.

It is with considerable pleasure that I note a movement in the board of aldermen to reduce the water rates in this city. I have said so much on this subject that I had come to the conclusion that it was threadbare and that the people of Newton were wedded to the idol of high prices. The proposed order will benefit all classes of water users with the possible exception of those using the greatest quantities per day. The small users with but one faucet will have a reduction of from $6 to $4.50 per year, the average consumer paying the minimum for meter rate, will drop from $10 to $9 per year and the great bulk of consumers who pay more than $10 by the 1000 gallons will save about 5 cents on each 1000 gallons. The total reductions figured on the amount of water used last year will affect the water revenue about $18000 to $20000 per year and with a water surplus of nearly $30,000 the reduction is fully justified.

INTERESTING EXHIBITION.

The present day interest in methods
of dust laying was strikingly manifested yesterday morning on Commonwealth avenue, West Newton, when an exhibition of the different machines used for spreading the oil was given before members of the Massachusetts Highway Association and their friends. Men were present from all over the state, from New York, Philadelphia and Buffalo.
The party numbered over 100 and as most of them came in automobiles they spread out over a long distance on the avenue. The work began at Auburn street, and Street Commissioner Ross had plenty of sand and workmen enough to cover the oil as fast as it was spread. The city furnished four machines, the Standard Oil Co. four more
and there were three other exhibitors.
Most of the oil was of the 65 per cent
variety but the Standard Oil Co. furnished one much lighter. The north side of Commonwealth avenue was covered as far as Valentine street. This is the first exhibition of these machines in competition and Newton is fortunate in receiving the benefit of the work.

NURSES GRADUATE.
Graduating exercises of the School for Nurses were held yesterday afternoon on the Hospital grounds.
Of 21 graduates, 17 are from the Provinces, one from Maine, one from Vermont and two from Mass. Rachel Finner being a Newton Centre girl. The exercises were enjoyed by a large number of guests. Who were specially interested in an address by Miss Anna
Goodrich, inspector of U. S. Training Schools. After the diplomas and pins had been presented, a very dainty col-ation was served in the beautifully decorated dining room.

The tables were presided over by Mrs. Charles L. Smith of Newton Centre and Miss Lovett of West Newton, assisted by the undergraduate nurses.

NEWTON DEFEATED.

Brookline high defeated Newton high,
7 to 6, in an 11-inning game in the Preparatory league series at the National league grounds Boston, Wednesday afternoon.

Bob Spalding was in the box for Newton high and he was touched up for 13 hits, while Harry Denning, the Brookline boy, held Newton down to nine safeties, including a triple. Spalding gave seven bases on balls and Denning five.

William Walizer, the Brookline high center fielder, prevented Newton from winning the game in the 10th inning, getting a running catch off Terrio's bat over second base which looked good to land safe.

The hitting of Anderson, Walizer,
Capt Kelley and Morse was a feature for Brookline high, while the work of Frank Fripp, Henry Nash and Sanderson was best for Newton.

For six innings the teams were tied at two runs each. In the first of the seventh, Hyatt of Newton drew a pass
and moved to third on Fripp's scratch hit which Brookline's first and second basemen allowed to get away from them. Nash hit a high fly to Walizer and Hyatt scored. Fripp stole second and scored a moment later on Brooks' single. The latter was caught at second on Walizer's throw to the plate, relayed
by Anderson to Thielscher. Sanderson closed the inning, flying out to Walizer.

In the last of the eighth Brookline evened up the score. Morse flied out to Nash. Taggart singled and Thielscher also. Kerr flied out to Nash for the second out. Denning singled, scoring Taggart and Thielscher. Walizer hit a grounder to Tapley who fumbled it, allowing Denning to score, and Brookline was one run to the good.

Newton tied the score in the first of the ninth after one was out. Fripp was given a free ticket to first and stole second and third. He scored on Taggart's error of Kerr's good throw to catch Nash at first. Brooks and Sanderson proved easy outs.

In the first of the 11th, Hyatt for Newton singled to center field. Fripp struck out. Hyatt was forced at second on Nash's fielder's choice. Nash stole second. Brooks was passed. Sanderson then made his first hit of the game, scoring Nash.

For Brookline, in the last half of the 11th, Walizer opened up with a double to left field, and on McGuire's hit, which Hyatt fumbled, went to third. Anderson worked the squeeze play, Walizer scoring. Kelley was passed, and after two attempts to score McGuire, on another squeeze play, Morse singled, sending across the winning run.

Brookline by defeating Cambridge
Latin this afternoon will tie Newton
for the championship of the league.

MAN HURT.

Another serious automobile accident took place, Wednesday night when the car collided with a loaded coal wagon
on the Commonwealth avenue boulevard
near Manet road Chestnut Hill.

Frank J. Quinn of Rutland, Vt., was thrown into the highway with such force that his skull was fractured. He was rushed to the Newton hospital.

His brother, John Quinn, manager of the hotel Essex, Boston, who owned the automobile, and whom he was visiting, was thrown with great force onto the hard macadam roadway, but escaped with only a severe shaking up and comparatively minor cuts and bruises.
Frank J. Quinn was visiting his brother for a few days and they left Boston in John Quinn's automobile for a spin over the Commonwealth avenue boulevard. As the automobile was proceeding westerly in the direction of Newton Centre it overtook a loaded coal wagon owned by the Cousins coal company and driven by Patrick McDonough of South Boston.

In attempting to pass the wagon, it is believed, the automobile was not turned out of its path a sufficient distance, and one of the wheels struck
the rear end of the coal wagon.

RECEIVE DEGREES.

In the Newton Centre Baptist church
yesterday morning the graduating exercises of the Newton Theological Institution were held, a class of twenty-four seniors receiving the degree of bachelor of divinity, while two others were awarded the degree of master of theology.
The exercises were attended by many guests, including a large number of alumni.

Following a prayer by Rev. Maurice
A. Levy, pastor of the church, there was music by Miss Harriet A. Shaw, harpist, and John Hermann Loud at the organ.
Rev. George E. Horr, D. D., president of the Institution, presented the diplomas and conferred the degrees, and the address to the graduating class was made by Prof. Frederick L. Anderson D.
D. The program included addresses by seniors, as follows: "A New Type of Christianity," Wesley H. Desjardins;
"Christianity as a Motive Power in the Modern World," Miles F. McCutcheon;
"The Prophet and the Church," John W. Milton; "Is There a Different Moral Standard for Minister and Layman?" Albert C. Thomas; "Is the Gospel of Christ a Programme of Social Reform?"
Walter E. Woodbury.

POLICE NOTES.

In the police court Monday morning,
before Judge Kennedy, Charles D. Williams and Walter Cooper, both colored, arrested Saturday evening on a charge of holding up several employees of the Brue-Horn club, and assaulting them,
Judge Kennedy imposed a fine of $10
for disturbance and $50 and two months in the house of correction for carrying a loaded revolver on Williams, which he had in his possession when searched at headquarters. Cooper was fined $5 for disturbance. Williams claimed an alibi, saying that he was not in the city
when the assault took place. The judge, however, did not agree with him and imposed the fine and sentence.

NEWTON BOAT CLUB.

The first of a series of promenade concerts given by the Newton boat club
last Saturday evening was a source of enjoyment to a large number. The river in front of the club was fairly covered with canoeists, who greatly enjoyed the concert by the orchestra. Dancing was enjoyed in the hall by a large number until 10.30. Another concert will be given tomorrow night.

LUCAS—McCAMPBELL.

The wedding of Miss Meriwether McC Campbell, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. George M. McC Campbell of Forest avenue, Avalon, Pennsylvania, and Mr.
Ralph W. Lucas of Boston, Mass., was a quiet event of Saturday evening June 3rd at the home of the bride. The cermony was performed at 6.30 o'clock by Dr. McC Campbell the father of the bride.
There were no attendants, and only the immediate relatives were present. The bride's gown was of cloth made from the Peña Palm, which was sent from Manila to the bride. It was trimmed with lace made by the girls in the Presbyterian mission in Constantinople. Her veil was held with lilacs of the valley and she carried a shower bouquet of the same flowers. The house was simply decorated with garden flowers, pink roses and peonies with foliage being used. Mr. and Mrs. Lucas will spend the summer in Cedar Grove Camp, Staten Island, N. Y. In the fall they will reside in New York.

ly filled with relatives and friends. The ceremony was performed at eight o'clock by Rev. Julian C. Jaynes, pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. John Snyder, father of the groom. The bride, who wore a gown of white satin with a tulle veil caught with orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of white sweet peas and lilies of the valley was given in marriage by her father, Mrs.
F. Spencer Arnd of Newtonville in white embroidered batiste, and carrying pink roses was the matron of honor and the bridesmaids gowned in white embroidered batiste over blue and carrying pink sweet peas were Miss Eleanor
F. Pratt, Miss Margaret M. Merchant,
Miss Florence Newell, Miss Mary H.
Whitmore and Miss Rachel Whidden of West Newton, and Miss Bertha N.
Whitney of Newtonville. Mr. Thomas
K. Snyder of Boston was the best man and the guests were seated by these ushers, Messrs John Avery Jr., Ellery
Peabody Jr., Joseph C. Fuller, Robert
A. Whidden of West Newton, Allen L.
Snyder of Boston and F. Spencer Ar-nd of Newtonville.

A small reception was held immediately after the ceremony at the Peabody residence on Perkins street. Mr.
and Mrs. Snyder being assisted in receiving their friends by Mr. and Mrs.
Peabody and Rev. and Mrs. John Synder.

Mr. and Mrs. Snyder will make their home in Seattle, Wash., where the groom, who is a graduate of Cornell is engaged in business with Stone and Webster.

HEARING

To the Honorable Board of Aldermen
of the City of Newton:

The Middlesex & Boston Street Railway Company respectfully represents that public convenience and necessity require a location for four (4) poles on Commonwealth Avenue Reservation near Lake Street, Newton, in accordance with plan marked: "Middlesex & Boston St. Ry. Co. Plan showing New Location of Poles on Commonwealth Avenue Reservation near Lake Street, Newton, Mass. Scale 1"=10'. May 5, 1911.
F. E. F." a copy of which is herewith filed.

Your petitioner, therefore, respectfully requests that your Honorable Board will grant it the above location;
also the right to erect such poles and place upon them such overhead wires
and other devices as may be necessary for the operation of its railway by the Overhead Single Trolley System.

Respectfully submitted,
Middlesex & Boston St. Ry. Co.

By C. A. SYLVESTER,
General Manager.

In Board of Aldermen, June 5, 1911

Upon the foregoing petition it is ordered by the Board of Aldermen of the thereon on Monday, the 26 day of June 1911, at 7:45 o'clock p. m., before said Board in the City Hall, in that part of said Newton called West Newton, and that notice of the time and place of such hearing be given by publication of the foregoing petition and this order thereon fourteen days at least before the day of said hearing in the following newspaper published in said City of Newton: Newton Graphic.

By order of the Board,

FRANK M. GRANT, Clerk.

PROBATE COURT.
To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, creditors, and all other persons interested in the estate of Lydia Ann Wales late of Newton in said County, deceased, Intestate.

WHEREAS a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased to Wallace Wales of Newton in the County of Middlesex, without giving a surety on his bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex,
on the twenty eighth day of June A. D.
1911, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And the petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week
for three successive weeks, in the Newton Graphic a newspaper published in Newton the last publication to be on one day, at least, before said Court.

PUDDINGSTONE CLUB

The Puddingstone Club of Boston, composed of some of the leading men of this vicinity in medicine, education, the pulpit and the bar, all bound together in the cement of good nature and good fellowship were the guests of Mr. George H. Ellis last Saturday in his "cow-yard stadium" at Wauwino Farm, West Newton. It was the annual June outing of the club and dignity was laid one side and each endeavored to outdo the other in wit and raillery.

The club met in the grove near Mr. Ellis' residence and one of the best jokes of the day was the fact that neighbors seeing the caterer's wagon, and the canvas sides to the dressing tent, promptly drew the conclusion that gypsies were making an unauthorized camping place and sent in a hurry call for the police, to which the chief and the patrol wagon immediately responded.

In the morning there was an African? dodger, who shall be nameless, and whose efforts to evade the tennis balls were greeted with enthusiasm. A well known clergyman of Boston, attired in tall hat and yellow waistcoat amused the crowd as a circus "barker" and rung in patent medicine gags on his fellow members.

The best act of the day took place just before lunch when two respected gentlemen entered the ring for a prize fight. Each was in regulation boxing costume, with calves, forearms and chests greatly inflated and stuffed with cotton batting. The boxing gloves were as large as possible and the three rounds preceded with a fake moving picture apparatus, were screamingly funny, particularly if one realized the real characters of the participants. The editor of the Binghamville Bugle acted as one of the seconds and threw water promiscuously among the crowd while swabbing off and fanning his principal. At intervals the fighters turned to the referee and the fake police officers and drove them from the ring, while the policeman retaliated by smashing his stuffed club over their heads. Suffice it to say that three rounds were enough for anyone to witness as everyone was completely tired from laughing.

After lunch the program included one or two stump speeches, a real song or two, an alleged band, headed by one of the well known musicians of Boston, which performed on mouth organs, and of which Mr. Ellis' little grandson with a tin horn, was a prominent member. In addition there was some clever ledger-dance, an excellent "bear" trick, without the bear, and one of Boston's best artists made a capital oil picture in 20 minutes. Newton Centre's best known artist followed with a 12 minute picture made with "pure food" paints, and amused the crowd by eating up what paints he had left.

All in all it was a most interesting day, and when the fun was over each and all put on their everyday faces and returned home refreshed in body and mind.

MRS. SPAULDING DEAD.

Mrs. Octavia Spaulding, widow of the late George L. Spaulding of Boston died on Tuesday evening in the 82nd year of her age at the home of her son Rev. Charles E. Spaulding, of Central street, Auburndale. Funeral services were held this morning at 11 a. m. in the Centenary church, Rev. Dr. Geo. S. Chadbourne of Melrose officiating with prayer (private) at the house by Rev. C. H. Stackpole.

The burial was in the family lot in Lowell, Rev. Dr. W. A. Wood officiating.

Mrs. Spaulding is survived by two sons, Rev. C. E. Spaulding of Auburndale and Mr. J. Harry Spaulding of Brighton.

WINS AGAIN.

The Cambridge Latin school nine was beaten Friday afternoon by the Newton high school team in the Preparatory league series for the second time this season, by 10 to 9, the game being played on Claflin field. The Cambridge schoolboys came very near tying the score in the final inning, falling only one run short.

Fripp opened the game with a slashing triple over the leftfielder's head. Nash followed with a single, scoring Fripp, and then stole second. Brooks fled to Powers and Sanderson singled, scoring Nash, and Beal also hit for one base. Sanderson was put out at third, but a double by Rice scored Beal. Tapley ended the inning by flying out to Glennon.

The visitors scored one run in the following inning and got two more in the third on clean hitting. Newton also scored once in the second and made three more runs in the fifth on passes to Sanderson and Beal, a double by Rice and a single by Tapley.

Corcoran opened the sixth inning for Cambridge with a single, being followed by Greene with a double. Powers was passed and Mann fled to Rice, who threw wide to Sanderson, Corcoran and Greene scoring. The visitors scored two more runs in the seventh inning. Newton scored once in the seventh and also in the eighth on a triple by Fripp and Nash's single. The home team's final run came in the ninth on singles by Beal, Terrio and Tapley.

Wilnot Whitney pulled himself out of a hole in the last half of the ninth, when the visitors scored two runs. With two out, Hovey doubled and Whitney purposely passed Volk. Corcoran reached first on Beal's error and Greene scored Hovey and Volk with a two-bagger. But Engerton batted for Powers and fled to Tapley for the third out.

Both pitchers were hit hard, the winners connecting for 16 hits and the losers making 10. Fripp, Nash, Beal and Tapley of Newton each made three hits. Tapley played a brilliant game at short.

THE MISSES ALLEN SCHOOL.

The Misses Allen closed their school with most appropriate exercises Monday. Rev. Charles F. Dole, president of the Twentieth Century Club of Boston, addressed the graduating class. Mr. Barth of the Symphony Orchestra played on the cello, the young ladies sang and Miss Lucy Allen gave an account of the successes of the past year's school. A reception followed at which over one hundred and fifty were present.

The musicale and operetta, Saturday night in Players hall was attended by over two hundred. The young ladies sang and played effectively and dancing was enjoyed later.

A suggestion for Wedding and Anniversary Gifts is a beautiful Electric or Gas Table Lamp, a Pair of Andirons, or a Fire Set, from a selection the largest in the country, as shown by McKenney & Waterbury Co., 181 Franklin St., corner Congress.

Boston Theatre—Two special performances will be given at the Boston on Saturday afternoon and evening, June 10, by Mme. Sarah Bernhardt and her company. On Saturday afternoon "Sister Beatrice," by Maurice Maeterlinck will be presented together with "Jean Marie" a moving one act drama by Andre Theuriot: Saturday evening Mme. Bernhardt will give the ever popular "Madame X," by Alexander Bisson. "Jean Marie" presents with striking simplicity a tremendous and tragic situation in the lives of three good people. Therese is married to Joel, a kind old man who has befriended her selfish and her mother in their hour of need. She admires and respects him, but her heart is with the sailor lover who is supposed to have perished in shipwreck. To overcome her melancholy they are about to move to the country, way from the ships and fisher folk that are such a constant reminder of the past. Jean Marie returns full of happiness and expectancy. His discovery of Therese's marriage, his pleading for their love, and her final determination that they must part forever is touching in the extreme. "Sister Beatrice," Maeterlinck's miracle play in three acts portrays the sad story of the frail nun whose pure love for Prince Belidor causes her to desert the convent for a life which proves to be filled with deception and vice.

It is most advantageous to list one's requirements with a reliable real estate broker, the obvious reasons are: In a reliable, up to date real estate office great numbers and varieties of properties are listed at all times, and clerks are paid to keep people posted on whatever properties that seem to be what a client would consider. Another advantage of the agent is that many people will list highly desirable properties with a real estate broker when they would not let it be generally known that they were desirous of selling. My lists are at the service of the buyer.

MEMORIAL SERVICE

at, to use the Southern expression, he resolves to remain outside.

Soon young Shinn became a member of the Bible class, and within a year he was a candidate for confirmation.

He thought he had found in the Episcopal Church the qualifications his nature craved; the Quaker consciousness of the "Higher Law," the indwelling illuminating Spirit; the fervor of soul too often suppressed in some denominations and not too often outspoken even in the Methodist worship; and now, in the Episcopal service, in a higher degree than elsewhere, as it seemed to him, the decorum, the grace and dignity which his fastidious soul demanded; triple excellences combined, illumined conscience, glowing spirituality, and the "beauty of holiness."

Yet this Emmanuel Church of Philadelphia had been what would now be called the lowest of the low. The congregation was made up largely of Orangemen from the north of Ireland. The good sexton believed the Church of Rome to be the "Scarlet Woman" of the seventeenth of Revelations! The ancient and sublime "Te Deum Laudamus" (We Praise Thee, O God) savored too much of Roman Catholicism; it must not be sung in Emmanuel Church! No flowers on the communion table! In the prayers the congregation must kneel toward the altar, but face the rear and how to the seats on which they sat! Sir John Bowring's magnificent hymn, "In the cross of Christ I glory," might he sung, but no cross, much less a crucifix, even in a picture, must be conspicuous in the church. Once a party of devout young burglars in an excess of pious piety run mad, broke into the building, and with jack-knives made havoc of a gilded cross on the front of the pulpit, a pulpit which had been elaborately designed by Bishop Hopkins.

Yet with all this narrowness, there were admirable features in Emmanuel Church: unquestionable sincerity, heartiness in the responses, missionary zeal, loyalty to ideals. The Sunday School numbered hundreds and sometimes held two sessions.

Confirmation day came. The sermon was preached by Rev. Mr. Dalrymple from the text, "Speak to the children of Israel that they go forward." The rite was administered by Bishop Alonzo Potter, father of the late Bishop Henry C. Potter.

Here is a turning point in young Shinn's career. His general philanthropy is specialized, and a strong sense of duty takes possession of him. He feels, like St. Paul, "Necessity is laid upon me; yea, woe is unto me, if I preach not the gospel."

But how to get the education deemed necessary to prepare him for the ministry? Neither he nor any of his friends had the pecuniary means. He consulted his rector, Rev. Mr. Maxwell. He advised him to continue in the service of Dr. Vaughan, save up what money he could, meanwhile utilizing every opportunity for intellectual and spiritual improvement.

So he continued with Vaughan. The company he met there was excellent. The business afforded him frequent pleasure in relieving pain. Hard work by day, reading at night, not very systematic, but all tending to qualify him for the ministry, was the routine. Besides he was able to make some contribution to the support of his mother.

Soon after confirmation he became librarian of the Sunday School. Always a lover of books, this position was helpful. Later he became a teacher there. Nothing else so clarifies the vision as teaching; it insures clearness of expression by voice and pen.

He threw himself into other active work. One of the most helpful agencies, to him and others, was a literary society in the parish. It was composed of young enthusiasts, not deep in literature, but eager for self-improvement. Essays, discussions, readings, declamations, with occasional recreation and fun, made the meetings pleasant and profitable. In this club he was a leading spirit. He was its secretary. He edited its manuscript newspaper. He read this to the club every month, and often wrote all the articles. To this incessant practice of composition, he in after years attributed his ease in expression. Singularly enough, this literary society was looked upon with disfavor by the rector, the church officers, and the leading parishioners; but when the terrible depression in business came all over the land in 1857, and multitudes of the poor of Philadelphia were in distress, this literary society took the lead in relief work in the northern suburbs. It raised and distributed thousands of dollars established store houses, instituted systematic visitation among the needy. Here again young Shinn, eighteen years of age, was in his element, his favorite occupation, his chief joy. He became the Secretary of the Kensington Relief Society, and many hundreds of sufferers were thankful for his beneficence.

But the question was still urgent. Where shall he go and finish his preparation for holy orders?

He decided to enter the preparatory department of the Virginia Theological Seminary. Episcopal Divinity Schools were scarce in those days. There were but four in all the United States; one in Connecticut, one in New York, one in Ohio, and one in Virginia. That in Virginia was the only one which had a preparatory department. It was about three miles from Alexandria a city at that time of 13,000 inhabitants. The institution had an excellent reputation. Young Shinn entered it in 1859. He was a student there about two years. He roomed at first in the building that stood in a grove and was called "St. John's Hall in the Wilderness."

He studied hard, accomplishing in two years what ordinarily requires four. At the close of his first year he wished to enter the University of Virginia and pursue a regular college course. It was impracticable, if for no other reason, on account of finances. Remaining, he came under the influence of Phillips Brooks, an advantage as great perhaps as anything a university could give. Brooks had graduated at Harvard in 1855. He had taught, or tried to teach a year in the Boston Latin School. In November 1856, he had entered the Virginia Theological Seminary as a student. In 1858 he wished to be assistant librarian there, but that post was given to another. He now became principal of the preparatory department of the Seminary. He taught the preparatory students Latin and Greek three hours a day. It makes us smile to think that Phillips Brooks's salary was $300 a year with board reckoned at $100!

The Seminary was not prosperous financially. The students had no luxuries, few conveniences. Most of them took care of their own rooms, swept them, made their own beds, saved their wood, built their own fires, lugged water, lived plainly but healthfully. The preparatory department under such a teacher as Phillips Brooks was better than most colleges; yet Dr. Shinn never ceased to regret that he never had a university education.

He, perhaps, overestimated its value. The best education, the only education, at college or anywhere else, is self-education. Many a high school, many a college, many a monophyll college as a university. "Many a university," so-called, answers Dean Swift's description of one; "It must be a learned place; for every student carries some learning there, and no one ever brings any away." Shakespeare, Washington, Lincoln, Franklin, Irving—these were not college men.

Yet young Shinn was happy from first to last at this preparatory school. He grew more fond of it the longer he stayed. He declares, "The whole tone of the institution, the beautiful country, the delightful hospitality, all made my life there very attractive." The buildings were on high ground, commanding at some points fine views of the Potomac. Among the pleasures were opportunities to visit occasionally Washington, Mount Vernon, and other historic spots.

But he never forgot that he must be "about his business." "Do all the good you can," was the frequent parting injunction of the best man I ever knew. This was Shinn's aim in youth, manhood, and age, the key to all his movements, the spur to all his activities. On Sunday afternoons, for some months, he walked regularly to the City Almshouse in Alexandria, and there sought in every possible way to cheer the forlorn inmates. In the Old Falls Church, several miles beyond the Seminary, he was glad to serve as Lay Reader. Saturday afternoons he would stroll up there, spend the evening visiting the people, Sunday morning hold Sunday School, and assist in the services. A project was formed of starting a new church still further out in the country, and calling him to be its rector. But he was not ready for that.

In the Seminary were three teachers of local eminence, Drs. Sparrow, Gray and Packard. A strong friendship grew up between him and Gray and Brooks. Brooks was ordained Deacon there in June, 1859, by Bishop Meade. It is noted as a singular coincidence that these three men, Brooks, Gray, and Shinn, thus brought together in the Seminary, had in after years contiguous fields of labor, Boston, Cambridge, and Newton.

On the twelfth day of April, 1861, civil war blazed forth in the attack on Fort Sumter. Five days later the State of Virginia passed the ordinance of secession. The students returned North and South to their homes.

Bishop Alonzo Potter had long cherished a desire to establish a Theological Seminary in Philadelphia. The time seemed auspicious. He founded the Philadelphia Divinity School. Mr. Shinn, then twenty-one years of age, became one of the earliest students, continuing in it about two years. The Divinity School had no buildings. For lecture rooms they used the basement of St. Andrews Church, the Episcopal Academy, and the Episcopal Reading Room. It had no library, but the great Philadelphia Library, founded by Franklin in 1731, and numerous other collections, furnished abundant facilities for reading and study.

The system was like that of the German universities. Lectures with collateral reading, a thorough, severe, almost painful drill. Few students were ever subjected to harder tasks. "It seemed," says Dr. Shinn, "as if we were being experimented upon, to see how much we could stand."

In November, 1862, he was ordained Deacon in St. Paul's Church, Philadelphia, his connection with the Divinity School still continuing. The special duty now assigned him was in the Sunday School, with parochial work among the families represented. In the summer he had found employment as lay reader at Mount Hope, Lancaster County, some ten miles Southwest from Reading. About eighty miles westerly from Philadelphia. War was raging. Like most Northern young men he was tempted to enlist in the Union Army. But the advice of Bishop Potter, if not his inherited Quaker sentiments, dissuaded him. He was illegally drafted as a conscript by the Mount Hope authorities as if he were a resident there. Friends sought to procure his appointment as Chaplain of the Philadelphia city troop then serving in Tennessee. He was released from military duty, and the effort to make him chaplain ceased.

On the first, second, and third of July, 1863, the battles of Gettysburg were fought. He was immediately sent with barrels, boxes, medical and surgical supplies for the 20,000 sick and wounded of the Union and Confederate armies in the hospitals. Here once more he was in his element. The skill acquired in his years of service in Vaughan's drug store proved a blessing to many.

In the fall of 1863, he was fortunate in his marriage to Elizabeth Mills. Her parents were Presbyterians of Scotch Irish descent. They had lived in the north of Ireland. She had been an accomplished and successful teacher in public schools of Philadelphia, and was able and willing to aid him effectively in his contemplated work.

He was ordained priest in the Old St. Paul's Church. His philanthropic spirit had already formed for itself an ideal of a parish that he should prefer above every other. It should be among the poor. Especially did he desire that it should be on the edge of a great city, from whose resources he might draw a thousand materials to build up a spiritual temple among the lowly. He took no thought for salary. He wished to live among the hard working, simple-minded, neglected, plain people, to lift them to a higher level, to feed them with the bread of life. The particular means should be an "institutional Church."

The Y. M. C. A.'s had started in England a score of years before, but had hardly been heard of in America. College settlements, Societies of Christian Endeavor, Young Peoples' Unions, St. Andrews Brotherhoods, Young Men's Institutes, Church Clubs, were for the most part, yet unknown.

He became Assistant Minister in Old St. Paul's. It was a hard neighborhood; all the better therefore for him! Near by, loomed or skulked liquor saloons, which he had good reason to hate. In the vicinity were noisy and unsightly, unsightly dumping grounds, spaces sorely in want of physical, intellectual, and moral regeneration, a population much needing to be uplifted.

Amid such surroundings, not far from the Church, he chose a residence. It would have been unendurable, but for the fact that among the parishioners were some really delightful people.

But what he sought was not an established parish, but a new one, a mission less than a year he was called to the rectorship of such, the Church of Our Savior, corner of Eighth and Reid streets. It was an extremely poor though populous district in the edge of the great city. Here he might labor among the lowly, and hope to see daily the fruits of his toil and self-sacrifice.

But the location proved unhealthful. He was soon obliged to remove to a better environment, the corner of North and Fourth streets. Here his eldest son George and daughter Lizzie were born.

His labors were now crowned with success. In two and a half years he had gathered a large congregation with one hundred and fifty communicants, and with three hundred children in the Sunday School. He had hoped to find here a permanent home; but in mid-winter a complete break-down in health impeded, and his physician peremptorily ordered him away to mountain regions of pure air.

It was painful to leave a field so fruitful, and many people who had learned to love him; but there seemed no alternative.

There was an opening at Shamokin, a town then of 4,000, now of 20,000 population, near the centre of the mining region. The outlook was unpromising, but his success in Philadelphia made him more zealous than ever. "I played in," he says, "and started to build a church and gather a congregation. But a great storm blew down the building when nearly finished." Out of the wreck he built a small chapel, Trinity Chapel they called it. Thither the family moved from Philadelphia. Here Lizzie was baptized by Bishop Vail, May 11, 1866. His zeal continued. He often held services in neighboring missions. His efforts were not unrewarded. A handsome stone church now adorns Trinity Parish, Shamokin.

But the region was intellectually dark and dreary. How different from grand Philadelphia! No good schools, no library, no literary societies, no social advantages, no historic associations. To im-spiring memories, no Phillips Brooks!

A good place to come from and stay away; none better; no place for a wife in frail health, and with young children. Duty to his family said, "Quit Shamokin!" To them it was an unspeakable relief to remove to fair Lock Haven. This was a lumber town of about five thousand people, some seventy miles northwesterly from Harrisburg. They lived a year in a pretty rented cottage, half a mile from the stone church, till the parish built for them a commodious rectory.

From first to last the missionary spirit dominated him unabated. It stretched out a hand to the colored people there, among whom he labored successfully. Deeply interested in public schools, to which he owed so much, and whose vital importance had constantly been discussed in his hearing at Vaughan's, he assisted actively in organizing the State Normal School at Lock Haven. A good Normal School is more important than even a good college. Well were it if all college and university professors were made to take a course in didactics at first-class normal school, or at least under a live magnetic instructor who should show them how to teach and how not to teach, and should impart contagious enthusiasm. It was my good fortune some years later to deliver courses of lectures in that normal school building and to observe in that intelligent community some of the results of Mr. Shinn's wisdom and enterprise.

He was not satisfied with the mere establishment of the Normal School. He formed in his parish a class in literature. Literature seemed to him the long sought fountain of perpetual youth. Books were to him the most precious heritage of all past ages, the most indestructible of riches. He saw that all visible wealth passes away, the products of fine or of arts, paintings, carvings, palaces, pyramids; and soon the treasures of nature, flowers and fruits, the precious stones of mine and mountain—all these, burn, decay, crumble, vanish; but forma mentis aeterna, the impress of intellect is everlasting; the human mind in its garment of poetry or prose, its Bibles, Vedas, Korans, Zend avestas, lasts forever. Not that every book had been dipped in immortalizing Castalia, not that every author has drunk the elixir. "Southey's Thalaba," said Porson, "will be read when Homer and Virgil are forgotten; but not till then!"

Such considerations moved Mr. Shinn to found the free public library of Lock Haven. The people recognized their benefactor and made him its first president. We who live in the shadow of the noble public library of Newton, established a year or two later, and who honor I. Wiley Edmunds, George H. Jones, J. S. Farlow, and their co-workers here, for their labors and liberality, can appreciate the indebtedness of Lock Haven to Mr. Shinn. From many conversations with him I know his enthusiasm on the subject of books and libraries. It would be hard to overestimate his sense of their value.

Every beneficiary of such a library every one of a thousand or a hundred thousand readers, he thought, has been given a life ownership of a thousand or a million dollars' worth of books, but that this was the least of such benefactions. The mystic element in his nature had here full scope and play. He felt that choicer treasures are here, finer gold, brighter diamonds, more precious jewels, than were ever fabled to have been scattered in El Dorado, or stored by kindly deities in some palace of Alcinoos, or heaped by the hands of obedient geni in some Aladdin's enchanted hall. His dreams were true. What books are here! No "Open Sesame," nor magic eye salve, nor Arabian seal "graven with the great name of Solomon," ever possessed, even in fable half their real talismanic power. As we read, we lose ourselves in reverie; the walls vanish, the horizon recedes, the ceiling lifts, the roof expands, rounds into a dome, is lost in the infinite blue; the great and good are again living, toiling, battling, triumphing, transfigured, luminous with the gleam, the light that never was on sea or land!

But the four years life at Lock Haven, delightful as it was, was not that which he had forecast as best. His health was now restored. He longed to fulfill his favorite plan. Once more he will endeavor to build up a parish among the poor within the precincts or on the border of a great or growing city. A call is extended to him to take charge of Saint Luke's in Troy, New York, then a city of 45,000, now 75,000 inhabitants. It was in the iron-working district. It was the worst place he had ever been in; that is to say, the best for his purpose! It was among the blast-furnace volcanoes and noisy rolling mills, was dark with perpetual smoke, and filled with soot and grime.

The people were poor, largely through their own fault. Drinking saloons abounded, flourishing amid the degradation they spread, illustrating the property of alcohol to kill everything alive, and preserve everything dead.

Altogether it might have been an ideal place for a young clergyman, if unmarried, willing to "toil terribly," die young, and have his name enrolled in "The Noble Army of Martyrs"; but no home for a husband and wife, neither of whom had an iron constitution, yet with four or five young children to rear and educate.

The consummate worldly wisdom of the Roman Church in ordaining the celibacy of the clergy, and their consequent freedom from family cares and incumbrances; the almost equally wise system of itinerancy of the clergy among the Methodists, insuring a proper parish for every minister and a fitting minister for every parish; avoids such difficulties.

Earnestly, even heroically, Mr. Shinn strove to better these conditions, and he did make great progress in overcoming the obstacles. As the public schools seemed inferior, and there seemed to be danger of physical and moral infection from contact, he started a parish school for his own children and some of his neighbors. Mrs. Shinn was a trained and skilful teacher, and she shared her husband's zeal. The rector of Calvary Church, Summit, N. J., Rev. Walker Gwynne, who knew them in Troy, writes me,—"The industry and devotion which Mr. Shinn showed there, was characteristic of all his life. Mrs. Shinn also was a marvel. With five young children, yet she taught the parish school daily. I don't think she had a regular servant, and how she and her husband accomplished all, is a mystery!"

The school prospered. It finally numbered one hundred and twenty-four pupils. This excellent work led to an urgent call to a wider field in the same city. He accepted the post of assistant minister of St. Paul's Parish and Head Master of Saint Paul's School. Not content with this double duty, he originated and edited the missionary paper of the Diocese of Albany.

But a due regard for his own health and that of Mrs. Shinn, and for the welfare of his children, continually appealed to him with increasing urgency to give up his cherished plan now attempted for the third time, the project which had brought him first to the unhealthy district of the mission in Philadelphia, next to Trinity Church in the black region of Shamokin, and last to the fuliginous gloom of Saint Luke's in Troy. The scheme of living among low down and poverty-stricken toilers in the neighborhood of a great or growing city, gathering them into a church, and lifting them by every possible means to a higher and nobler life, this design he sadly abandoned. Even so late as a year ago he spoke sorrowfully of the hard necessity which forced him to relinquish that cherished purpose. The general plan of faithful ministry remained, but the specific direction of effort had to be changed.

DR. SHINN'S MEMORIAL

Near the end of 1874 he received the call to Grace Church, Newton. On the first of January, 1875, he entered upon his duties here. Some of his family being ill, they remained in Troy while he was looking for a suitable residence.

He was at first the guest of the distinguished patriot, General Underwood. He then rented a house on Church street, fronting Farlow Park. His family came in February. In the spring the cellar had five feet of water. They remained in that house three years. In November 1876, his daughter, Elsie died. The vestry of Grace Church bought for him a burial lot in the quiet churchyard at St. Mary's, Newton Lower Falls. There, father, mother, one son, and two daughters now sleep.

There were two Episcopal churches then in Newton: St. Mary's at Lower Falls, founded in 1812, and Grace Church, organized in 1855; also one mission parish, very feeble, in West Newton. Now there are eight, self-supporting, and Newton has the reputation of being in proportion the strongest Episcopal centre in the United States.

His reputation preceded him. In the following year he was elected one of the city school committee. He held this office by successive elections, till 1889, thirteen years. In it, as in every post of duty, he was active and useful.

For many years he was one of the Board of Visitors of Wellesley College. At a great sacrifice of personal ease and of home comforts, denying themselves luxuries, he and Mrs. Shinn, gave their children the best possible education in school and college, and saved up a fund for the education of their grandchildren.

Never a gymnast nor an athlete, he nevertheless appreciated the great value of physical exercise and out-of-door play.

In March, 1873, twenty months before Newton became a city, a town committee of which Hon. J. S. Farlow was chairman made a report to the town meeting, recommending that one or more suitable lots in each of the Newton villages should be secured for play-grounds. Farlow Park, from Church to Vernon St. was then mainly a muddy, boggy swamp, but capable of being transformed at slight cost into an admirable field for ball grounds, tennis courts, with equipment of apparatus for gymnastic exercises, for feats of skill and strength, regulat sports for children and youth. The question was, shall it be reclaimed and fitted up for the young folks, or shall it be transformed into a merely ornamental park? Dr. Shinn strongly urged that it be put into proper condition for play, games, and many sorts of physical exercises. Unfortunately his advice was not followed.

As an ornamental park it is very pretty, but not a great success. There is a diminutive pond on which children rarely skate in winter, or sail their little boats in summer; a fountain that sprouts but never plays, six or seven benches capable of holding three persons each, but rarely occupied except by one nurse with a child, and one man who goes there occasionally to smoke and read the Sunday papers; several neat flower beds; a few plants that seldom blossom; a beautiful lawn that needs on warning signs to "keep off the grass" for nobody walks there; a pretty bridge, ornamental but never useful. To be sure "a thing of beauty is a joy forever," but few care to spend ten minutes here, or to visit it a second time. And within a stone's throw is the great Bigelow school of four hundred and fifty boys and girls and across Vernon street is the Underwood school of one hundred and fifty; and these six hundred have no playgrounds. Sorely disappointed that Farlow Park was not made more useful, Mr. Shinn then urged that playgrounds be provided between the Charlesbank Road and the river. But nothing of the sort has yet been done. The splendid benefaction of Day, Wilder, and Clark on Church street is for the Y. M. C. A. alone. Perhaps it is not yet too late to carry Dr. Shinn's plan into effect, and give these hundreds of children more of daily happiness, more of the bloom, glow, buoyancy, elasticity, joyousness of perfect health.

He had seen in youth the advantages of literary societies, and soon after his arrival he set about the work of organizing one for mutual improvement. He enlisted prominent gentlemen, among them Judge Pittman, Gov. Claflin, Dr. Stone, Dr. Tiffany. It is the Tuesday Club. Probably not one in ten of the people of Newton knows of its existence. Yet for thirty-four years it has met on alternate Tuesday evenings from October first to June first. Never was a club more tolerant. Orthodox and heterodox, priest and infidel, mystic and agnostic—all are on equal footing. Some of the papers read are of extraordinary interest. Unfortunately for the community its sessions are private. Occasional publicity might increase its potency for good a hundred fold.

It was about this time that he began certain editorial work which continued to 1908, more than thirty years. It was the preparation and editing of the Series of Sunday School Lessons published by Whitaker of New York. They were for teachers; but not to be glanced at and thrown aside. Their matter and form compelled attention. They were studied and utilized in every Diocese in the United States, 30,000 copies being sent out every quarter, to "read, mark, learn, and inwardly digest." Doubtless in a thousand instances their effect is still silently felt in characters instructed, uplifted, moulded and inspired.

Two years later, in 1879, one of Newton's eminent physicians, Dr. James F. Frisbie, who, thank God, still lives, founded the Newton Historical Society. He was assisted by Dr. Shinn, Mr. F. Jackson, our Wm. Carver Bates, and others. It was for the study of Botany, Mineralogy, Geology, Zoology, and kindred subjects. The meetings were held monthly, the first being at the residence of Dr. Shinn. They were public. The interest in them was so great that they outgrew the capacity of dwelling houses. As many as three hundred listeners were often in attendance. Dr. Shinn's interest was not merely that of a scientist. He thought he discerned in every natural object and process the immanence of the Creator, what Pharaoh's magicians called "the finger of God." To him the universe was a manuscript and phonograph.

"No lily-muffled hum of a summer bee.

But finds some coupling with the spinning stars;

No pebble at your feet but proves a sphere.

No chaffinch but implies the cherubim—

And every common bush afire with God!"

Another movement originated with Dr. Shinn. It seemed to him important that the ministers of all denominations in Newton should closely unite for the common good. The points of agreement were far more numerous than those of difference. Avoiding controverted questions, and keenly alive to the interest of the whole community, he persuaded upon most of them to join in establishing a Ministers' Association, to hold weekly meetings and to co-operate vigorously.

"In the cause that lacks assistance, 'Gainst the wrong that needs resistance,

For the future in the distance.

And the good that we can do."

To him every creed was a means to an end, no end in itself, valuable according as it tended to right character and conduct; not otherwise. Shakespeare tells us—

"A jest's prosperity

Lies in the ear of him that hears it."

So with creeds—in the mind and heart. "I am ready," said the profoundest of American theologians, Jonathan Edwards Horace Bushnell,—"I am ready to accept as great a number of creeds as fall in my way. I could sign them all before breakfast."

Yet surest and most fundamental of all creeds was his firm persuasion of the essential of the whole community, an unspokeable love enthroned at the centre of the universe. His view is well expressed in Whittier's best poem, Andrew Rykman's Prayer—

"Well I know that all things move

To the spherical rhythm of love,

That to thee O Lord of all.

Nothing can of chance befall—

Child and seraph, mote and star,

Well thou knowest what we are.

Through thy vast creative plan,

Looking from the worm to man,

There is pity in thine eyes, but no

being surprised.

Not in blind caprice of will, not in cunning sleight of skill,

Not for show of power was wrought

Nature's marvel in thy thought:

Never careless hand and vain

smites these chords of joy and pain

Nor immortal selfishness plays the game of curse and bless.

Not for sport of mind and force

hast thou made man the universe,

But as atmosphere and zone of thy loving heart alone

Never yet in darkest mood doubted

I that thou wast good,

Ne'er mistook my will for fate, pain

of sin for heavenly hate;

Never dreamed the gates of pearl rise from out the burning marle.

Or that good can only live of the bad

conservative,

And through the counterpoise of hell

bring alone be possible."

Dr. Shinn was no theologian. Like his Quaker ancestors, like Socrates, like Saint John the Divine, like Jacob Behmen, like George Fox, like Emanuel Swedenborg, he was essentially a Mystic. A mystic, as its etymology implies, is one who sees with his eyes shut, sees and hears by illuminations or voice divine, things invisible or inaudible to most. Says Dr. Shinn's son, "I have seen my father when he was, as it were, entranced, and in spirit in communion with the infinite."

This mysticism far transcends Wordsworth's mood as described in his fine lines.

"I have learned

To look on nature not as in the hour

Of thoughtless youth and I have felt

A presence that disturbs me with the joy

Of elevated thoughts; a sense sublime

Of something far more deeply inter-

ferused,

Whose dwelling is the light of setting

suns,

And the round ocean and the living

air,

And the blue sky, and in the mind of

man."

A motion and a spirit that impels

All thinking things, all objects of all thought,

And rolls through all things."

It did not require in Dr. Shinn, nor does it require in us, a belief in the personal presence and guidance of a divine spirit to recognize the truth that

"Things seen are temporal, things unseen, eternal." We behold a few of the ten thousand billions of deciduous leaves and flowers of May and June.

We know that no one of these, nor any recognizable germ of any of them, was in existence six months ago, or will be in existence six months hence. But the form, the pattern, the type, the shape, to which, in its proper kind,

every leaf and flower must unerringly conform, that is indestructible. He would ask where does that eternal figure exist? What can conscience tell us of that? Or of the truths of imagination,

of sensibility, of spirit, or of the final cause of all? Very real to him as to Horace Bushnell, were those truths.

Saint Paul tells us he was caught up in a trance to Paradise, and there heard

words it was not lawful for him to utter. Afloat on the untraversed sea of sentiment in a hemisphere of silence,

Dr. Shinn would say with the sweetsouled mystic, Father Ryan, The Roman Catholic poet,

"But far on the deep there are bil-

lows

That never shall break on the beach,

And I have heard songs in the sil-

lence

"That never shall float into speech."

This element helped to make him an optimist. Conscious of an indwelling light and guidance, he lived much in this ideal realm. His son writes me,

"You must have been struck with my father's great optimism. The world was a most beautiful place to him. The flowers were beautiful, the water was beautiful, man was good. Of course

evil did exist, and suffering, and bad condition; but so was the work good to put one's shoulder to the wheel to improve those conditions."

In the year 1880, Dr. Shinn originated what some regard as the chief glory of Newton. The story is worth repeating. He was called at midnight

to the bedside of a woman, poor, old, friendless, supposed to be dying. A physician was present. She was unconscious. Suddenly, to their surprise,

she seemed to revive, and the death

hour was postponed. There was one other person in the house, but too old and feeble to minister to the patient.

Dr. Shinn and the physician sallied forth to find a care-taker for the rest of the night for the woman so near death's door. They went from house to house, in the darkness, knocking and ringing, begging for some one to come and watch over the sufferer. For half an hour the effort seemed hopeless.

One sleeper would profess ignorance of that kind of business. Another had young children of her own to look after. Another had suspicions as to the designs of these two strange men

proceeding around in the small hours of the night. At last they rapped at the humble door of an Irish woman, the mother of a brood of children. She put her head out of the window.

"Who's there?" she said, "And what can ye want at this time of night?"

They tell the situation. Her warm

Irish heart cannot resist. "Will ye come?" Sure and 'til come, and 'til

all I can, she did come, and did did the best she could. "She was in a sense our first nurse," says Dr.

Shinn; "for the hospital idea was born

that night."

"We must have a hospital," said

he to the physician. "Yes, the time has come," he replied. Almost immediately Dr. Shinn called a meeting of physicians at his house, and spoke to them of the importance of the subject and of speedily action. Steps were immediately taken to study the situation

consider plans, enlist influential men,

organize an association, raise money,

select grounds, and make a wise beginning. There seemed irreconcilable difference of opinion. Shall the schools of medicine, allopathic, and homeop-athic, unite? Dr. Shinn was often a happy mediator. For the first time in America, the great antagonistic schools were united on equal terms. For the first time, too, a matron, instead of a resident physician, was placed in im-

Colonial Theatre—Ralph Herz in the novel musical comedy "Dr. De Luxe" will remain at the Colonial for quite a few weeks more. For the past four weeks Mr. Herz and his comic musical play has been playing to very large audiences at the Colonial Theatre and the opening on Monday night will mark the fifth week in Boston. This with the usual line of musical comedies and the theatre going public of Boston and suburban towns have placed their stamp of approval by their liberal patronage. Of the many musical comedies that have opened in Boston this season and which were largely advertised that they were here for long runs, the only one to remain was Ralph Herz in "Dr. De Luxe" which clearly proves that it is the "class" of all that have shown here this season. It is new and something different from the usual line of musical comedies and fascinating music and many novelties continues to draw a large and enthusiastic audiences.

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court by Christine Tange, of said Newton, to register and confirm her title in the following described land:

A lot of land with the buildings thereon, situate in that part of said Newton, called Central street, containing about fifteen thousand five hundred and twenty one (15,521) square feet, bounded and described as follows: Beginning at the corner of Hancock Street and said Central Street; thence northerly by said Hancock Street to Woodland Avenue, called Central Street; thence Southwesterly by said Hancock Street one hundred and sixty (160) feet; thence at right angles with said Hancock Street by land now or formerly of William E. Tyler about ninety eight (98) feet northwesterly till it meets a line running at right angles with said Central Street from a point one hundred and sixty (160) feet from Hancock Street by the southerly line of said Central Street; thence northerly by said line at right angles with said Central Street and by land now or formerly owned by said W. E. Tyler about ninety seven (97) feet; thence easterly (parallel with the southerly boundary line of land of the Boston and Albany Railroad Corporation and forty (40) feet distant therefrom) by said Central Street to the point of beginning.

The above described land is shown on a plan filed with said petition and boundary lines are claimed to be located on the ground as shown on said plan.

You are hereby cited to appear at the Land Court to be held at Boston, in the County of Suffolk, on the third day of July A. D. 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted. And unless you appear at said Court at the time and place aforesaid your default will be taken as confessed, and you will be forever barred from contesting said petition or any decree entered thereon.

Witness, Charles Thornton Davis, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eighth day of June in the year nineteen hundred and eleven.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME.

The really big matter of the present session, the so called Omnibus rapid transit bill has been reported by the joint committees on metropolitan affairs and street railways, with several dissenters, including Representatives Bothfeld and Ellis of this city. The bill provides for new subways to South Boston, another under Boylston street in which Newton has a lively interest, and an extension of the East Boston tunnel on leases of 25 years each. The present leases of the Tremont street subway, which expires in 1919, of the East Boston tunnel, which expires in 1922 of the Washington street tunnel which expires in 1933 and of the Cambridge subway which expires in 1935 are also extended to 1936. It is also provided that there shall be an automatic extension beyond 1936, to be determined by a court appointed commission, sufficient to cover the time until the debt incurred by the subway construction is paid. Such extension, however, shall not run beyond 50 years. The bill increases the interest to be paid the West End Company from 7 to 7 1/2 per cent. Representative Bothfeld dissents from the bill principally on the ground that the time is too long and that the rate of interest to be paid the West End stockholders is too large to fix now for so long a period. In fact, it is very evident that the principal legislative objection will come under the attitude of the West End stockholders and it is openly hinted that a bill to withdraw the West End charter would have a large and enthusiastic support, even from the Boston Elevated Company. Taken all in all, the West End proposition strikes the average man as a little peculiar, when the public spirited work and service of the Boston Elevated company is considered.

The West End Company is "an old man of the sea" for the Elevated Company to carry and still do business. A lively fight is in sight when the bill really gets to the vital point.

Representative Bothfeld is also a dissenter from the report of his committee in favor of mandatory electrification of steam railroads in the metropolitan district. Mr. Bothfeld believes with the majority of the joint commission, which recently investigated the subject, that mandatory action is inadvisable and that better results will be obtained if the railroads are allowed to work out the problem on their own.

The bill structure of the railroad tunnel to connect the North and South stations will compel the New Haven to electrify portions of its own lines within two years, and it can be only a short time before such action by the New Haven will compel the Albany to do likewise. The bill however is passing along without much opposition and will probably become a law. It requires the railroads to file plans for the work before Sept. 1912.

Representative Ellis' bill to cover the administration of milk inspection is being heartily favored by the Milk Consumers' League.

Mr. Ellis' bill puts the administration of milk inspection in the hands of the State Board of Health, but it compromises with the producers by providing for a mixed committee to pass regulations, on which committee the producers may have two of the five members. The Ellis bill avoids the creation of a new department. So far as local boards are concerned they may continue the supervision as they now exercise, provided that it is approved by the State Board of Health. This bill reaches the out-of-the-State dairies which the Howard bill does not. It stops unfair competition with Massachusetts producers by out-of-the-State dairies.

Alderman Grosvenor Calkins was a speaker in favor of Gov. Foss' state income tax proposition at the committee hearing held last week.

The veto of Governor Foss of the Boston school teachers' bill was sustained by the Senate by a close vote. Senator Mulligan voting with the Governor. It will be recalled that the veto was first sustained by the House, was subsequently reconsidered and passed over the veto, after an exhibition of lobbying in the State House, as attested by the oldest inhabitant. All three of our representatives voted to sustain the veto on both occasions it came up in the House.

Sensor Mulligan voted to pass the $2.25 per diem bill for metropolitan laborers over the Governor's veto, and it was also passed in the House. Representative White in favor of the bill and Mr. Bothfeld and Mr. Ellis, voting to sustain the veto.

Sensor Mulligan is recorded against the bill to give preference to veterans of the Spanish American war, against the so called public opinion bill, against the bill to require registration of flying machines and in favor of passing over the Governor's veto, the bill to establish salaries of watchmen in the State prison.

In the House our representatives are recorded as follows.—All three sustained the Governor's veto of the "peaceful persuasion" bill, all three voted for the bill to require lights on all vehicles at night, and Mr. Ellis and Mr. White voted to reject the bill to increase the number of judges of the superior court, Mr. Bothfeld not voting.

Combination Coal and Gas
Crawford Ranges

The Crawford Gas Ovens are safe. They are lighted in a new way; there is no dangerous pilot light and explosions are impossible. This improvement is patented and very important.

The Damper is automatically opened by opening oven door to light the burners, which cannot be lighted until the door is opened.

In these Gas Ovens there is an extra set of burners at the top for broiling; a great advantage over the ordinary gas oven, insuring better broiling and great convenience.

The Oven Bottoms and Racks are cast iron, and the outer walls are triple—an interlining of asbestos between two sheets of iron, which assists to retain the heat.

The use of these Gas Ovens does not interfere in any way with the operation of the coal range—both can be used at the same time.

UTOPIA

To every man of every creed
There comes a sweet Utopian dream:
He sees a land where not a weed
May ever grow, where every stream
Makes music as it winds along.
Where all the breezes blow in tune,
Where all is fair and life a song,
Where all the blissful year is June.

There fragrant roses ever bloom,
And everywhere contentment spreads;
The nights are robbed of all their gloom;
The sun a genial radiance sheds;
There all things are superbly planned,
The prospects all spread far and fair;
Each man has dreams of such a land
With him enthroned as master there.

—S. E. Kiser, in Chicago Record-Herald.

Such a land as described above will be found at Camp Utopia, on Lake Utopia, New Brunswick, Canada. Ideal for college men and boys. Home cooking, pure water, dry tents. Competent instructors, also tutoring and practical helps. Just the place for year boys. Write for illustrated booklet and full information to JOSEPH W. BRINE, 37 Kingston Street, Boston.

INDEPENDENCE DAY.

The Newton Centre Improvement Association have announced a fine program for their 28th annual celebration of Fourth of July, including athletic games at the playground at 8 A. M., the usual ball game between the married and single men at 9 A. M., a free vaudeville entertainment in Bray Hall at 3 P. M., a band concert at Crystal lake at 7 P. M., followed by fireworks at 8 o'clock. The athletic games include relay races of two classes, a centipede race for young boys, a flag race for girls, a 100 yard dash, medley race, 75
yard dash, 50 yard dash, and a wheel-barrow race for juniors, a 100 yard handicap, 880 yard handicap, and a running broad jump handicap for Newton A. A. members, and an egg and spoon race
for girls.

Contributions to pay the expenses of the celebration are earnestly solicited
and can be paid to Mr. G. C. Ewing,
the treasurer of the committee.

SILVER WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Elliott celebrated their silver anniversary last evening with a reception from 8 until 10 at their home on Washington and St.
James streets, Newton. They were assisted by their six daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Elliott were married at the Grace Episcopal church by the late Rev.
George W. Shinn and have always resided in this city. Mr. Elliott is a native of England, but came to this country when a small boy.

Mrs. Elliott was born at Needham,
the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fisher. The couple have eight children now living, six girls and two boys and have lost two boys by death.

INSTALLATION.

The public installation of the officers of Dalhousie lodge F. & A. M. took place last evening at the Masonic building, Newtonville, and were attended by fully 500 ladies and gentlemen—a most representative audience. The installing officer was Mr. W. Bro. Melvin M.
Johnson of Waltham, who performed his duties with dignity and grace and in a most happy manner and his concluding address was greeted with hearty applause. The Shubert quartet sang splendidly and Mr. Steele of the quarter rendered a bass solo in an impressive manner. The retiring master,
Mr. Carlyle R. Hayes was presented with a past master's jewel by Hon.
Charles E. Hatfield, his predecessor in the office and the new master presented
Mr. Hayes with a past master's apron.
At the conclusion of the ceremony, refreshments were served in Temple hall, followed by dancing. The officers installed are as follows: W. M., Edward C. Wyatt, S. W., Arthur G. Hosmer, J. W.
Fred M. Blanchard, Treas. for the 13th year, John W. Fisher, Secretary for the 34th year, Edward E. Moran, Chaplain
Rev. Albert Hemmatt, S. D., Ralph F.
Potter, J. D., Frederic W. Freeman, C.
S., George H. Stevens, J. S., Fred S.
Fairchild, J. S., Allen D. Cady, Tyler,
Edgar E. Williams, Marshal Frederic M.
Mitchell.

CATHOLIC CLUB'S PROGRAM.

The principal event in Newton tomorrow will be the lawn fete of the Newton Catholic Club, to be held on the grounds of the club from 1 to 10.30
p. m. Chief among the day's attractions will be the ceremony of breaking ground for an additional building, at which U. S. Senator Gore of Oklahoma, Congressman Murray, Mayor Charles E. Hatfield, Mayor John F. Fitzgerald of Boston will be present and deliver addresses to the members of the club
and their friends.

A vaudeville entertainment, a country circus, dancing and other features
will be provided by the various committees, and a gala day is in store for all who attend. The club has grown steadily since its organization two and one-half years ago, and today it is one of the strongest clubs in the city. The need of additional accommodations has long been felt, and it is expected that by Oct. 1 the new clubhouse will be completed. A large hall, gymnasium, billiard and pool tables will be installed.

Upper Falls

A bubbling drinking fountain has been placed in the playground this week.

AMONG WOMEN.

The Newton Ladies Home Circle
will hold their annual outing at Nantucket on Tuesday, June 20th. They will take the 10:20 boat, Row's Wharf.

EAT IN A COOL AND WELL-VENTILATED DINING ROOM

In the future patrons visiting this Lunch Room will not be subject to the inconvenience of heat and smoke, as formerly; for during the past week there has been installed a method of mechanical ventilation which absolutely does away with all odor, and on the hottest day makes the atmosphere clear and cool, which makes the effort we make to serve the best the market and good cooks can produce, more appreciated.

Respectfully,

was its founder and first president. It is still alive and energetic. Monthly meetings are held, reports or visits to the sick are read, work is assigned, suggestions are made; difficulties are discussed, and the way to obviate them is pointed out. For pure unselfish benevolence the value of such work can hardly be overestimated. "By means of visits, letters, reading matter, and other attentions, it seeks to entertain and cheer." Branches of this society might well be established in every city, and one in every village.

Appropos of the work of the Shut-In Society, Dr. Shinn prepared a Manual on the Art of Entertaining the Sick. It is a memorial volume. It emphasizes four methods of ministering cheer and comfort to those confined to their rooms: First, by reading to them in a sweet voice such literature as shall interest and delight. Secondly, by telling them with gentleness and attractive tones stories carefully selected to amuse and fill them with hope. Thirdly, by playing with them quiet games that shall beguile the weary hours and assure them of the affectionate interest of the visitor. Fourthly, if they love music of voice or instrument, by making sure that they receive the best that can possibly be supplied. This book should be in the hands not only of every nurse in hospital, but of every one who visits the sick. It is pure gold without a particle of dross. This was Dr. Shinn's last book.

One of his first was a description of Grace Church. It shows charmingly its "Silent Voices," the rich symbolism, the historical associations; the precious memories this edifice contained when he became Rector in 1875. Much of striking interest has been added since, and more will follow. In particular, there should be at the entrance a bust of Dr. Shinn of purest marble, as perfect as that of his friend Hornbrooke, a masterpiece of the sculptor's art, in yonder Channing Church.

These books are two of many written to promote some end dear to his heart. "Faith without works is dead." His practical turn of mind, acquired during his five years with Vaughan, where his habit was to utilize on the instant every opportunity to relieve and heal, led him to prepare handbooks of immediate as well as permanent utility. Successively there were issued from the press the Manual of Instruction as to Collects, etc. (1873); Manual as to Confirmation (1874); Manual of Church History (1876); Manual of the Prayer Book (1884); stories of Happy Days for Christmas (1880); The Theatrical Stage as a Means of Instruction (1900); Questions Concerning our Church; Friendly Talks About Marriage; numerous articles in magazines and newspapers. His editorial work was immense. Time fails to particularize further.

But his literary labors were only incidental. His chief immediate aim of course was to build up Grace Church as a centre and source of blessing to this community. This group of connected buildings with all their contents but faintly indicates the toil of heart and brain of him who originated much of it and watched over it all. The beautiful church was standing when he came, thirty six years ago, but it was almost sunk under debt. He not only left it free, but was mainly instrumental in securing the chapel, parish house, and choir-hall, with their scores of memorial adornments.

But Grace Church and this immediate vicinity were far from limiting his work of church organizations. He looked upon this whole city as his field. His missionary spirit and general and special activities in religious directions up to the date of his resignation as rector are perhaps best expressed by a committee appointed by Archdeacon Balcomb in compliance with a vote of the Archdeaconry of Lowell on the seventh of June, 1906. The instructions to the committee were "to compose and forward to Dr. Shinn a letter hittingly expressing the high estimate placed by the Archdeaconry on his life-long missionary activity, and its continued interest in him and whatever he may be enabled by God's Providence to undertake." The committee (Rev. John Matteson and Homer B. Sprague) say to Dr. Shinn as follows:

"If we are not mistaken, it is now more than forty years since upon entering the ministry you formed to yourself the high purpose of building mission churches where they were most needed and especially among the poor. Beginning with such enterprise in the outskirts of Philadelphia, you labored there faithfully and efficiently for some three years until your health, impaired by overwork, compelled a change. Thence, if we are correctly informed you went to Shamokin, Pa., where you held mission services among the miners, and built up a church. You went next to Lock Haven, Pa., where, in addition to your regular parish duties, you conducted a mission to the numerous colored people in that city. You next accepted the charge of a parish among the iron workers in Troy, N. Y. It was a difficult field, but its cultivation was in the line of your desire, and 'the poor had the Gospel preached to them.' It is remembered that, while there, you originated and edited the missionary newspaper of the Diocese of Albany. In connection with parish day school which led to your appointment as head master of St. Paul's School, an endowed institution under the auspices of St. Paul's Church in that city.

Your labors in Troy were crowned with success; but it became evident that you must choose between the two vocations of teaching and preaching. To the good fortune of this Diocese you chose the latter; and thereupon you came to the city of Newton in 1875. Here for several years you ably edited a missionary newspaper. You found in Newton two organized parishes, Grace and St. Mary's, and a feeble mission for West Newton and Auburn-dale. To this you rendered effectual aid, and were gratified to see it become strong enough to call to itself a rector. Carrying forward your efficient work at Grace Church you also began to lay foundations at Newton Highlands.

There, too, your wise and energetic efforts were blessed with success; so that they were at length able to erect a church edifice and engage a rector. The third of your missions in this region was at Chestnut Hill. Within a year or two the church people in that vicinity became strong enough to have a clergyman of their own. You cordially helped the new church, the Church of the Good Shepherd at Watertown, about half of those engaged in it being members of your own Grace Church.

You held occasional services in Newtonville. The movement there culminated in the organization of St. John's Church. We do not forget that you were for years a member of the missionary committee of this Diocese and rendered valuable service as its secretary. This committee held meetings that created much and lasting interest in the plans undertaken for the spread of the Gospel. During the last General Convention held in Boston two years ago, your previous services in this field were recognized in your appointment as chairman of the committee on the great missionary meetings, the extraordinary interest and success of which were due in great part to your judicious and efficient management. It were long to enumerate in illustration of your exemplary zeal in this great cause, the many articles you have published, the many eloquent sermons you have preached in your own and other parishes, and the many valuable contributions of money and effort you have secured in the promotion of church extension. The archdeaconry of Lowell and all who know you well, must gratefully recognize these faithful, untiring and successful labors of yours, the unselfish, Christlike spirit which prompted them, and the inspiring example of consecration which you have thus given to the world. Your name, dear friend, should be honored, and your deeds held in affectionate and lasting remembrance by many thousands whom your ministrations have blessed. For the sake of others, may a kind Providence grant you health and strength long to continue your efforts for the promotion of righteousness. For yourself, may you receive daily tokens of esteem from the living.

"As honor, love, obedience, troops of friends," and at last a abundant entrance into that Presence where "they that be wise shall shine as the brightness of the firmament, and they that turn many to righteousness as the stars for ever and ever."

—The Ladies Aid Society were the guests of Mrs. Charles Brown on Thursday afternoon.
—The young ladies held an enjoyable lawn party this week on the grounds of the M. E. Church.
—The Universalist Church of Newtonville held an enjoyable picnic last Saturday at Hemlock Gorge.
—A union picnic will be held tomorrow, June 17 at Saxonville by the Baptist and Methodist churches.
—The graduating class of the Emerson school gave a fine entertainment Thursday evening in the school hall.
—Mr. Richard H. Gould of Boylston street, who has just graduated from the Institute of Technology will sail next Thursday for Essen, Germany, where he has accepted the position as sanitary engineer.
—The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the M. E. Church entertained the Standard Bearers on Monday evening in a novel and pleasing manner. At eight o'clock the party was entertained at the residence of Mrs. O. E. Nutter on High street where Italy was represented in the decorations, ladies costumes and refreshments. At nine o'clock, Mrs. Lewis P. Everett of High street became the hostess. Here Japan was the key note with Japanese lanterns and other appropriate decorations and fireworks. The refreshments were tea and rice. Mrs. Billings of High street was the hostess at ten o'clock and her home represented America, the national flag being the principal decoration. Ice cream and cake were served for refreshments. The affair was a great success and reflects credit upon the committee in charge.

MANY GRADUATES

396 PUPILS RECEIVE GRAMMAR DIPLOMAS

The graduating exercises of the grammar schools this week were marked, where they were held, with great simplicity, and in most schools, the only formality was the giving of diplomas. An interesting feature of the award of diplomas to the graduates of the Bigelow school yesterday morning was the announcement by Superintendent of Schools Spaulding, that the prize for the best essay for grammar schools were both awarded to pupils of that school. Ruth D. Warren was given first prize for an essay on "The Life and Services of New England's Foremost Statesman" and Donald Moore received the second prize for an article on "The Frigate Constitution." The awards were made by a committee consisting of Mrs. Fred H. Tucker of Newton, Mrs. Henry H. Carter of Newtonville and Mr. Franklin S. Hoyt, of West Newton.

At the Burr school yesterday morning there was singing by the class and by the Burr School Glee Club, an address by Rev. J. Edgar Park and remarks by Mrs. A. A. Davidson of the school committee when she gave out the diplomas.

CHARTER REVIVED

The extraordinary growth of Freemasonry in this city for the past few years, and which has given Dakota Lodge a very large membership, has caused the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts to revive the charter of Fraternity Lodge which originally granted in November 1876 was surrendered in June 1888.

The restoration of a charter is most unusual and the ceremonies last Friday evening at Masonic Hall, Newtonville, when it was revived were of great interest. The ceremony was also unique, in that the Worshipful Master installed, Horatio B. Hackett, was the first master of the lodge 36 years ago, and the senior and junior wardens installed also held office in the lodge when instituted.

The exercises were in charge of Grand Master Flanders of the Grand Lodge assisted by a distinguished suite of Masonic brethren.

After the grand master announced the object of the session, Grand Secretary read the charter, which has been held by grand lodge nearly a quarter of a century and was signed by Grand Master Everett.

"The conditions having been complied with the charter is restored," said Grand Master Flanders, and the grand marshal made the proclamation.

Five of the eight applicants who signed the petition were designated by them as officers. They are Horatio B. Hackett, Wm. William I. Goodrich, S.W. William O. Hunt, J.W. Henry W. Kendall, and Edwin O. Childs. The others are A. C. Daniels, Charles T. Pulfifer and Theodore W. Gore. A number of applicants are in waiting.

The appointive officers so far selected are Rev. John Matheson C. George H. Benyon M. George H. Brown organist and E. E. Williams tyler.

Grand Master Hackett said that Grand Master Flanders installed Worshipful Master Hackett and said that he was happy to place in his hands the old charter. The senior and junior wardens, treasurer and secretary were installed by the corresponding grand officers, while the acting deputy grand master inducted those who had been appointed.

In his address the grand master congratulated the lodge that there were enough of the old members living to ask for a revival of the charter. He remarked that there were 60,000 Freemasons in the state, a gain of 100 per cent in 20 years, while the increase in lodges during that time was 12. He believed in more and smaller lodges, which he thought best for the craft.

ENTERTAINS CLASS.

Clifford F. Green entertained the class of 1911, Hyde Grammar School at his home on Monday evening. The parlor was beautifully decorated with the class colors, red and orange, and quantities of daisies and roses added an attractive background in the bay window. The party was planned as a surprise to Miss Joss, the popular ninth grade teacher. To the strains of Lohegrin's Bridal Chorus, Miss Joss was escorted by Master Clifford Green to the place of honor, amid a shower of roses by the young ladies of the class, and Miss Adele Gilbert presented her with a beautiful bouquet of red roses.

Master Clifford Rust in amusing verse, presented Miss Joss in behalf of the class of 1911, with a handsome silver card receiver. He then presented Master Clifford Green with a gold watch and fob chain, as a commemorative gift from his father and mother. A beautiful collation followed and games were enjoyed by all. Three cheers were given by the class of 1911, for Miss Joss, Mrs. Green and Master Clifford Green.

Miss Joss departed amid a shower of rice and best wishes of all.

JOHNSON-SPRINGER.

The marriage of Miss Florence E. Springer, the daughter of Mrs. Marcus P. Springer of Newton and Mr. John Winthrop Johnson of Winchester took place on Wednesday at four o'clock. Rev. Laurens MacLure, rector of Grace Church performed the ceremony, the bride being given in marriage by her mother. The maid of honor was Miss Mildred Springer and the bridesmaids were Miss Eleanor Springer and Miss Emily Stearns of Newton. Mr. Frederick Johnson of Newtonville was the best man and the ushers were Messrs. Daniel A. Johnson of Plymouth, Charles R. Leonard of New York City, F. Rogers Thomas of West Newton and Dr. Robert Whitehill of Newtonville.

After the wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will reside at Winchester.

BIRTHDAY OBSERVED

One of Newton's most respected citizens Mr. Edmund E. Stiles of 168 Walnut St., Newtonville, celebrated his 75th birthday on the 7th inst. and was the recipient of many gifts and congratulations from a wide circle of friends, including his comrades of the Grand Army.

But perhaps that which pleased him most was the recognition given the event by his fellow employees in the firm of John H. Pray & Sons Co., 646 Washington St. Boston, where for so long he has been a successful salesman. Just before the closing hour Mr. Stiles was escorted by Mr. D. A. Sullivan and Mr. G. W. Jeffrey to the Saxony Rug Department, where the employees of the store were gathered, and was given a hearty birthday greeting.

Mr. John G. McCormack, on behalf of the employees, addressing Mr. Stiles said in part:

"My dear Deacon Stiles, there are periods in the life of every man which can be looked back upon with an exceeding pleasure and form the staple of delightful fireside reveries when the storms of winter are beating against the window panes and the summer of life has gone forever."

Such a period, Deacon, has been our association with you during the past many years. Your genial good nature and sunny temperament has endeared you to us all and your record of fifty-six years—(excepting the memorable four years spent in the service of a grateful nation)—as an active salesman has been an inspiration to all those who have been privileged to work along with you.

From the little crossroad store where you got the rudiments well ground in and where the solitary roll of Ingrain stood in close juxtaposition to the ubiquitous barrel of molasses, up through the solid conservatism of the bygone Joel Goldwaite store to become the restor of the carpet trade and an honored and valued employee of this great house, with its national and century-old reputation, is a record which we would all desire to emulate but can never aspire to attain.

But, Deacon, while we dwell with fond pleasure upon the days of our comradeship, engaged in the pursuit of a common calling, it is with a sense of pride and honor that we contemplate the glorious past you assayed when the clouds of war burst over a hitherto happy land and the stability of the nation was in danger.

The titanic struggle which dyed the streams and fields of our beloved land with the blood of heroes, found no one more eager than yourself to be offered up a sacrifice upon the altar of your country.

From the frigid of the first gun at Fort Sumter and clear through all the bloody war, until the immortal words of the immortal Lincoln were spoken upon the carnage strewn field of Gettysburg, you were ever ready to receive the bullet which is always supposed to find its billet.

But, it was not to be. Andersonville with all its deadly horrors could not hold you and the brave southern with many a whizzing bullet failed to lay you low. It is needless for me to point to any particular event, to illustrate your brilliant part in the great conflict, when every day carried an almost equal share of glory.

Now you are safely anchored at home in the midst of friends and comrades, old and tried, and, as the quartermaster of your post, enjoy behind entrenchments of salads and ice cream the solid fruits of victory.

Today Deacon we are here to greet you upon the seventy-fifth anniversary of your natal day. Happy and wonderful old man! you are yet a boy in heart and spirit with natural powers unabated and a vision as yet undimmed you may look forward to a future the joys of which will not terminate for many years to come.

Your capacity for work has been a stimulant to us all in our labors; and in our moments of leisure you have charmed and informed us with incidents culled from your memories of heroic times.

We wish today, in ever so a slight measure, give you some pleasure in return and I am asked to convey to you the heartiest good wishes and kindest feelings of your fellow employees and to present you with this handsome wallet as a token of their affection and esteem.

It is designed to carry within its mission leather covers the letter of credit which will make flowery the path of your forthcoming trip around the world.

The horse is known by its years, but the mule is better known by its ears.

UNDERWOOD SCHOOL

COMMITTEE FINDS SATISFACTORY CONDITIONS

The following report of the committee of the Newton Improvement Association, on the Underwood school will be of interest to parents in that district:

Your committee, appointed to inspect the Underwood School, and to report in regard to its physical and hygienic conditions, submits the following statement:

Although an old building, the Underwood School has a very favorable location. Its class rooms have plenty of sunlight and its system of ventilation, which utilizes a motor to drive the air throughout the premises, seems to be satisfactory. Its interior has recently been painted and is on the whole, cheerful and attractive. With the improvements made which are referred to in this report, we feel that the Underwood School will compare favorably with the school buildings in Newton.

Our examination of this building leads us to recommend the following alterations and improvements:

1. As some of the floors are old and much worn, with wide cracks between the boards which are filled with dirt, and, we recommend, where needed, the substitution of new flooring of tongued and grooved boards, laid tight, and with moulding at the mop board, so that the sweeping or washing of the rooms and hallways can be done effectively.

2. The closets and sanitary arrangements were found to be cleanly and free from odor and gave evidence of care and attention by the janitor. We, nevertheless, recommend that new wooden seats be provided for the closets, as those now in use are old in style and cover in those parts of the plumbing that are always exposed under modern practice. This improvement would call for only a small expenditure.

3. The building is without a brick chimney: an iron flue or stack surrounded by a cylindrical metallic conduit serves as a chimney and runs up through the interior of the building from cellar above roof. Such form of construction is very objectionable, and would not in these days be permitted in a new building, as it would not be considered safe. The metallic flue, with the cylindrical conduit, although carrying at its top a hood, is, nevertheless, open to the weather and subject to its influences. Unless the conduit is removed, no examination can be made of the flue in order to determine if it has been eaten by rust or has suffered deterioration through coal gas. In the old Bigelow School there was a flue of similar construction which was discovered to be riddled with holes in a very dangerous condition.

Fire insurance companies regard all forms of chimneys other than brick, as hazardous. Many companies will not insure mercantile buildings or dwellings unless the chimneys are of brick. We recommend that a brick chimney be substituted at the school for the present iron flue or stack. The argument that no fire has occurred at this school in all these years is without weight; it might come next winter.

Investigation has led the committee to the conclusion that an old school building, if kept clean and in good repair, especially if it be a building which is well ventilated and in which there is sunlight, is as healthy a place for little children to gather in as is one of newer construction.

In the new brick schoolhouses in Newton, contagious diseases have broken out from time to time. Convincing proof is thus furnished that, of itself, a new building is not an absolute prevention. If the conditions at a building are such that the vitality of the children assembled therein is sapped, then the situation is always one of danger, for children in a low state of vitality are, of course, much more susceptible to the germs of disease.

We are therefore of the opinion that when the improvements herein recommended have been made, the physical conditions at the Underwood School will be fairly satisfactory, and the building will then be a reasonably safe place in which to assemble children.

Reference has already been made to the service of the janitor at this school. This appeared to your committee to be conscientious and as efficient as the circumstances would permit. With newly-laid flooring, we believe the floors should be swept and washed oftener than has been the practice, and a more frequent washing of the tops of the desks is also recommended.

This additional service might possibly require the entire time of the janitor at the building. We should regard such employment as warranted, because it would enable him to keep floors and desks in better sanitary condition. He would also be at hand during the school sessions, and might be relied upon in case of emergency or casualty to render important service.

Your committee is satisfied that care is exercised in the distribution and use of textbooks and school supplies among the children. Books are not distributed and gathered up each day, but are allotted to the children, who retain them until others are substituted. We suggest, however, that this matter of the use of books and supplies in the schools be referred to the Board of Health with the request that they consider whether any improved methods can be introduced which will lessen the risk of contagion through their use.

While it is essential, as we have already stated, that school buildings, in both construction and equipment, shall be of such a character as not to injuriously affect the health of the children in attendance, the chief reliance against the inroads of contagion must be Medical Inspection. The Board of Health should effectively guard the gates and thus prevent the entrance of disease. With the resources now at its disposal, your committee feels that the Board of Health is doing good work. With an increased appropriation it would undoubtedly be more efficient. Dr. Curtis, the Chairman of the Board, intimates, in a recent letter published in one of our local papers, that with additional funds provided, the Board of Health could lessen the danger of contagion in our schools. The City Government assumes a serious responsibility if, through failure to respond to the call of the Board of Health, it hampers that organization in its efforts to prevent the spread of disease in our schools.

ANOTHER ACCIDENT.

George H. Mackay, Jr., of 304 Bay State road, was badly injured in a collision between his motor cycle and an automobile, on the Newton boulevard Wednesday evening. He is in the Newton Hospital with a broken leg and severe cuts on his head and body. The automobile was owned by Lorenz F. Muther of 80 Elgin street, Newton Centre, with him at the time were his wife, his father, Lorenz Muther, and a French maid. They were bound toward Boston and ahead of them were two other machines.

Near the junction of Commonwealth avenue and Hammond street the car was swung to the left to pass the two ahead and as the turn was made Mackay, riding at good speed, mounted the hill, coming from the opposite direction. He was too far to the right to avoid a collision and crashed into the left wheel of the automobile. He was thrown heavily to the side of the road and the glass from a broken headlight cut his face. B. A. Merriam of 60 Congress street, South Framingham took the young man to the hospital in his automobile. He will recover.

BRECK-JONES.

At All Souls Church, at Elm Hill avenue and Warren street in Roxbury, Miss Margarette Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Westley Jones of Elm Hill, was married on Thursday evening last week to Mr. Luther Adams Breck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Breck of Newton. Rev. George Sheid Anderson was the officiating minister. The bridal party included for the bride's attendants Mrs. John Benbow, as matron of honor and Miss Miriam McLoud, Wellesley '12, as maid of honor, while Mr. Charles Henry Breck, Jr., the bridegroom's brother, served as best man. The ushers were all college men and the group was made up of Messrs. Curtis Nye Smith of Newton, Harvard '98; Ashfield Ellis Stow of San Francisco, Harvard '12; John Benbow, Boston, Harvard '07; Rodney Campbell Jones, West Newton, Harvard '07; Paul T. Christie of Newport, Harvard '07 and Charles Henry Brackett, Jr., of Newton, William '11. Miss Jones was given in marriage by her father. The church was attractive with decorations of masses of white peonies and palms. A reception at the home of the bride's parents, at 164 Ruthven street, followed the ceremony. Mr. Breck and his bride are to travel abroad through the summer.

LODGES.

A well attended meeting of Newton Council 167 K. of C. was held in Denison hall on Tuesday evening; being the last meeting to be held until after the summer months, it caused the members to turn out in large numbers. Besides members of the local council there were present knights from the councils of Greater Boston, including District Deputy A. J. Doon and suite, of Natick, Mass., and District Deputy James A. Ryan and suite of Allston. A pleasant feature of the evening was the presentation of a Fourth Degree jewel to Past Grand Knight, John F. Gallagher, who has held the office of Grand Knight for the past two years, and under whose leadership the Council has made marked progress. The presentation speech was made by Past Grand Knight, M. J. Barry, to which Mr. Gallagher responded in a few well chosen words. Addresses were made by District Deputy A. J. Doon of Natick, District Deputy James A. Ryan of Allston, John S. Quinn P. G. K. of Mt. Pleasant Council, John H. Gordon, P. G. K. of Jamaica Plain Council, Frank McAllister P. G. K. of Brighton Council, and William H. Mague P. G. K. of Newton Council. An entertainment followed after which refreshments were served. The meeting was under the direction of Grand Knight William J. Mullen.

B. F. Keith's Theatre—it has been years since B. F. Keith's Theatre has had a summer attraction that could compare with "Sweet By Summer Breezes," the new summer offering now running at that playhouse. "The Meistersingers," composed of the Harvard, Schubert, and Weber Male Quartettes, and Onita, the human elf, who are the most popular features of the new production, have proved a decided innovation in the amusement line. The splendid singing of "The Meistersingers" has already become the talk of Boston, and so much interest has been aroused that arrangements have been made to continue the engagement for a second week. An entirely new programme of songs has been provided, and several new and novel features will be introduced. Onita, the cute little Brownie, who has become tremendously popular among the children, will also appear in her quaint "Brownie dance." "The Meistersingers" will be a feature of an unusually strong bill, chief among the novelties being the Four Regents, a remarkable troupe of European songsters who appear in a spectacular scenic production entitled "The Armorer's." Johnny Johnston, the Scotch entertainer, the Langtons in "A Night On The Boulevard," Lillian Ashley, the dainty singing comedienne, and Pollard, a clever comedy juggler, will also appear, besides several features yet to be announced.

Castle Square Theatre.—There will be a double event at the Castle Square next week—the production of "The Genius" and the return of Howell Hansel. Mr. Craig having engaged Mr. Hansel for a limited number of appearances during the summer, that popular actor will appear assured of the hearty

PUBLIC AUCTION

EXECUTOR'S SALE
of Desirable
SINGLE HOUSE
together with 7805 square feet of land situated at 180 Newtonville Ave., Mount Ida, Newton

Thursday, June 29, 1911
AT 2 O'CLOCK P. M.

Also a few household effects, 2 hair mattresses, B. W. chairs, Mah. table, etc.

The house is excellently built and in good condition, 4 rooms and laundry on first floor, 4 rooms and maid's room on second floor with bath room, large open attic on third floor, gas, hot and cold water, furnace, set tubs and cemented cellar, very substantial foundation. Together with the house are nearly 8000 sq. ft. of land with trees and shrubs. Said lot extends in rear of house to Summit St. The location of this property is one of the best in Newton. With in easy walking distance of steam and electric, situated as it is, in a first class neighborhood, up from the street, and commanding an unobstructed view of the surrounding country, makes this opportunity an unusual one for those who are looking for a desirable home or good paying investment in the neighborhood of $4500.

Must be Sold
TERMS: $200 in cash at time and place of sale. Other particulars from auctioneer.

est of welcomes. No actor who has played at the Castle Square has excelled Mr. Hansel in popularity, and his engagement is bound to attract no little attention and to assure a continuation of crowded houses.

"The Genius" is a farce of the merriest and funniest kind, said to be even more productive of laughter than "Charley's Aunt." It was first presented by Nat Goodwin, and had a marked success which will be repeated at the Castle Square. The hero is a business man and millionaire who poses as a great artist, a great musician and a great sculptor by the easy process of engaging talented young men to produce masterpieces for him. Difficulties naturally arise from his conduct, and from them comes no little of the humor of the play, but finally he extricates himself from his difficulties and all ends merrily.

In addition to Mr. Hansel, Mr. Craig will cast the play to the full strength of his company, including Gertrude Binley, George Hassell, Donald Meek and Mabel Colcord.

CATHOLIC CLUB FETE.

The annual lawn party of the Newton Catholic club took place Saturday afternoon and evening on the grounds of the club. Ground was broken for an addition to the present quarters of the club by Rev. John F. Keliher, pastor of St. Bernard's church, in which parish the club is located.

The fete was attended by many hundreds during the day, for whom an attractive and interesting program was arranged by the committee in charge. Among the amusing features were chimney breaking, fortune telling, an African dodge and a wild man.

During the afternoon and evening, songs were rendered by George Wilson, Harry McGrath, Daniel Dunlea, Lou Loneragan, Daniel Kensica, George Mergill, the Garden City Four, Joseph Gilday, J. Antonette, Daniel Longbottom and the Holden brothers. The audience showed their appreciation by many encores.

Shortly after 6 the speakers arrived about the grounds and many of them participated in the amusements. Mayor Hatfield, although somewhat of a baseball player, was unable to knock the little colored boy into the water, by striking a peg from between the boards.

After the speeches, the wild man, which had been caged up all day, escaped and chased the clown, which had been a great bother to him during the afternoon, but the fugitive was too fleet of foot and the wild man was again taken up. The day came to a close with dancing on the lawn, in which many couples participated.

The clubhouse has an ideal location on the corner of Washington and Prospect streets. It has a spacious lawn, with many beautiful flower gardens. The new building will be connected with the present headquarters by a corridor and will face on Washington street. It will be a frame structure, two and a half stories high of colonial style of architecture.

The basement will contain four bowling alleys, a billiard room and five billiard and pool tables, service room, locker room, toilets and closets. The basement will be connected with the present building by an underground passage, in which dressing rooms, shower baths, etc., will be located.

The main floor will be devoted to a large assembly hall, 40x65 feet, with a large stage, where the club entertainments will be presented and other gatherings will be held. The hall will also have a large balcony. To the side and rear of the hall several coat rooms and anterooms will be located.

The new building was designed by Mulcahy & McLaughlin of Boston and the cost will be in the neighborhood of $15,000. It is to be completed in about six months.

Over $3000 was cleared during the day.

WINS LAST GAME.

The Newton high school baseball team closed its season on Clafin field Saturday morning when it defeated the strong Worcester Classical high nine 6 to 0 in one of the best pitchers' battles witnessed here this year for seven innings.

The spectators anticipated the game going extra innings, especially after the teams went out in order for six innings without scoring. In the seventh, however, Newton tallied its first run and it looked big enough to win the game for it, but a rally in the eighth gave the Orange and Black five more runs, increasing its total to six.

Wilnot Whitney was in the box for Newton high, and he pitched his best game of the year. Four hits were made off him; he gave two passes and struck out 12 visitors.

"Doc" Keegan, the leading twirler in Worcester school ranks, did the pitching for Worcester Classical high. He pitched great ball, and had been afforded good support the game should have resulted in a 1 to 0 win for Newton. He fanned 16 Newton players and gave one base.

Henry Nash, the Newton first baseman, was the star performer of the game. In the eighth, with two on bases and one out, he succeeded in making his third hit of the game.

N. H. S.

During the past week Mrs. A. A. Davidson of Auburn and Mrs. Wilkins of Walnut street have given interesting addresses at the Technical High School upon vocations that are open to girls.

At the graduating exercises of the Technical High School this evening Hon. Robert Luce will make an address.

The graduating exercises of the Classical High school will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock.

Tomorrow morning in Nonantum Square will be opened for business one of the famous Woolworth 5 and 10 stores. When one considers the fact that there are 300 of these stores in the United States (and even seven in England) it is easy to comprehend the quantities of goods bought to enable them to sell at such ridiculously low prices. The local manager will be Mr. Fred Swingle, of New York City, who is perfectly competent of keeping this branch up to the high standard set by F. W. Woolworth in other cities.

UTOPIA
To every man of every creed There comes a sweet Utopian dream: He sees a land where not a weed May ever grow, where every stream Makes music as it winds along. Where all the breezes blow in tune, Where all is fair and life a song, Where all the blissful year is June.

There fragrant roses ever bloom, And everywhere contentment spreads: The nights are rubbed of all their gloom, The sun a genial radiance sheds. There all things are superbly planned, The prospects all spread far and fair: Each man has dreams of such a land, With him enthroned a master there. With him, E. Kiser, in Chicago Record-Herald.

Such a land as described above will be found at Camp Utopia, on Lake Umbagog, New Brunswick, Canada. Ideal place for college men and boys. Home cooking, pure water, dry tents. Competent instructors, also tutoring and practical instruction, also the place for year boys. Just the place for year boys. Write for illustrated booklet and full information to JOSEPH W. NORUMBEGA PARK.

Once again has Norumbega demonstrated its popularity as the ideal pleasure resort. Starting off with a record breaking attendance on Decoration Day, followed by an attendance on June 17th, that was larger by several thousands the turnstiles on last Sunday recorded the largest Sunday attendance in the history of this picturesque resort. This increase has been largely due to the increased car service from Dudley Street Terminal, by way of Roxbury Crossing and Brookline Village, direct to the park with cars running at intervals of fifteen minutes.

To those who visit Norumbega it means an ideal outing. It is altogether a delightful woodland resort, quite unlike any other summer park in these parts, with its Grape Arbor Cafe, zoological garden, canoeing and boating on the Charles, rifle range, chalet of wonders, casino, merry-go-round, garage, etc.

The vaudeville programme in the open air theatre this week, witnessed by crowded attendances at the afternoon and evening performances proves immensely popular. Heading the list is Mlle. Cecile and Company, French acrobats and whirlwind dancers, who furnish a most unique act. Carberry Brothers with their novelty terpsichorean act, Dixon and Dixon, eccentric comedy instrumentalists who keep the audience in roars of laughter. The Marathon Quartette could easily hold the attention of the audience much longer than they do, if there was time. Their eccentric comely vocalism is a real novelty. The Canellas offer some very original ideas as entertainers. Next week there will be a complete change of bill in the open air theatre.

THREE HURT.

Three persons were burned, and two of them added to their injuries by jumping from an attic window at an early morning fire yesterday at Newton. Those burned are Patrick McKeown, his son, Thomas, seventeen years old; and a daughter, Anna, who is thirteen years old. The fire was caused by upsetting a lamp.

The family occupies a house at 73 Clinton street, Nonantum. The father was sleeping on the second floor, while the children who were burned were asleep in the attic. Three other daughters, Nellie, nineteen years old, and Josephine and Mary, who are twins and four years older, had spent the evening at a social and returned home about midnight. A lighted lamp had been left on a table in the hallway, at the foot of the attic stairs.

One of the girls brushed against the lamp and it was overturned. It exploded and the oil was spattered over the carpet and draperies. The screams of the frightened girls awakened the others and the father attempted to extinguish the fire. Meanwhile one of the girls ran to give the alarm. The children who were in the attic ran down the stairs and were met by the flames from the burning oil. They were badly burned about the legs and ran back to the attic. The father was so badly burned that he fell unconscious.

When the firemen arrived they discovered the two children who had been burned at an attic window. They were hurried to the hospital. The children were badly shaken, but no bones were broken. The father was carried from the house by firemen and the three injured persons were hurried to the Newton Hospital. The children will recover, but the father's condition is grave. The fire was quickly put out with chemicals and the damage to the house will not exceed $100.

NEWTON TEACHER HONORED.

The Newton School system will be one of the new features to be taught in the Summer School of the University of Pennsylvania which will open on July 5th to continue until August 16th. Mrs. Mary A. Oliver, a teacher in the Mason School in Newton, has been selected to demonstrate the Newton system at Pennsylvania. She will conduct the fourth grade in the school of Observation which will be in session in connection with the department of Pedagogy of the Summer School. In this School of Observation there will be more than 200 children. Ten different rooms will be in operation. Each one will be conducted by an exponent of the most up to date school systems in the United States. Director A. Duncan Vocum of the Summer School has selected the most efficient teachers in the different cities whose school systems he wishes to have illustrated to his students.

Although Dr. Vocum is laying a great deal of stress upon the School of Observation, he has been developing the other departments of the Summer School conscientiously. Thirteen courses are offered in Psychology. There are almost as many in Physical Education. Special work has been arranged in Biology, Chemistry and Physics in order that the students will be able to coach up in these subjects. The Summer School has now courses in practically every study covered by the regular College curriculum.

MR. SYLVESTER SURPRISED

Mr. Carl A. Sylvester, the retiring general manager of the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway Co. was doubly surprised on Tuesday evening, his last day of service. In the early evening Mr. Sylvester was the guest at the monthly meeting of the heads of the departments held at Norumbega Park restaurant and was presented with a complete toilet case, handsomely bound in leather. This affair terminated about ten o'clock and the party went home. In the meantime plans of the men employed by the Company were consummated and Mr. Sylvester was awakened by Mr. George M. Cox, his successor in the office of general manager and informed that he was wanted immediately at Norumbega Park. Mr. Sylvester and Mr. Cox arrived about 1.30 A. M. and found about 250 motormen and conductors present from all over the district, including Lexington, Natick and Hopkinton. The meeting was held to testify to the general feeling of respect and affection for Mr. Sylvester.

Their feelings were admirably expressed in the voice of Clarence F. Cormier, who said in opening his remarks, that they had bidden farewell to Mr. Sylvester's predecessor and greeted him himself upon assuming the duties of General Manager. The time had now come to bid him God-speed. Many of the men had seen his coming into the employ of the road in 1902 and his beginning at the bottom of the ladder, watching his progress from one round to another, his earnestness and ability placed him on the topmost rung. They had all been pleased to labor under his leadership, and although sorry to lose him, are proud at the thought of his promotion to a yet higher position. As a token of their good wishes, Mr. Cormier then presented to him a very fine diamond ring.

In responding, Mr. Sylvester said that this was a big surprise. He had become used to surprises during the last few weeks, but this was the last straw and he could not respond as he would like to. He thanked the boys, and assured them that his days as their director would always be remembered as one of the pleasantest parts of his career.

Mr. Cox, his successor, made a neat speech, expressing his regret at losing the association of Mr. Sylvester, and indicating his trust that the men will accord to him the same loyal support that they have shown to the official who is now leaving them.

Pitt F. Drew, the attorney for the railway company who presided, now announced that luncheon was awaiting in the restaurant, and to that tempting place the men repaired, to partake of the good things in waiting. Special cars left at 3 o'clock for Waltham, Lexington and Hopkinton via Natick.

LOMBARD-WARD.

The marriage of Miss Alice Goodrich daughter of Mr. Samuel Ward, President of Samuel Ward Co. of Boston, and the Rev. Frank Alanson Lombard, Lecturer in the Imperial University of Kyoto, Japan, and Professor in the Doshisha, Kyoto, was solemnized Wednesday evening at the residence of the bride, 80 Crescent Avenue, Cambridge. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Herbert Edwin Lombard, of Worcester, brother of the groom assisted by the Rev. Edward McArthur Noyes D. D. pastor of the Congregational Church, Newton Centre. The bride was attended by her cousin Miss Elizabeth S. Woodworth, daughter of President Woodworth of Tougaloo University, Miss, as maid of honor. Prof. E. S. Hall of Amherst College, a classmate of the groom, acted as best man. The ushers were Messrs. Alfred Armistead Milbury, Prof. Albert E. Dunning of Brookline, Charles H. Paul, Yale 1912, Tadaichi Ueda of Kyoto, Japan, Rev. Charles M. Warren of the Am. Board Mission Tottori, Japan. The ceremony took place under the trees on the lawn which had been appropriately decorated for the occasion. The reception which followed was largely attended by personal friends of the bride. The groom and his friends were entertained at dinner at the Union Club, Boston, which was decorated with the crest and colors of the Doshisha College, Japan. Mr. and Mrs. Lombard will sail for their home in Kyoto, Japan, about the middle of August.

Mortgagee's Sale of Real Estate

By virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Norman Plann to Janet B. Casey, dated the 6th day of May, 1910, and recorded with Registry of Deeds in and for the County of Middlesex, So. Dist. Book 3518 Page 402, for breach of the condition contained in said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction on Monday, the 3rd day of July, 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon all and singular, the premises numbered 169 Park St. in Newton, in the County of Middlesex and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, conveyed by said mortgage deed and therein described as follows, to wit:

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon situated, in said Newton, comprising a part of lot numbered five (5) and part of lot numbered six (6) on Alexander Wadsworth's plan of Woodland Vale, recorded with Registry of Deeds, No. 1, dated June 1845, and bounded NORTHEAST by Church St. two hundred and fifteen (215) feet, SOUTHWEST by Park St. one hundred (100) feet, SOUTHWEST by land now or late of W. O. Trowbridge one hundred and seventy-seven (177) feet, and NORTHEAST by land now or late of Sarah Wells and partly by land now or late of Charles E. Billings one hundred and sixty-three and 3/4 (163 3/4) feet and containing twenty four thousand eight hundred and seventy six square feet. All of said measurements more or less together with all rights, ways, easements and privileges thereto belonging, especially the full use of the Park St. and the avenues laid down on said plan in common with other owners of lots delineated thereon by Janet B. Casey to Norman Plann by deed of even date with said mortgage and recorded therewith.

Said premises will be sold subject to any and all unpaid taxes or assessments, $1000, will be required to be paid in cash by the purchaser at the time and place of sale.

Mortgagee and present holder of said mortgage, J. B. CASEY, Boston, June 7, 1911. William F. Jr. Atty., Boston, Mass.

DR. SHINN'S MEMORIAL

Col. Homer B. Sprague's appreciation continued from last week's issue.

He would have been glad to remain and labor here. He could not bear the thought of ceasing his activities in his profession. His son writes me, "It was absolutely impossible for his children to persuade him to give up all work after leaving Grace Church. In a letter to me on the nineteenth of January, 1905, speaking of his nervous prostration and enforced idleness, he says, 'I am resting or trying to; but it is hard to think of the work that I would love to do and am not permitted to touch at all.'"

Broken in health, and having no longer
the invaluable assistance of the best of helpers, he resigned in May, 1906.
He was immediately made Rector Emeritus. Where shall he spend his declining years?

Many of his companions and colleagues had passed into the silent land.
His surviving son and two daughters were at a distance. They each longed to have him with them. Each fitted up rooms for him. He was accustomed to say, "I have three homes." They would watch over their father with tender solicitude.

He had hoped that the parish would be able to purchase his dwelling, and by and by erect a stone building for a permanent rectory, and connect it with the parish house by a cloister; but the funds were wanting. His income was mostly stopped.

It was unfortunate that the Episcopal Church in the United States is not able to provide ample retired pay for its aged clergy. The public school teacher of the City of Boston is retired after twenty five years service and receives $600 a year during life. The lowest commissioned officer of the regular army of the United States is retired at the age of sixty-four and thereafter receives pay during his life at the rate of $1,785 a year. But the Rector Emeritus of an Episcopal Church, after forty years service, receives at most $500! The spirit may be willing, but the purse is very weak.

So he quitted his much loved Newton. He now spent his winters, for the most part, in Williamsport, Pa., his summers at Summit, N. J.

Partially restored in health, his irrepressible activity led him to take charge of a new parish, All Saints, at Millington, twelve miles west of Summit. He did excellent work and they invited him to become permanent rector. He held occasional services in Calvary Church, Summit, and his rector bears eloquent testimony to his effectiveness there and elsewhere. At Summit he endeavored to found a literary club,
like that in Newton, but the scattered population was inadequate. He succeeded, however, in establishing the Overlook Hospital in Summit, in which for a short time, just a year ago, he was himself a patient.

At Williamsport he manifested extraordinary activity, even when in very feeble health. Rev. Robert F. Gibson, Rector of Trinity Church writes thus under date of March 20, 1911—

"Dr. Shinn, for several years before his death, spent a portion of each year
with his daughter, Mrs. J. L. Houghton, in this city. Here he made his presence felt in many ways. Though an invalid
he did the work of an active man of younger years. He placed himself at the disposal of the Bishop, taking services wherever sent, and occasionally assuming charge temporarily of vacant parishes, or missions. Wherever he went he was not content to merely officiate. He introduced new methods, inaugurated reforms, established rules
and habits of neatness, order, taste, and churchiness, made valuable suggestions, and left an impress by his teachings and his manifest holiness, which will always be felt.

He was not willing to sit in the pews.
The priestly instinct and habit was all powerful. When not having an opportunity to officiate anywhere alone, he would come to one of us of the local clergy and proffer his assistance,
which was always most gladly welcomed. Most frequently he came to Trinity, because here his daughter is a communicant. During the winter before he died, while I was ill with typhoid, he was practically in charge of the services here, an experience from which he seemed to derive unbounded satisfaction, though all the while he was in a most critical condition of health. So serious was this that it was always arranged that some one else should be at the church ready to take the service in case Dr. Shinn should find himself unable to come. This was done that he might be spared the strain of responsibility.

To us of the local clergy he was an inspiration. He was the most zealous and active member of our Clericus,
and we were glad to sit at his feet.
What won our discipleship was not merely his learning and experience, but rather his modesty and humility and gentleness and sweetness. I do not see how anybody could help loving him.
The same feeling of admiration and affection for him existed also amongst the ministers of other Christian bodies

who had come to know him through the meetings of the local Ministerial Association. One of the most prominent ministers of the town, a Presbyterian, in speaking of Dr. Shinn, at a meeting after his death, said, among other things, "He was one of two men whom I have known, whom I would describe as angelic."

He crossed the Atlantic twelve times, six times each way. None of those excursions was for pleasure. In the first he had the care of an invalid.
In 1880 he accompanied his daughter to the Passion Play at Oberammergau, and thence to take charge of the American Church at Dresden. On another visit he attended with his son
a series of lectures in Oxford, England.
On one of the last visits he preached in St. Botolph's Church at Boston, Lincolnshire, of which visit and the famous church he wrote a delightful description. On his last journey to England he took the place of a friend as Chaplain of St. Mary's Hospital, Paddington, London, N. W. He was ill at the time. The task was beyond his strength. But he continued in it to the end. The plan was original, and it was
as full of genius as of humanity.

His beneficence showed itself in little things as well as in great. A single instance may illustrate. For years he was accustomed to deposit at the Post Office a little before Christmas
a sum of money, to be drawn for postage to supply stamps for packages not sufficiently prepaid, that the joy of the addressees might not be delayed for want of postage.

He was grateful for the slightest kindness. In his last illness, when he was moved in a wheel chair through the Grand Central Station in New York, and taken in the elevator there,
he warmly thanked the elevator man
for his courtesy, though so faint that it was feared he could not reach his destination alive. He was taken to St.
Luke's Hospital, New York City, thence to Mount Sinai, thence to his daughter's home in Summit in accordance with his expressed desire to die in his own room.

The mention of the two hospitals
which he founded; of that hospital in which he officiated in London as Chaplain with a fidelity which exhausted
his vitality; of that too, in which he was a patient in New York, of his labors in the almshouse in Alexandria, the remembrance of his many ministries to the poor, the lowly, the afflicted—these have often suggested that there was a striking resemblance of Dr. Shinn's Spirit to that of the great philanthropist,
John Howard. Says Edmund Burke,
"Howard visited all Europe, not to survey the sumptuousness of palaces
nor the stateliness of temples, not to make accurate measurements of the remains of ancient grandeur, or form
a scale of the curiosities of modern art; not to collect medals or collate
manuscripts; but to dive into the depths of dungeons, to plunge into the infections of hospitals, to survey the manifestations of sorrow and pain, to take the gauge and dimensions of misery,
depression, and contempt, to remember
the forgotten, to attend to the neglected, to visit the forsaken, and to compare and collate the distresses of all men in all countries. The plan was original, and it was as full of genius as of humanity."

"As full of genius as of humanity!"
No one has called Dr. Shinn a great man. Perhaps we ought to revise our standards of greatness. Possibly the founder of Christianity was right and we are wrong in our estimates. When the Master's ambitious disciples confronted him with the question, "Who is greatest in the kingdom of heaven?"
he called to him a little child and set him in the midst, and said, "Whosoever shall humble himself as this little child, the same is greatest in the kingdom of heaven." Greatness and little-ness," said Phillips Brooks three weeks before his death, "are terms not of the quantity, but of the quality, of human life. If a man has a great conception of life, and is putting all of the little things which he is doing into that conception, he is a great man." Does not Henry Drummond demonstrate that
"the greatest thing in the world" is not intellect, but love?

Dr. Shinn's spirit beamed from his face. It was the mirror of his soul, expressing gentleness, cheer, hope, loving-kindness. Whether we will or not, an invisible sculptor is at work every instant, moulding, chiseling, the features,
to make the external conform to the internal. What is "good looking," but looking good? Edmund Spencer well explains the philosophy of it all:

"For of the soul the body form doth take:
For soul is form and doth the body
make."
Something of his goodness shone
from his countenance.

"A sweet attractive kind of grace,
a full assurance given by looks.
aments of Gospel books."

I have heard several speak, separately
and independently, of the Christ-like features of this man, such as artists have given to the Good Shepherd in yonder window.

He surely was an ideal pastor, a realization of Oliver Goldsmith's portraiture of his sainted father and more sainted brother, the most perfect description of the kind in all literature.
"Unskillful he to fawn or seek for power,
By doctrines fashioned to the varying hour.
For other aims his heart had learned
to prize,
More skilled, to raise the wretched
than to rise...."

Thus to relieve the wretched was
his pride,
And 'e'en his failings leaned to virtue's side.

But in his duty, prompt at every call.
He watched and wept, he prayed and felt for all:
And as a bird each found endearment tries
To tempt its new-fledged off-spring
to the skies,
He tried each art, reproved each dull
delay,
Allured to brighter worlds, and led
the way.

Beside the bed where parting life was laid,
And sorrow, guilt, and pain by turns dismayed,
The reverend champion stood. At his control

Despair and anguish fled the struggling soul.
Comfort came down the trembling
wretch to raise,
And his last faltering accents whispered praise.

"At church with meek and unaffected
grace,
His locks adorned the venerable
place;
Truth from his lips prevailed with double sway,
And fools who came to scoff remained to pray.
The service past, around the pious
man,
With steady zeal, each honest rustic
ran;
E'en children followed with endear-
ing wile,
And plucked his gown, to share the
good man's smile:
His ready smile a parent's warmth
expressed,
Their welfare pleased him, and their
cares distressed;
To them his heart, his love, his griefs
were given,
But all his serious thought had rest
in heaven.
As some tall cliff that lifts its awful
form,
Swells from the vale, and midway
leaves the storm,
Though round its breast the rolling clouds are spread,
Eternal sunshine settles on its head."

CHURCH CELEBRATION.

The Corpus Christi ceremonies on the lawn of St. John's church, Lower Falls, Sunday attracted thousands of spectators. The grounds about the church were a hower of beauty.

About 1400 took part in the procession which wound in and out of the beautiful drives and walks of the three-acre lawn of the church. An altar was erected on the lawn to the right of the parochial residence, which was decorated with many flowers and shrubs, including 1000 roses.

Everything was well done owing to the careful instruction of the pastor, Rev. P. H. Callanan, who was at one time the military instructor of the Boston college battalion.

The procession included 100 boys of the Sunday school, 200 of the unmarried men of the parish, 200 married men, 100 members of the Holy Name society, and 20 altar boys. There were 150 girls of the Sunday school, under the guidance of Thomas C. Hyde, superintendent of the Sunday school, and following were the older girls, next in line were the unmarried women and the married women of the parish. All the girls and women were dressed in white.

The flower girls were next in line,
about 24 in all, and then came the four altar boys, carrying the censers and the priest carrying the Blessed Sacrament under the canopy held by four men. Immediately following the canopy came the senior and junior choirs, numbering nearly 50
members, under the charge of Miss Sarah Doherty, organist.

Following the choir were the women of the parish, not attired in white, numbering nearly 300. The marshal of the day was P. T. Cunningham.

LEONARD-LOWE.

The wedding of Miss Esther Schofield Lowe, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen C. Lowe, and Mr. Barton Leonard of Brookline, took place Tuesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Highland street, West Newton. The ceremony took place at eight o'clock, and was performed by Rev. Edmund S. Rousmaniere, rector of St. Paul's church of Boston. The bride wore white satin and point applique,
en traine, a tulle cap trimmed with orange blossoms and a long tulle veil.
She carried a shower bouquet of lilies
of the valley. Mrs. Joseph A. Mackey, of Montreal, as matron of honor wore a French gown of grass green and white and carried white sweet peas and maiden hair fern.

The bridesmaids, Miss Marion H.
Seavey of Roxbury and Miss E. Phyllis Kimball of Providence were in white satin, veiled with grass green marquisette, with girdles of gold and bandeaux
of gold and green tulle bows, and carried yellow marguerites.

Mr. Arthur A. Kidder of Winchester was the best man and the ushers were Messrs. Charles Falvey and William F. Mullins of Roxbury, C. Desmond Adams and Herbert Flagg
of Brookline, Frederick Boyd of Harford, and Philip and Stephen C. Lowe, Jr., of West Newton, brothers of the bride.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard being assisted in receiving by Mr.
and Mrs. Lowe and Mr. and Mrs. John Leonard and the house was attractively decorated with lilies, Killarney roses
and iris. The wedding party was served with a delicious breakfast at the close of the reception, while Killarney roses
being the feature of the table decorations. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard will enjoy a honeymoon trip to Lenox and a motor tour to Montreal and Quebec.
They will be at home after October
first at Brookline.

EWART-GALBRAITH.

At the Newton Upper Falls Methodist church last evening Miss Emma Weed Galbraith, daughter of Rev. John Galbraith, pastor of the church, and Frank Alvah Ewart of Arlington secretary of the Anti Saloon League were married in the presence of a large number of friends. The ceremony was performed by the bride's father.

The bride was attended by Miss Mary
C. Galbraith, a sister, as maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Harriet E. Clark of Millerton, N. Y., and Eva L. Perry of West Dennis, N. H.
The flower girl was Miss Miriam Ewart
of Salem, niece of the groom. H.
Lawton Chase of Boston was best man.
The ushers were Joseph Bryer of Cliftondale, Arthur Day of Stoughton, Walter Burr of Somerville and Merwin
Carl of Claremont, N. H.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors, which were decorated with palms, roses, daisies and marguerites. Following this reception at the church, the young couple held another reception at the home of the bride, 91 High street, Newton Upper Falls.

Pop Concerts—Next Saturday night,
July 1st, will bring to an end the 26th season of "Pop" Concerts in Symphony Hall, by far the most successful season these concerts have ever enjoyed. While the average audience has been very large, on many nights all records
have been broken, and on one night
"Harvard Night", the largest number of people ever gathered in Symphony Hall was present. In the coming week there will be one night, Wednesday, June 28th,
when there will be no accommodation for the public. The Harvard Club of Boston has taken the entire hall to enertain visiting alumni. The only special concert tonight that Mr. Maquarre has arranged for this last week, will be Friday
when a "Request" program will be given and on Saturday night, which will be "Patriotic Night."

EAT IN A COOL AND WELL-VENTILATED DINING ROOM

In the future patrons visiting this Lunch Room will not be subject to the inconvenience of heat and smoke, as formerly; for during the past week there has been installed a method of mechanical ventilation which absolutely does away with all odor, and on the hottest day makes the atmosphere clear and cool, which makes the effort we make to serve the best the market and good cooks can produce, more appreciated.

Respectfully,

—Occasionally the metropolitan dailies use considerable space in describing the capture, on board one of the fruit steamers that ply between Boston and the tropics, of that much dreaded venomous member of the spider family—the tarantula. This time, however, it arrived at the discharging pier in Boston and was carried to Newton unnoted, fortunately for those who handled the bunch of bananas in which it had found a resting place. It was finally captured by Mr. Avantaggio, of Centre street, who has presented it to the Graphic and it is now on exhibition at our office.

You May as Well

Use a broom as some carpet sweepers,—but not our kind. Ours are very easy running, clean-sweeping, readily emptied. They are made for wear first and then neatly finished.

One of our carpet sweepers and a dustless duster take care of the summer dust and dirt as thoroughly and as nearly "laborlessly" as anything possibly can.

Why not save the morning working time and add to the afternoon resting time?

ALDERMEN ADJOURN FOR THE SUMMER

The last meeting of the aldermen previous to the usual summer vacation was held Monday evening and lasted until midnight, adjournment being reached at 12:04 A. M., to be exact, although there was the usual lengthy recess for committees to meet.

President Jones was in the chair and Aldermen Leonard and Woods were the only members absent.

There were many hearings, the following being the unopposed and were subsequently followed by the usual orders:

Edison Company for underground conduits in Centre and Washington streets, for poles on Farlow road, of the Telephone Company, for poles on Greenough street, Fisher avenue, Hamilton street, and attachments on Derby street, Cemetery avenue, Homer street, Clinton street, and for removal of poles on Washington street, of the Middlesex and Boston Street Railway Co., for poles on Commonwealth avenue, of W. F. Warner, Page road, Mrs. Reginald Gray, Essex road, F. R. Denning, Watertown street and Dr. Michael Chirburg, Kenwood avenue, for gasoline license and on orders for concrete sidewalks under the betterment law on Prescott street, and for the laying out of Glenmore terrace.

At the hearing on the matter of poles of the Edison Co., on Highland avenue, Mrs. D. C. Heath appeared in favor and submitted a petition from other abutters favoring the placing of poles on this street, and the petition was subsequently granted.

On the order for laying concrete sidewalks on Charles street, under the betterment act, Mr. D. W. Morton said that the walks were absolutely needed, as the large amount of travel had worn the gravel to such an extent as to cause large pools of water to stand in rainy weather. Mary L. Fitzgerald and G. H. Moore favored the matter in writing, and Arthur S. Tucker read a written remonstrance. The order was subsequently passed.

On orders for taking land for sewer purposes in Nehoiden road and Waban avenue, Mr. C. Burnett, Mr. G. H. Wood, Mr. W. B. Peabody, Mr. C. H. Cook and Mr. C. O. Buttrick spoke in favor as the soil was such as to make cesspools of little value. Mr. Francis R. Southwick and Mr. A. C. Gould spoke against a sewer in Nehoiden road as there were no houses there at present. The orders taking the land were subsequently passed together with orders for sewer construction in these roads and Collins road, Crofton road and Irvington street.

Mayor Hatfield sent in a report of the Newton Improvement Association as to the condition of the Underwood school. He also sent in the communications from the Nonantum Improvement Association, the Ladies Division, A. O. Hibernians, and Middlesex Court of Foresters relative to better fire protection at Nonantum. These requests were considered and an order passed for $450 for purchase of additional equipment and for repairs on Hose wagon 3, 7 and 8. The Mayor also sent in the request of the board of health for a new automobile and the matter was later referred to the Mayor and Aldermen Bemis to provide a machine, preferably by changing with a machine now in use.

The recommendation of the board of health for a sewer in Circuit avenue and of the Building Commissioner on application of the Odd Fellows Building Association to alter a wooden building at Newton Highlands, were referred.

The registrars of voters submitted the annual jury list and it was ordered printed.

The proclamation of Governor Foss for Flag Day was placed on file.

Petitions of John A. Potter for an auctioneer's license, of Mrs. B. A. Heinlein for an intelligence office license, and of M. J. Mulcahy for a wagon license, of F. Carvelli for a wagon license, of T. F. Keefe for a wagon license, of S. A. Piper for a common victualler's license, of G. F. Kendrick for an innkeeper's license, of J. R. Knudsen for a minor's license, were granted. Petitions were also received from Frank Negrotte for a common victualler's license, I. E. Erickson for a common victualler's license, of E. S. Colton and Harriet A. Swain for soldier's relief, of Mrs. Julia D. Lucas for street sprinkling on Kirkstall road, of Mrs. Grace D. Reed for sewer in Centre street, of C. E. Gibson for sprinkling on Sylvan avenue, (subsequently refused) and of F. D. Wellington for laying out of Adella avenue.

Petitions of E. L. Richards, firemen for increase of wages 10 per cent and of B. F. Burke, for increase of wages policemen, 10 per cent for patrolmen and 15 per cent for officers were referred to the Finance Committee, which later reported that it was inexpedient to grant these petitions as well as that of the street department laborers for $2.25 per day but recommending that the whole subject be taken up in connection with the 1912 appropriations.

A claim was filed by W. F. Burke for personal injuries. Hearings on September 11 were ordered on petitions to keep gasoline of H. P. Bradford, Lake avenue, F. H. Underwood, Commonwealth avenue, J. A. Cahill, Boylston street and were also ordered for the same time on sewer in North street and for concrete sidewalks on Pleasant street.

On recommendations of committees, leave to withdraw was granted on claims of A. E. Spencer, Mrs. C. F. Johnson, Mary E. Fanning, Miss Fannie W. Fogg, on the application of Maria Costello for soldiers' relief, and on granting wagon license to Domenico Furignito and Mrs. James Thompson.

On reports of committees, licenses were granted to Antonio Pignatelli, wagon; Helen M. Murphy, as public weigher; Burnham Bros., to keep gasoline on Maple Park, and Masten & Wells Co., to manufacture fireworks on Needham street, also authorizing settlement of claims of Jeremiah Ford, $15.75, Michael Hand, $144, W. F. Burke, $35, Joseph H. Joyce, $12, making grant of $99.013.77 for city expenses to September 15, $4200 for certain street department expenses, a grant of $1816 for City Home expenses on condition no part should be expended for an automobile, making advance of $7500 for Moth work, accepting Chapter 436 Acts of 1911 relative to abolishing deputy election officers, establishing pay of election officers, instructing Finance Committee to report $324.00 for school expense for 1912, establishing polling places for state primary transferring $100 to Forestry department for care of public grounds, establishing salary of assistant city clerk at $21 per week, authorizing loan to cover 85 per cent of assessments for the Charles River improvement, authorizing bond issue of $6000 for 6 years to cover purchase of Froebel school (Aldermen Barker, Heard and Towle voting nay) granting Edison Co., attachments on Sterling street, Central street, and one pole on Central street, granting the Telephone Co., poles on Bellevue street, Court street, and attachments on Suffolk road, also poles on Church street (Aldermen Murphy dissenting) for concrete sidewalks under the betterment act on Floral street, Charles street, and Prescott street, appropriating $15,000 additional for water supply, $260 for water main in Wilde road, $225 for water main in Old England road, $1500 for water services and $800 for water meters, $10,500 for purchase of sewer supplies, authorizing percentage of excess in constructing sewers and laying water mains, and authorizing certain street sprinkling.

The ordinance transferring care of public grounds to the Forestry department was ordained. The joint committee on Public Works, by a vote of 9 to 5 reported against the ordinance to place the care of school buildings in the hands of the school committee and consideration was postponed until September.

A committee was authorized to perambulate the boundary line between Boston and Newton, and the State Primary was called for September 25th. The recommendation of the Mayor and Chief of Fire Dept. for more permanent men was postponed until fall, and the Mayor was requested to invite the National Fire Protective Association of Chicago to investigate and report on the Newton Fire Department.

The order authorizing the Mayor to lease the old armory building was not approved by the Finance Committee which reported an order authorizing the Mayor to sell the building. The matter occasioned considerable debate. Aldermen Towle said that there was no present use for the building, that there was considerable opposition to its proposed use as a garage and that it was understood that there was an opportunity to sell it for $10,000. A future site for new fire house would require about 5,000 feet while this property has about 9,000 feet. A new fire house site could therefore be purchased for about $3,000 or $4,000. Alderman Calkins said he understood that there was a proposition to lease the building for two years to a fraternal organization for $550 per year. This use would not hurt the building and as to its future needs, the city cannot forecast the future. Alderman Moore said that if the property was sold and developed it would probably yield as much taxes as the proposed lease. The leasing order was then defeated, 7 yeas, 10 nays and two not voting. The order to sell was then adopted.

An order for water mains in Oak Hill street and Brookline street, costing $3,680 was passed, although having only a majority recommendation from two committees. The vote was 13 yeas, 6 nays.

Orders were also passed granting the Edison Co., pole locations in Highland avenue, the N. & W. Gas Light Co., permits to open certain streets and the Telephone Co., attachments on Lexington street.

B. F. Keith's Theatre.—"Sweet by Ocean Breezes," the big production in which "The Meistersingers" are appearing at B. F. Keith's Theatre, is proving to be by all odds the biggest summer attraction that has been put on in Boston. The magnificent stage setting, the light effects, the wonderful harmony of the combined Harvard, Schubert and Weber Male Quartettes, and the general excellence of the programs which are changed every week, has made an appeal not only to the musical people of Boston but to all classes of amusement lovers.

The surrounding bill includes the Mabelle Fonda Troupe of jugglers; Dolan & Lenhart in a burlesque mind reading act; Marini & Bronski, two wonderful Russian dancers from the Metropolitan Opera House, New York; Bernard & Dorothy Granville in a comedy act; the Van Brothers, musical comedians; Bartholdi's wonderful birds; and others.

Chic Bathing Suits for ladies wear, $1.98 and $2.98 each.—Clifford S. Cobb Co., Waltham, Mass.

N. H. S. CLASS DAY

The Class Day Exercises of the Class of 1911, were held in the library of the Newton Technical High School last Friday evening.

The program, which was a delightful and original one, was prepared by a committee consisting of Charles Arthur Sadler, of Riverside as chairman, Joseph R. Kennedy, Chesleigh Hurd and the Misses Mae Neagle, Lena Johnson and Katharine Rielly. It was enjoyed to the utmost by the fifty graduates and their fifty guests.

The class prophecy, written and read by Joseph R. Kennedy of West Newton was a remarkably brilliant and able piece of work and displayed unusual imaginative power.

Miss Esther K. Bryson, of West Newton enjoyed the distinction of being the Class Historian. Her history indicated the class to be a particularly active and successful organization. It was noted that the teachers present received some startling revelations in this connection.

The Class Poem entitled "The Land of Dreams" was written and read by Miss Josephine Mullen, also of West Newton. It contained a humorous description of each "Dream" of members of the class, and was enthusiastically applauded.

Miss Mae Neagle, of Auburndale, was Statistician, and her statistics were presented in an extremely bright and entertaining manner.

After the "Presentations" of suitable favors, by Miss Katharine Rielly of West Newton, refreshments were served and dancing was enjoyed till 12.

The evening closed with the singing of Auld Lang Syne and a lusty cheer for everything and everybody cheerable.

The girls were exquisitely gowned, notably Miss Georgiana Francis, who wore white crepe de chine, Miss Margaret Crowley, who wore marquisette over white satin, Miss Mary Wallace, the Class Beauty, in embroidered swiss and Irish lace and Miss Madeline Cox who wore a marquisette and lace gown.

The hall was decorated with red and white crepe paper and several immense 1911 banners in the class colors, red and white.

Red ramblers were used profusely and immense bowls of red roses made the room a delightful bower.

The orchestra was concealed in palms and banks of roses in red and white.

NORUMBEGA PARK.

"For the first time this season the management of Norumbega Park announces as the attraction in the magnificent open air theatre a musical comedy attraction, reviving memories of the delightful weeks of musical comedy last season. The patrons of the park who follow these matters with as much interest as they do their regular winter season of theatricals in Boston will be glad to know that the musical comedy the coming week and others to follow are staged by the Gorman companies and the clever alfrisco skits written by Matthew Ott as in the past seasons. The treat for the coming week, opening with the Monday afternoon performance, July 2, and continuing every afternoon and evening, will be "Vacation Days," said to be by far the best musical comedy that Matthew Ott has yet written. It differs from the usual offering of this kind, for it possesses a clear, consistent plot. But it does not depend upon this for its charm, there being more than the average share of tuneful music, bright lines, and pretty girls.

FILE—WIGGIN.

The wedding of Miss Frances Nancy Wiggins, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Dwight Wiggins of West Newton and Mr. Ashton File, Jr., of Beckley, West Virginia, took place at the home of the bride's parents on Hillside avenue, on Wednesday, June 14. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Francis E. Webster of Christ church, Waltham and witnessed by only the immediate relatives. Mr. and Mrs. File will be at home at Beckley, West Virginia, after August first.

GRADUATION EXERCISES.

The graduation exercises of the School of Our Lady took place before a large congregation in the Church of Our Lady last Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock with solemn vespers, Rev. Father J. F. Kelly celebrant, Rev. Father A. S. Malone, deacon and Rev. Father C. J. Galligan of St. Bernard's church, West Newton, sub-deacon. The sermon to the graduates was preached by Rev. Father Chittick, of the Church of the Precious Blood, Hyde Park, who also delivered the diplomas to the graduates.

Mr. Foley was 81 years of age, and survives his wife, by only a few days. Funeral services were held yesterday and the burial was at Holyhood cemetery.

—At last the much talked about baseball game between the mail carriers and policemen of this village is on. In spite of the untiring coaching of Dan Hanigan and the warring throws of M. T. Donald (that is before the game), the letter carriers went down in an overwhelming defeat of 21 to 6 in favor of the policemen. Mahoney and Santwell played a star game for the policemen. There will be return game which is looked forward to with great anticipation by the local fans.

If you are on the down-hill line make haste to get a transfer.

HIGH SCHOOL BALL TEAM MAKES BRILLIANT RECORD THIS SEASON

The Newton High School baseball team which has just closed its season, not only won the Preparatory School Championship, but made a most remarkable record in completing its schedule, winning 15 of its 20 games and making a grand total of 154 runs to 83 for its opponents. One striking feature of the season was the number of games won by hit one run, there being 11 games so decided.

The team was composed of Sanderson, captain, who played 3rd base, Frapp, centre field, Nash, 1st base, Brooks,

catcher, Tapley, short stop, Beal, 2nd

base, Rice, right field, Hyatt, left field,

Terrio, right field, Whitney, pitcher and right field and Spaulding, pitcher. Frapp,

Sanderson and Rice graduated this year,

but the other men will remain for next year's team. Thornton C. Pray who has successfully managed the team this year, also graduated. Henry Nash, has been elected captain for next season.

The record of the team and of the individual members is given below.

—Mrs. John H. Robinson of Windsor road is making a rapid convalescence at the Homeopathic Hospital in Boston from a serious operation.

—The Fourth will be celebrated as in several years with antique and horribles, athletic games, ball game and fireworks, but the committee promise an even bigger, better and busier time than ever.

—Mr. C. C. Blaney has been enjoying the week long celebration of his class Harvard 1891 and is now at New London with it for the boat races. Mr. E. H. Robinson has also been celebrating it being his triennial.

—The summer exodus has commenced. The Edmund Winchester family of Pine Ridge road go today to Beachwood as usual for two months. The Francis S. Smith's of Pine Ridge road to North Scituate for the season; Dr. and Mrs. Sibley and Mrs. Gifford of Windsor road to Europe for two months; Mrs. Robinson and daughter Miss Gladys Robinson of Plainfield street, and Miss Catherine Oakes of Union road to Europe for several weeks.

—The Womens' Spring Handicap tournament at the Waban Tennis Courts brought out an entry list of 12 contestants and a very lively and enjoyable meeting resulted in Miss Jessie C. Gould, meeting Mrs. J. B. May in the final round of the mens' event in a hollow manner on Saturday, easily defeating George Williams in spite of the latter's large handicap 6-1, 6-3, 6-2. The Boys' handicaps resulted in a victory for Alce MacCarroll, who won from Wm. Saville, Jr.

Lower Falls

—Mr. H. J. Cahill of the John Dolan Coal Co. is visiting the coal mines in Penn.

—Miss Alice and Miss Louise Costello have gone to Boothbay, Maine to spend their vacation.

—Miss Kraus of Boston, who has recently purchased the Ex-Governor Rice estate at Lower Falls, expects to occupy it this month.

—Mrs. Nathaniel Brewer and daughter, Ellen, leave on Thursday for Jamestown, R. I., where they have taken a cottage for the summer.

—Mr. Charles Hatch of the Newton Ice Co. is improving rapidly from his recent illness and his many friends are pleased to see him out again.

—There will be a baseball game between Somerville A. A. and the home team at 3 P. M. July fourth on the playground, Newton Lower Falls. The new diamond on the playground will be ready for use for the first time.

—The closing exercises of the Hamilton school consisted of singing, presentation of class gift and presentation of diplomas by Mrs. Davidson. A handsome new flag was unfurled with appropriate ceremonies on this occasion.

Unfortunately in a good many orchards the trees are known by their scales

Auburndale

—Mrs. F. W. Hobart is at North Edgecomb, Me., for the summer.

—Charles Valentine and W. L. Spaulding are erecting a dwelling house on Wolcott street.

—Among the graduates at Dartmouth college this week was Mr. Frederick E. Eaton, who received the degree of B. S.

—There will be a preparatory service at the Congregational church this evening, the topic being "What Does the Lord's Supper Mean?"

—Miss Frieda J. Mayer, and Miss Louise E. Mayer, of Chicago, who graduated June 6th from Lasell, sailed Tuesday for a summer sojourn in Europe.

—The Ladies Association of Middlesex County Veterans held their annual meeting Wednesday morning at the chapel of the Centenary Methodist church.

—Sunday July 2nd there will be a celebration of Holy Communion at the Church of the Messiah; during July and August the early celebrations will be omitted.

—Catherine Gaw, the 12 year old daughter of Mr. John W. Gaw, died last Friday at her home on Auburndale avenue. Funeral services were held Sunday and the interment was at Calvary cemetery.

—A union service of the church and the Christian Endeavor Society was held at the Congregational church last Sunday evening. The topic was "A Missionary Journey Around the World, and Missions in China."

—A conference of laymen representing the Episcopal church in Boston, and all New England will be held Sunday and Sunday July 1st and 2nd at the Episcopal Theological School in Cambridge; the parish of the Messiah will be represented by Mr. W. W. Heckman.

—The Commencement Exercises of the church school, of the Church of the Messiah, were held Sunday at 12 o'clock; the vested choir of the church took part in the service, and certificates of graduation were awarded to seven members of the primary department, who now become members of the junior school. Testimonials of merit were awarded to Susie Fogwill, for perfect attendance at church and Sunday school for the school year; to Martha Davis for faithful attendance and work, and to Wallace Heckman, Eileen Hale, and her sister for perfect attendance at Sunday school for the year. June 14th being the one hundred and thirty fifth Anniversary of Flag Day, there was an appropriate exercise in commemoration of this fact; the exercises closed with the presentation of twenty beautifully colored strophilicon slides on the life of Christ.

—A large party of Christian Endeavorers and their friends filled the dining room of the Congregational church at the banquet last week, in celebration of the successful conclusion of the contest which the society has been waging for the past three months. Full justice was done to the delightful meal which was largely prepared by Mrs. Gordon. After the supper came a series of brief talks conducted by Mr. Harold Clark, president of the Christian Endeavor Society. The leaders of the two sides in the contest, Mr. Albert Henrikus and Mr. Stuart Rider, received congratulations and gave admirable talks. The Blues, led by Mr. Henrikus, were the victors, but the Reds came in a good second. The result has been a gain of more than fifty per cent in the membership of the society, and a decided stimulus to the prayer meetings, and the committee work. Dr. Clark congratulated the society upon the success of the plan, and presented Chinese and Japanese Christian Endeavor plans to the members of the two sides who had won the largest number of new members to the society. Miss Blanche M. Noyes and Mr. Albert Henrikus, Rev. Horace

PUSHEE—WILSON.

A home wedding at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. Fred Wilson, 35 Pleasant street, Newton Centre, Wednesday evening was that of their daughter, Miss Helen Gertrude Wilson, who became the bride of Frank James Pushee of Somerville. Rev. Alton H. Robinson of Newton Centre performed the ceremony. Only the immediate family were present. A reception which followed was attended by relatives and closest friends of the bride and bridegroom. The parents of the bride and bridegroom assisted in receiving guests who were present from Somerville, Brookline, Dorchester and Manchester, N. H. The ushers were Lawrence Wilson of Wollaston, brother of the bride, George T. Lane of Dorchester, Frank E. Cleveland of Wollaston, and Harry Harcourt of Watertown. Miss Wilson is well known in musical circles in Newton, where she has been soprano soloist at Trinity Episcopal church for the last four years. The bridegroom has lived in Somerville for many years. After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Pushee will be at home after Sept. 1 at 14 Bowers avenue, West Somerville.

The presents were numerous and very beautiful among them being a large French clock from the firm of Lane Bros., Boston, Mass., of which Mr. Pushee is a member.

An interesting feature of the graduating gift of the Technical High School class, is the fact that in order to give the class play last spring it was found necessary to remodel the stage in the assembly hall and all the work in connection with this change was done by the classes in the various departments. At that time the graduating class provided the stage curtain and last Friday night presented it to the school as a parting gift.

Entrance examinations to the Technical High school will be held Friday and Saturday mornings, Sept. 8th and 9th.

ITALIAN OUTING

At a meeting of the members and friends of the Italo-American Progress Club of Nonantum held recently at Lexington Park, the following address was given by Mr. Ciambelli:

I am highly honored by the invitation to say a few words concerning the Italians in America. I cannot express my feeling of admiration for the "Circolo Italo-Americano," whose aim is the elevation of the moral character of the Italians in America. A great philanthropic object, which deserves the universal praise and the support of those who have open hearts.

Should I say that there is need for several institutions and organizations of this kind; not only to bring us new light, but also to show the American people our individual qualities of race, and to them that we can help in their social life.

It is not necessary to be false to nature, although we have absolute need to blot out certain prejudices which act to our disadvantage. We need to take away all those evil ideas and make the American people understand that our race is not a criminal one, but a race that can assist those people who welcome it. We have centuries and centuries of past history of our progress and civilization, to prove this for example.

When London was but a village of cabins, and Paris and Berlin the dwelling places of the savages, our ancestors from the banks of the Tiber ruled the world, and under that empire the barbarians were civilized. Always we have made great contributions in the field of progress and civilization. Even when oppressed and humbled, we have given to the world Dante, the father of the modern literature; Columbus, the greatest explorer; Galileo, the most forcible demonstrator of the earth's motion and orbit; Raffaello and Michelangelo, the painter and the sculptor; Napoleon, the greatest general; and Verdi, the master of the music, the only one in his greatness.

Why, should not a nation, that has such a great history, and that has been admired by all, be permitted to assist brave a general may be, if his army is demoralized, he can never win any battle. What happens then? It is necessary that we, that all Italians should try to sacrifice ourselves so as to keep our names clean from the stains caused by a few.

This year the kingdom of Italy celebrates the fiftieth anniversary of United Italy. In 1861, after the victories of Magenta and Solferino, after the great expedition of Mele, and after the triumphal march of Garibaldi in the South of Italy; the great King Vittorio Emanuele II opened at Turin the first Parliament. That first Parliament gentlemen, was the reward of our grandfathers blood shed on many hard fought battles. That first Parliament was the ideal of all those thinkers, who, although under constant danger of the oppressor's axes, were working incessantly for the union of Italy. And fatigably for the union of Italy.

For us, this high country is waiting. But until we wash away certain prejudices, and until our minds are enriched with knowledge and our hearts more open to guidance shall remain at the foot of those stairs which others continually ascend.

Let me ask a question: What is our social position in this country? It grieves me to say that it is not the most flattering. We are considered, my friends, the most inferior class, this can be proven in the existence of these corporations and clubs to which we do not belong. Men do not live by bread and butter only, but also to great extent from moral satisfaction.

Although we have a soul, a sensible heart that feels the smallest insult, still we remain in a mournful condition. Is this due to the fact that the Atlantic has created in us a new lethargy that makes us forget the greatness of our country and the mission of her sons.

Men do not live by bread and butter, I repeat. We have left the perfumes of our gardens, the coolness and the air of our mountains and have come here to lead a slothful life contrary to all our traditions.

Our present King Vittorio Emanuele III in his last speech said: "In this irrepressible and ardent national assembly flows out from our breast the oath to render Italy for ever the most free, happiest and most honored nation of the world." His words will surely find echo in our hearts.

It is our duty to apply them just as cheerfully in this new land as in our Fatherland.

And we emigrated in this country, more than others, since we are receiving the products of more than others, coming here cannot fail to be great. Hence we must organize with these people, and keep our moral standing high, that one day we may be an important factor in the public affairs of this great nation.

But mind does not slough itself from certain prejudices, if it does not receive education. The cities here give great opportunities for those who want to improve their minds. The public schools, free libraries and clubs, and many other philanthropic associations are places to which we should go in large numbers, at those altars we should kneel down, if we wish to make our names shine for ever, if we love the ideal of those that gave us a nation; an ideal which is that of the country which we have adopted.

A PLEASANT OUTING.

Members of the Massachusetts Press Association and their wives and daughters held a most enjoyable summer outing from Saturday to Tuesday of this week, at the Sea Cliff Inn, Nantucket. The party left Boston Saturday noon, a special car being provided through the courtesy of the New Haven railroad officials, and arrived promptly on time at Woods Hole where the steamer was taken for Oak Bluffs and Nantucket. And in passing it is fitting to mention here that the service and efficiency of this steamboat line has been vastly improved since the New Haven Company took control last fall. The passengers on these boats can now feel that every courtesy will be extended to him by the officers and crew of either the Gay Head or the Sankaty, the two steamers which furnish service from New Bedford to Nantucket. The boat trip thru Vineyard and Nantucket Sounds is a most pleasant experience, with one stop at Oak Bluffs. As we approached Nantucket, the smoke and flames from the burning boat house, in which four persons lost their lives, caused considerable excitement, altho the full extent of the sad tragedy was not known until we arrived at our destination.

The party, which numbered over one hundred, were housed at the Sea Cliff Inn, the most important hotel on the island and Mr. Clifford Folger and his assistants did everything in their power to make things agreeable to everyone. The rooms were nicely furnished, large and airy, and the table and service, all that could be desired. Walks and drives about the town, with golf and tennis enthusiasts welcomed at the Nantucket Golf and the Nantucket Tennis Clubs, kept everyone busy during the daylight hours, and an interesting feature on Monday afternoon was a pleasant reception given the members and ladies at the Casino at Sconset. Sanitary light and the Marconi wireless station, also received attention. On Monday evening, a banquet was served followed by addresses by Lieut. Louis A. Frothingham, Secretary of the Commonwealth, Albert P. Lanaty, who is a member of the Association, Hon. J. Stearns Cushing of the Governor's Council and Rev. John Snyder of Nantucket. The younger members of the party then enjoyed a dance in the ball room of the hotel. The return trip was made Tuesday afternoon and the dog day weather encountered in the city caused many sighs for the delightful breezes of good old Nantucket.

ALL ROADS THAT LEAD TO GOD ARE GOOD.

All roads that lead to God are good; What matters it, your faith, or mine; Both centre at the goal divine Of love's eternal Brotherhood.

The kindly life in house or street; The life of prayer, and mystic rite; The student's search for truth and light; These paths at one great junction meet.

Before the oldest book was writ, Full many a prehistoric soul Arrived at this unchanging goal, Through changeless love, that led to it.

What matters that one found his Christ In rising sun, or burning fire; If faith within him did not tire, His longing for the truth sufficed.

Before our modern hell was brought To edify a modern world, Full many a hate-filled soul was hurled In lakes of fire by its own thought.

A thousand creeds have come and gone; But what is that to you or me? Creeds are but branches of a tree, The root of love lives on and on.

Though branch by branch proves withered wood, The root is warm with precious wine; Then keep your faith, and leave me mine; All roads that lead to God are good.

The Trouble With the Meat.
 Stepping into a small restaurant, a grumpy old man demanded of the waiter a certain piece of meat he had in the show window.
 "But," said the waiter, "we—"
 "No buts," replied the old man. "You bring me what I ask for or I won't get anything here at all."

Rather than lose a customer, the waiter did as he was told and, getting the piece of meat, took it back to be cooked. After a long wait the meat was brought to the customer, who, instead of thanking the waiter, said, "Look here, young man, what is the matter with this meat?"

"Nothing is the matter with it, sir, except that the point on it has formed a few blisters from the heat."

"Why, what do you mean by that?" asked the old man.
 "Simply this," replied the waiter. "Those pieces of meat you saw in the window were not made to eat. They were made for advertising purposes, but you insisted, sir, upon having one of 'em."—Philadelphia Times.

Napoleon's Custodian at St. Helena.
 Sir Hudson Lowe, the man appointed by England to be the custodian of the emperor, arrived at St. Helena on April 14, 1816. His appearance was not prepossessing. He was extraordinarily thin, with a stiff carriage. He had a long, bony face blotched with red and scanty hair of a dirty yellow color. His hollow eyes gleamed under thick reddish eyebrows, but were furtive and restless, never looking straight at any one save by stealth.
 "That is a bad man," declared Napoleon when he had seen him. "His eyes as he examined me was like a hyena's caught in a trap."
 He really resembled this horrid, stony animal in its walk as well as in hair and eyes. He never sat down when he was talking, but swung about hesitatingly and with abrupt jerks.—Stokes, "With Napoleon at St. Helena."

The Stork's Lazy House Building.
 The most interesting sight in the Rotterdam zoo was the stork, whose nest is set high on a plannet of the buffalo house. He was building in the leisurely style of the British workman. He would negligently descend from the heavens with a stick. This he would lay on the fabric and then carefully perform his toilet, looking round and down all the time to see that every one else was busy. Whenever his eye lighted on a toddling child or a perambulator it visibly brightened. "My true work!" he seemed to say. "This nest building is mere bypaths of industry." After drinking and overlooking and congratulating himself thus for a few minutes he would stroll off over the bonestops for another stick. He was unquestionably a king of the garden.—Lucas in "A Wanderer in Holland."

The Way Out.
 A well known Boston physician was on his way to his office one winter morning when the sidewalks were a glare of ice. While going down the street he met a lady coming in the opposite direction. The lady was a stranger to him, although he was not unknown to her.

In trying to avoid each other on the icy pavement they both slipped and came to the sidewalk facing each other, with their pedal extremities considerably entangled. While the polite doctor was debating in his mind what was the proper thing to do under the trying circumstances the problem was solved by the quick witted lady, who quietly remarked:
 "Doctor, if you will be good enough to rise and pick out your legs I will take what remains."

Safety Valves of the World.
 Terrible as are the forces of volcanic action, they have served and do yet serve their ordained purpose in the magnificent scheme of cosmic development. Volcanoes form a natural vent for the pentup internal forces resulting from the slow cooling and consolidation of the earth's mass. They act as the safety valves of the world, without which the crust of the earth would in all probability burst with explosive force and with a resulting cataclysm appalling to contemplate. Volcanoes tend, in fact, to maintain the normal stable equilibrium between the interior and the outer surface of the world.

Strong Hold.
 Bill—Experiments with thousands of subjects have shown that the average man attains his maximum strength in his thirty-first year.
 Jill—A woman's strong age is twenty-eight, I suppose.
 "Why?"
 "Haven't you noticed how they hold on to it?"—Yonkers Statesman.

A Richer Strike.
 "Is it true that Maude refused a man worth a million?"
 "It is."
 "Was she crazy or in love?"
 "Neither. She accepted a man worth two millions."—Boston Transcript.

Dodging Indigestion.
 Hoax—Sillius was engaged to an heiress. I wonder why he broke it off?
 Joak—He had an attack of indigestion, and the doctor told him to avoid all rich things.—Philadelphia Record.

Spiteful.
 "Why do you hate him?"
 "He has been knocking me to the girl I go with."
 "What did he tell her?"
 "What my salary is."—Houston Post.

He Was Dams.
 Blobs—When she wasn't looking I kissed her. Blobs—What did she do?
 Blobs—Refused to look at me for the rest of the evening.—Philadelphia Record.

The Ignoble George IV.
 Then there was the precious regent. What a creature! Good men and bad men unite in saying that he was absolutely without a virtue. The shrewd, calculating Grenville described him in words that burn: the great duke, his chief subject, uses language of dry scorn. "The king could only act the part of a gentleman for ten minutes at a time," and we find the commonest satellites of the court despised the wicked fribble who wore the crown of England. Faithless to women, faithless to men, a coward, a liar, a mean and grovelling cheat, George IV. nevertheless clung to a belief in his own virtues, and if we study the account of his farcical progress through Scotland we find that he imagined himself to be a useful and genuinely kindly personage. No man, except perhaps Philippe Egalite, was ever so contented and hated, and until his death he imagined himself to be a good man.—Runciman "Sidelights."

Her Splendid Economy.
 Their dinner for two cost $15, but the man's wife argued that in the end it was economy to dine at an expensive restaurant because it gave her a chance to study the fashions.

"If we ate in some cheap place patronized only by dowdily dressed women," she said, "I would have to hire an expensive woman to design my new dresses, but by eating here I get a chance to study the clothes worn by women of position and can design my own gowns."

That sounded convincing. There was no blessing on earth, the man reflected, equal to an economical, managing wife, and he settled the bill with comparative cheerfulness. Three weeks later he was given another bill to settle. That called for $150.
 "What is this for?" he demanded.
 "Oh," she replied, "that is the cost of a dress I copied in the restaurant the other night."—New York Sun.

Hotels as Hospitals.
 "Next to a hospital give me an up to date hotel in which to take care of a very sick patient," said a New York trained nurse. "I've nursed in most of the big hotels here in New York, and it's really wonderful the supplies that can be brought at a moment's notice. Ice bags, hot water bottles, crutches and wheel chairs are always on tap, there's always some one available to help lift a patient, and if the patient's a man there's always a barber at hand to shave him. And there's the woman in the sewing room to stitch a rapidly cut binder. There's an operating room at your disposal if surgery has to be resorted to, and there's a protected roof to take your patient to during convalescence. Altogether the modern hotel is the rival of a hospital when it comes to conveniences for the sick."—New York Sun.

Curious Transference of Heat.
 A workman in the observatory at Toulouse has invited attention to a singular phenomenon. A bar of iron is taken by the end, and the other end is plunged into a fire, heating it strongly, but not so much that the hand cannot retain its hold. The heated end is then plunged into a pail of cold water. Immediately the other end becomes so hot that it is impossible to hold it. This phenomenon, familiar to workmen in iron, is ascribed by them to some repellent action they suppose the sudden cold exerts upon the heat contained in the iron, which is thus driven to the opposite extremity.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Bully.
 An Irishman and his English friend were out rabbit shooting. They had been very unsuccessful and were returning downhearted when they saw a hare dart out of the hedge.
 Mike, in amazement, failed to shoot, and the hare escaped.
 "Why didn't you shoot it?" asked the Englishman.
 "Shure," said Mike, "I didn't see it till it was out of sight."—London Ideas.

Clever Man.
 With a sigh she laid down the magazine article upon Daniel O'Connell. "The day of great men," she said, "is gone forever."
 "But the day of beautiful women is not," he responded.
 She smiled and blushed. "I was only joking," she explained hurriedly.—Western Christian Advocate.

Didn't Need It.
 A book canvasser went into a barber shop and asked the proprietor if he could sell him an encyclopedia.
 "What's that?" asked the barber.
 "It's a book that contains information on every subject in the world."
 There was a victim in the chair, and he put in feebly, "He doesn't need it!"

The Queer Part.
 "Queer, isn't it, that lawyer is such a lover of dogs?"
 "What is there queer about it?"
 "It is more natural for a lawyer to become attached to the fee-line species!"—London Telegraph.

Lost.
 Weary Walker—I lost 'arf a crown yesterday. Tired Timotheus—Did y' 'ave a 'ole in yer pocket? Weary Walker—No; the bloke wot dropped it heard it fall.—London Tit-Bits.

Its Penalty.
 Artist (indignantly)—You talk as if painting an ugly woman's portrait for money was a crime.
 Friend—I believe it is generally a hanging matter.—Baltimore American.

The highest friendship must always lead us to the highest pleasure.—Fielding.

THE BOSTON LINE.

"The Boston Line" is the name of the new all-the-way-by-water passenger service between Boston and New York to be operated by the Maine Steamship Company. The superb new steamers Bunker Hill and Massachusetts will run throughout the season. They will leave both New York and Boston at 4 o'clock P. M., thus giving several hours of daylight for the most interesting parts of the journey.

The Bunker Hill, the Massachusetts and the Old Colony, now sailing from Portland, make three splendid additions to the fleet of the Maine Steamship Company, which takes over the passenger service by the outside route performed for three seasons past by the Harvard and Yale—now on the Pacific Coast.

The Old Colony will be added to the fleet of the Maine Steamship Company. These three vessels are sister ships—"identical triplets," they might be called. In size and design they are precisely alike. The only difference is in their motive power. The Bunker Hill and Massachusetts are twin-screw steamers with reciprocating engines; the Old Colony has triple screws with turbine engines.

Any impression that might have been current that these steamers were to be smaller and inferior successors of the Harvard and Yale will be gratifyingly counteracted with their appearance in these waters. In fact they are something like a thousand tons larger than those boats. The Harvard and Yale are typical sea-going steamboats; the Bunker Hill, Massachusetts and Old Colony are regular ocean steamships of a staunch "greyhound" type, both swift and able; fit to go to any part of the world. They have no spensons, no guards; the sides rise flush with the superstructure. Their gross tonnage is 4779, with 2375 tons net.

TO AID INVENTORS.

A plan is before the Industrial Development Company of the Boston Chamber of Commerce which aims to duplicate in this city a method which has been found in Pittsburgh to be of great aid in perfecting the commercial value of inventions whose owners lack funds.

C. M. Wheaton, a Newtonville inventor who is interested in the plan as along the lines of one long urged by him, said today:

"Invention being the parent of every manufacturing enterprise, there must be encouragement of invention. Aid such as that contemplated by the Chamber of Commerce sub-company would do much to correct haphazard methods now prevailing.

"An essential part of such an organization would be a committee of mechanical experts to pass upon the merits of all inventions submitted for aid and supervision. Those inventions found meritorious would then be recommended to the company and financed, and the manufacturing and marketing begun.

"I recommend that the company secure at once a suitable building on a railroad line somewhere in greater Boston, equip it with good light, power and portable shafting, and then invite the inventors.

"The Pittsburgh plan of providing small or large floor space for inventors with a good idea, together with power, at a moderate rental, should be followed here. Every man thus assisted should be placed under contract to give adequate return for all aid received, as this is a charitable idea only in the sense that it helps inventors to help themselves.

"Properly managed such an undertaking would be immensely profitable to the city, and through the development of a multitude of small but useful inventions now lying dormant for lack of capital much commercial prestige would be added to the city.

"It is not extravagant to say that with this idea fully taken advantage of there will be quadrupling of the manufactures of Boston within not many years, for not only will there be an increase in local activity, but there will be attracted here many talented men with ideas from other parts of the state and from other states."

One of the possibilities of the new direct nomination law which will have its first trial in this state in September,
is the limitation next year of the signatures to nomination papers to the list
of persons who will vote in September 1911. Candidates in 1912 will be eligible to places on the primary ballot,
only through the names of enrolled voters of their party. And by the way, this party enrollment is going to be the cause of lots of friction with voters who think they have a right to dictate
the republican nomination for one office and the democratic nomination for another. Such persons would not dream of participating in the choice of the minister of another church than their own, and would resent the intrusion of another person in the selection of a pastor of their own church or an officer of their own club, and yet the political party is exactly on the same footing as a church or club in these respects. Only members of the same party should be allowed to name its candidates and the person who wishes to have a finger in the nomination of candidates of all parties, should recognize this important fact. It is the key note of the direct nomination law and the principle on which that law is based.

The lesson of the recent fire in Nonantum, where children were forced to jump from the third story window, was evidently taken to heart by the city fathers at their last meeting, when an appropriation was made to provide the various hose wagons with proper ladders. It is to be hoped that the proposition of the department by the National Board of Underwriters of Chicago, will yield results in a less dangerous manner than an actual fire.

READ FUND PICNIC.

The annual Read Fund picnic made possible by the generosity of the late Charles A. Read, who left a fund of $40,000 to the city of Newton in 1883
for various objects, was held on Wednesday at Norumbega Park. 985 children passed through the turnstiles of the park, coming from Nonantum, Lincoln and Boston Street Railway Company. A squad of ten police officers in charge of Sgt. Clay managed to keep the children from falling off the cars
and had their hands full at the park
in regulating the use of the merry-go-round and the swings. The first accident, which has taken place for years,
occurred at the swings in the morning,
when John Murphy, the ten year old son of John Murphy of Lincoln road, was hit in the head by one of the swings and received a scalp wound
which was treated at the Newton Hospital, and fortunately was not serious.
The lad was not a member of the picnic party, but had accompanied it with his sister.

A substantial lunch was furnished by caterer Osgood beginning at noon and lasting to nearly three o'clock, with four installments of the children sitting down at a time to ham sandwiches, doughnuts, cake, bananas, ice cream and lemonade. The youngsters overflowed the theatre in the afternoon and shouted their happiness to all the passersby
on the way home at five o'clock. Mr.
Frank W. Chase, master of the Bigelow school, was in charge of the affair.

West Newton

—Dr. and Mrs. Howard P. Bellows and daughter, of Putnam street, are at Belgrade Lake, Maine, for the month of July.

—Mr. James Richard Carter and family of Mount Vernon street, have gone to their country home at Jefferson, N.
H., for the summer.

Mr. Nathaniel E. Paine, Jr., started Monday for a visit to the West. He will join a party of about fifteen students of Harvard College, at Bozeman,
Montana, under the direction of Prof.
J. B. Woodworth, professor of geology.
They will take a five hundred mile walking trip in Montana. "roughing it" most of the time. Mr. Paine will also visit some copper mines in Butte and British Columbia, and will also go as far West as the Pacific Coast. He expects to return home about the middle of September.

Castle Square Theatre.—It will be a week of special interest at the Castle Square beginning Monday. "The Barrier," dramatised from Rex Beach's novel of the same name, will be produced by Mr. Craig for the first time in Boston. Mary Young will reappear as the heroine after an absence from the stage of four weeks, and the cast will also contain William P. Creighton, who has been especially engaged by Mr. Craig for his summer season, and also Howell Hanel in the leading role. "The Barrier" has a plot of gripping interest.
Divided into four acts, its scene opens
at a trading post on the Yukon River
in the far North, and it unfolds a stirring story of love and romance.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME.

The Governor is sending in his recommendations for appropriations at a rapid rate now that the good old summer time has arrived, and it is hinted
that he will give the Walker budget act
a scoring when his experts have finished their work. The fault is not with the Walker act, however, but with the way in which the Legislature and the Governor have endeavored to evade its requirements. It is safe to say that if Governor Draper had been in the chair
this year, there would have been a "safe and sane" administration of the Walker law.

It is rather amusing to witness the play for position in the pending legislation over the Boston Elevated bill for various subways and consolidation of leases. I have been permitted to read something of the inside work on this bill and know that a few earnest legislators have set the wheels moving towards a bill which will be fair to all parties. The jumping in of the Governor, in an attempt to obtain the credit for the compromise, and the ridiculous claims of the Boston newspapers that their publicity "did it", are therefore interesting. The Elevated measure calls for an expenditure of something like $15,000,000 and will give subways and rapid transit to several outlying communities, including Newton. It is only fair that a public service corporation, incurring this obligation should not only be given time to pay off the indebtedness thereby entailed, but also be given an opportunity to receive a fair return on the capital invested. As I stated before, the crux of the situation is the dog-in-
the-manger attitude of the West End stockholders. It is said that of the $500,000 capital of that company, there is only left about one million dollars of free assets, and the franchise given by the city of Boston, and which, as a public gift ought not to be held up by a club to thwart public enterprise. The above statement may seem rather startling, but it should be remembered that all the railroad property leased by the Elevated Company in 1897 from the West End has been superseded by heavier rails, newer cars and other rolling stock and in fact the entire property of the old West End company has been rebutted by the Elevated Company since its lease commenced. This fact is so well known that if the stockholders of the West End Co prevent a consolidation of the two companies, if given the opportunity, I should not be at all surprised to see an effort made next year
to take away the charter of the West End Company. There seems to be no doubt whatever at the present time,
that the bill will be modified so as to require all leases to expire in 1936 and to then continue indefinitely at the joint option of the Company and the city of Boston. The West End problem is the real trouble.

The so called Ellis milk bill has been substituted by the House for the Howard bill reported by the committee. Mr.
Ellis' bill calls for regulations drawn up by an expert body and administered by the state board of health with the aid of the local boards of health. The bill should have several perfecting amendments, but is based on the right principle.

The attempt to add the referendum
to the state constitution on all bills turned down by the legislature was defeated in the House on Tuesday. Altho there was a large majority in favor of the bill, it did not receive the two thirds vote necessary and was killed.
All three Newton representatives voted against the bill.

The bill to authorize a tunnel between the New Haven and Boston and Maine railroads was thrown out of the House yesterday on a point of order.
The bill was almost a duplicate of the act just passed for the benefit of the Boston & Eastern Co. and if that company makes good, will probably constitute a working basis for future tunnel legislation.

All three Newton men voted to pass
the bill to provide for building tenements for State farm employees, over the governor's veto last week, but the necessary two thirds vote was not cast.
All three voted in favor of substituting
the so called Montague bill for the payment of salaries to Boston school teachers, but were in the minority.

A bill has been introduced to pay the commission to apportion the metropolitan park assessments, which has just finished its labors, the sum of $9,069
and other expenses, making a total of nearly $11,000. As there are but three commissioners and the results were so identical with what had been adopted by former commissions, this expense seems heavy. The member who is not a lawyer, would deem $3000
each for a few weeks work, very fair compensation. Like everything else, however, it comes from the public treasury, and the less said the better.
J. C. BRIMBLECOM.

BOY KILLED.

David Fleming, 17 years old, of 33
East Dedham street, Boston, who was run over about midnight Wednesday night while attempting to jump from the rapidly moving New York express to evade the conductor in his collection of tickets, died at the Newton hospital shortly after he was admitted to the institution.

Fleming, with another boy, John Anderson, his chum, were on their way to New York, but became frightened and lost their courage when they saw the conductor come to collect their tickets.
They left the forward car in which they had been riding and proceeded toward
the last car of the train.

As they reached the center of the train, Anderson leaped and landed safely at the side of the tracks. In trying to follow his playmate's example, Fleming's foot is thought to have slipped and he plunged under the wheels of the train, several of which passed over his legs.

The agonized shrieks of the boy attracted the attention of several persons in the vicinity of the Newtonville station and they rushed to his assistance.
Dennis Dargin, a letter carrier and patrolman W. I. Kiley of the Newton police were among the first to reach the side of the unfortunate young man.
They carried him to the station of the Boston & Albany railroad where Harold Haggett was waiting for a consignment of mail of the local postoffice.
At the ambulance, which had been telephoned for was delayed in arriving Fleming was placed in the automobile
and rushed to the hospital.

The injured boy was immediately placed upon the operating table and surgeons, who had been notified to be ready, amputated his legs in an attempt to save his life.

Fleming remained conscious for a considerable time, but lapsed into a state of coma just as he reached the hospital.
The boy came out of the operating room strong, and there was hope for a time that he would gain strength and have a chance for recovery.

About 2 o'clock in the morning he suddenly experienced a change for the worse, and he began to fall rapidly. At 2:15 o'clock he died. His friends were sought by the police of the East Dedham-station, and the news was broken to them in as gentle a manner as possible.

Young Anderson was terrified at the spectacle of his friend on the track.
After the accident, presented, but attempted to drag him from the tracks to a place on the soft grass. He then ran and found patrolman W. G. Kiley who called Dargin and Harold Haggett
who took him in charge.

Anderson was penniless and could not return to his home after the accident
so the Newton police permitted him to remain in the station house until a seasonable hour in the forenoon, when he was sent home in the care of friends.

ANOTHER TOWN TAKES EDISON SERVICE.

The town of Carlisle located north of Concord, is the latest of the Boston suburban towns to appreciate what the possibilities for development are when the electric service of the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston is made available. A contract covering a period of ten years has just been signed with the Boston Edison Company for an extension of the Company's street lighting service into the town. This contract also authorizes the Company to extend its commercial service for lighting and for furnishing electric power.

The farthest point in Carlisle from the L Street Station of the Boston Edison Company is 23 5-10 miles. The town has an estimated area of 16 1-10 miles, with 37 miles of streets, of which it is estimated 4 2-10 miles will be covered by Edison service. Its population is 551.

It is quite a jump from kerosene to electric lighting but the people of Carlisle are so up-to-date that they are already anticipating the improvement.

UTOPIA

To every man of every creed
There comes a sweet Utopian dream:
He sees a land where not a word
May ever grow, where every stream
Makes music as it winds along,
Where all the breezes blow in tune,
Where all is fair and life a song,
Where all the blissful year is June.
There fragrant roses ever bloom,
And everywhere contentment spreads;
The nights are robbed of all their gloom;
The sun a genial radiance sheds;
There all things are superbly planned,
The prospects all spread far and fair;
Each man has dreams of such a land
With him enthroned as master there.
—E. Klier, in Chicago Record-Herald.
Such a land as described above will be found at Camp Utopia, on Lake Utopia, New Brunswick, Canada. Ideal for college men and boys. Home cooking, pure water, dry tents. Competent instructors, also tutoring and practical help. Just the place for your boy. Write for illustrated booklet and full information to JOSEPH W. BRINE, 37 Kingston Street, Boston.

MR. JEWETT HONORED.

A rare compliment was paid to Asa C. Jewett, recorder of Gethsemane commandery, K. T., Tuesday night, when it unanimously chose him as eminent commander. When the hour came for election of officers he was requested to retire, and in his absence W. L. Church, the generalissimo, spoke of the long service of Recorder Jewett, extending over a period of 26 years. He deemed it fitting that special consideration should be paid by the commandery to their valued official, and proposed to retire although he had been asked to take the chair in succession to Commander Peterson. The members agreed, on condition that the generalissimo be in readiness to assume the command next year.

Then the situation was placed before Recorder Jewett, and it was putting it mildly to say that he was overwhelmed. He accepted and extended his thanks to the commandery for its generosity.

Past Commander George Breeden was the agreeable agent in another work of appreciation. Representing his fellow members, he presented Commander Peterson an elegant gold watch in recognition of his ability the past two years, during which the membership has advanced to 430, and has been conspicuous in its social functions.

At the conclusion Mr. Breeden added this quotation from Shakespeare: "The friends thou hast and their adoption tribe, Grapple them to thy soul with hooks of steel, But do not dull thy palm with entertainment." As the result of the election the following will be installed at the convocation in September: Asa C. Jewett, EC; Edward P. Hatch, G; Charles J. Shepard, CG; Charles D. Burrage SW; A. H. Decatur, JW; James B. Fuller, treas. (27th term), and A. S. Bryant, recorder.

A peasant leaves his home to seek for work as a field laborer wherever he can find work to do, and, like every Russian, male and female, he takes his passport with him, which is quite as much a part of him as his soul is. It is always a half yearly passport, which he must renew at the end of six months, sending it home in a registered letter to an official at his native place and inclosing the legal fee and something over for the trouble. The time of renewal draws near; the workman gets a demand for a new passport. Through official neglect or other reason the passport fails to come in time. The honest workman, who is earning his bread in the sweat of his brow and by the practice perhaps of exceptional sobriety is trying to earn a pittance for his family, is arrested suddenly and sent home—that is, is sent into a forwarding prison, whence he emerges to join a convict party, which contains the cream of criminality, and is made to suffer torments before he gets home. When he arrives he gets his passport and is a free agent—once more a loyal subject.—E. B. Laidlaw.

Fixing Up the Maron.

If you had a highly intelligent thoroughbred horse to which you were greatly attached, what would you do for him in order to bring him to the highest point of efficiency? Would you teach him, at great inconvenience and after many repetitions, to smoke from ten to fifteen cigars a day, and would you mix with his oats all the way from a pint to a quart of alcohol? Would you re-enforce this by overloading his stomach with highly spiced food and add all the narcotics that were in the market, such as tea, coffee, etc.? Would you keep him in a heated stable without any fresh air, make him sit up at all hours of the night and permit all the veterinarians in the neighborhood to hold consultations and operate upon him as often as they needed the money? And if you did all this, what sort of a race would you expect that horse to win?—Life.

Ancient Football.

Phillip Stubbes wrote in 1583 in his book on "The Anatomie of Abuses:" "For as concerning football I protest unto you it may rather be called a friendly kind of fight than a play of recreation; a bloody and murdering practice than a felicitous sports of pastime. For dooth not every one lye in wait for his Adverserie, seeking to overthrow him and to pike him on his nose, though it be on hard stones, so that by this means sometimes their necks are broken, sometimes their backs, sometimes their legs, sometimes their arms, sometimes one part thrust out of joint, sometimes another; sometimes the noses gush out with blood, sometimes their eyes start out—fighting, brawling, contention, quarrel picking, murder, homicide and great effusion of blood, as experience daily teacheth."

Relics of the Incas.

The Inca period has left us remarkable traces, especially in the magnificent roads. Broad, beautiful turnpikes, now only partially preserved, run for a distance of over 2,000 miles from the coast to the plateau and the foot of the highest peaks. We marvel at the skill of the Inca engineers, especially in the magnificent stairways hewn in the rock, in the filling up of deep ravines, in the paving with ponderous flags. In several places have been found the remains of a former asphalt covering to these roads. At certain intervals are found the ruins of custom houses and laid out grounds and fortifications, of which the most interesting specimen is the fortress of Cuzco, built about the year 1000, and plundered and destroyed by Pizarro in 1543.—Century Path.

The Club.

An exclusive dining society in London is the one bearing the arrogant title the Club, which since its foundation has been limited to thirty-five members. Johnson, Burke, Reynolds and Goldsmith were among the original members. Garrick and Boswell joined in 1773 and Gibbon and Fox in 1774. Of the eighteen premiers in the nineteenth century nine were members of the club. Fox, Liverpool, Canning, Russell, Aberdeen, Gladstone, Salisbury, Lord Rosebery and Mr. Balfour.—London Spectator.

The Orator's Fate.

"Some orators," said Senator Borahum reflectively, "make me think of our parrot."
"The one whose head you chopped off?"
"Yes. He had to take all the blame for what somebody else insisted on his saying."—Washington Star.

Asking Too Much.

"My dear," said Mr. Clarkson, "I don't want you to think I have any desire to criticize you for the way you manage, but really we must try to live within our income."
"Within our income? Goodness! And be regarded by everybody in our set as eccentric?"—Judge.

Doubled Her Capacity.

"Mrs. Garber fell downstairs and bit her tongue in two."
"I feel sorry for her husband. She was a terror when she had only one tongue!"

Vice Versa.

Teacher—I would like some one in the class to define the meaning of vice versa. Bright Boy—It's sleeping with your feet toward the head of the bed.

Good deeds ring clear through heaven like a bell.—Bichter.

Guard Your Credit

Your credit today is what you have made your name worth by honest dealing and the disposition and ability to meet obligations. By making yourself and your business methods known to your bank, you are in a position to be accommodated with a loan when you need it, or the best kind of financial advice when you require that.

This bank is here to help people who are willing to meet us half way.

You May as Well

Use a broom as some carpet sweepers, but not our kind. Ours are very easy running, clean-sweeping, readily emptied. They are made for wear first and then neatly finished.

One of our carpet sweepers and a dustless duster take care of the summer dust and dirt as thoroughly and as nearly "laborlessly" as anything possibly can.

Why not save the morning working time and add to the afternoon resting time?

NEWTON IN 1833.

The following statement regarding Newton is taken from a Gazetteer of Massachusetts published 75 years ago. Newton, Post Town Middlesex Co., Mass., nine miles from Boston, incorporated 1691 is large and has Charles River on three sides, along which are broad and rich tracts of meadow. The uplands are hilly and woody. There are two falls and at the lower are manufacturing. Nonantum a hill in this town was the scene of the apostle Eliot's first exertions to teach the Indians Christianity in 1746 and witnessed his success. He was ordained a pastor here in 1664. A Baptist Theological Seminary was founded here some years since—Population in 1830, 2376.
